Strange Sights in Spain.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

DAVID BELASCO, one of the ablest, most brilliant theatrical managers and producers, is dead. He had been an important factor through all the important history of the stage in America. From Negro minstrels and "Uncle Tom's Cabin," up to the modern play in which the "heroine" is a street drab, he had seen them all.

He leaves no successor in his field of work. He would not permit himself to "fall behind the procession," but he belonged to another age.

THE BANK of England cuts its discount rate to 2½, lowest in 22 years, a frank "copy-catting" of the New York Federal Reserve Bank. Strange things happen, and even the "Old Lady of Threadneedle Street" is compelled to follow in Wall street's wake.

SOMETHING IS happening among ladies and gentlemen who gamble in stocks that never happened before. Brokers' offices are breeding a new race of little amateur Wall street bears. One of the biggest bankers in the country said to this writer yesterday:

"You can see in brokers' offices what you never saw before. The crowd sits watching, and when Steel drops a few points, or General Motors breaks 40, the customers stand up and cheer. Until lately, they would have sat down and wept.

THE NEW little grizzlies of Wall street should bear the warning in mind. If you gamble on the long side of the market, the chances are about a million to one again you. But when any amateur tries to be a bear, the chances are at least 10,000,000 to one against him, in the long run.

"CALL MONEY abundant at 1 per cent" is the Wall street announcement from day to day, but nothing exciting happens. When the Bank of England cuts its discount rate from 3 to 2½ per cent there is wild excitement. Brokers risk their necks, rushing through crowded traffic to get the news to their offices.

Their telephone system isn't as good as ours, it takes too long to say: "Are you there?" Bonds went up in price, and in some complicated financial way the British hope to save $100,000,000 a year on 10 billions of government debts.

IN SPAIN, strange sights are seen. Bands of workmen going through the cities cheering before blazing churches, groups of tourists following them. Firemen make no effort to save any church building set on fire, contenting themselves with playing streams of water on adjoining buildings, to prevent flames spreading.

Spain has seized cash and lands belonging to Alfonso, the former King, and wants to get hold of him if possible to try him on charges of inciting mob violence.

GEN. CROWELL "heartily indorses the plan proposed by Bernard M. Baruch," and wants a law to "freeze" all prices in wartime.

If we must have another war, unberufen, the usual things will happen, and will not include limiting the profits of those that are accustomed to profiteering in war. Nice for discussion, but it won't be done.

THE IMPORTANT thing is to "freeze," or stabilize certain other things just now. Wages should be frozen, and not permitted to melt away, and this is not said only for the sake of wage earners, but also for those that get their profit from wages earned.

Prosperity depends on the workingmen's payroll of SIXTY THOUSAND MILLION DOLLARS A YEAR. Cut into that and you cut into prosperity.

CAPT. HAWKS continues, by deeds, not words, as the late Theodore Roosevelt would say, to prove that he is the best flier in the world. He amazed Europe by breaking the record from London to Rome, splitting it in two, then breaking the record from Rome to Paris. Two days ago he broke all records between London and Berlin, and yesterday he broke the record from Berlin to Hamburg.

The Prince of Wales says Americans are the best advertisers.

Capt. Hawks is an excellent advertiser of the fact that this country can produce real fliers. And real fliers will settle the next big war.

THE GOVERNMENT of Northern Ireland faces a deficit, not much, from the American point of view, only $225,000, hardly enough to buy lead pencils in this country, but something in Belfast. Northern Ireland will economize.

Curiously enough, Southern Ireland, supposed by some to be "shiftless," has a substantial surplus. And, most interesting, Southern Ireland has gone into public ownership with a gigantic hydro-electric power plant, and appears to be making a success of it. How do you explain that?

THE RT. REV. Wilson R. Stearly, bishop of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of Newark, N. J., is in favor of legalizing birth control clinics, and his clergy are with him.

Prosperous women have complete birth control information. Their doctors provide it, al-

POPE CONDEMNS 'INJUSTICE' TO LABOR

Advocates Change in Entire Economic System; Refers To Encyclical Over Radio

ROME, May 15.—(AP.)—Reconstruction of the entire economic system by "bringing it back to the requirements of social justice so as to insure more equitable distribution of the united proceeds of capital and labor," is urged in an encyclical letter issued today by Pope Pius X.

A resume of the text of the encyclical was issued a short time before the Pope, speaking in Italian, French and German, broadcast an address throughout the world through the Vatican radio station this afternoon.

REFERS TO ENCYCLICAL

The Pontiff referred to the encyclical in his broadcast address, which was directed to 10,000 workmen assembled in the courtyard of San Damaso.

The encyclical full text of which will be given out in 10 days bears the title "Quadrageismo Anno" (In Forty Years), and carries still further the encyclical Rerum Novarum issued 40 years ago by Pope Leo XIII.

Pope Pius gives as his reason for the encyclical that he "will trace for the church and the world at large, an ample program which still remains to be realized before the courageous and splendid initiative of Pope Leo XIII can be said completely to have attained its purposes."

BENEFITS ENUMERATED

The letter is divided into three parts.

These, the letter says, consist in giving form and substance to the development of sociology and economics according to the catholic principle; promoting more solid organization of working men in religious, moral and social

TROLLEY KILLS CHILD, 6

A 6-year-old boy, said to have lived in the 2000 block in Fifth avenue, was killed when he ran in front of a street car in front of his home late this afternoon.

Traffic in Fifth avenue was blocked while the crew, assisted by spectators, jacked up the trucks to extricate the child's body from under the wheels.

Voice of Pope Pius Heard Clearly Here

The voice of Pope Pius XI, addressing thousands of labor pilgrims gathered in Vatican City to celebrate the fortieth anniversary of the famous labor encyclical of Peop Leo XIII, was received in Pittsburgh today through Stations WCAE and WJAS.

Atmospheric conditions made the broadcast very intelligible. The Pope's voice was strong and clear.

Garland Urges P.S.C. Post for Allegheny

Councilman Robert Garland will introduce a resolution in Council Monday asking Gov. Pinchot to appoint a resident of Allegheny County to the Public Service Commission as successor to James S. Benn, who resigned yesterday. The resolution will recite that there has been no one on the commission for years from the county, which contains one-seventh of the population of the state.

4 HELD AFTER NIGHT CLUB RAIDS

Rubin, King Give Bond in Silver Slipper, Club Alabam Swoops; Barmaid Arrested

Joe Rubin and Billy King, two of the best known figures in Pittsburgh's night life, were held under $2,000 bonds today by a United States commissioner as the result of early morning raids by dry agents on the Silver Slipper and Club Alabam, late-hour "hot spots."

Peter Dickey, who prohibition agents said told them he had purchased the Silver Slipper from King two weeks ago for $7,000, was held under a similar bond. Carol Owens, a waiter, was held under $500 bond. Both men gave their address as 120 Federal street.

OTHERS POST BOND

Oscar Hughes, a Wylie avenue Negro, and Philip Gentille, of 6316 Burchfield street, arrested with Rubin in the Alabam, also posted $500 bonds. Final hearing in the Alabam case was set for Monday, the Slipper's for Tuesday.

The raiders said they found whisky and ale in the Alabam, which is located on the second floor, 1213 Wylie avenue, and whisky in the Slipper, which is on the third floor over the Kenyon Theater, 823 Federal street.

ARREST BARMAID

Leaving the Slipper, the agents raided the Roma Spaghetti House, 911 Federal street, arresting an alleged barmaid, Josephine Smith, 28; Frank Ferraro, 38, and Frank Butler, 46, all giving the restaurant as their home address. They reported confiscating whisky, gin, beer and moonshine. The woman was held in $1,000 bond and the men in $500 bond each for hearing Monday.

King, proprietor of the Slipper, was at home when the raid occurred.

One of the agents telephoned him, posing as a club employe, and told him he must meet him at once. King went to an appointed spot and was arrested.

Seven men were in the club, sitting at one table with several hostesses employed by the club to entertain its stag patrons.

There was a slightly larger crowd at the Alabam. Customers, musicians, hostesses and other entertainers were not bothered in either place, although the raiders took the names and addresses of the Silver Slipper hostesses.

New Jubilee For Cartoonists; Trip to Derby

—By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER—

CHICAGO, May 15.

This city hasn't polished itself to such a high glow since Madame O'Leary's heifer kicked over her tail light.

It's ablaze with business from oysters to coffee. And we want to say the cartoonists entered right into the spirit of Jubilee Week.

As a reward I'm taking them down to Louisville to see the Kentucky Derby Saturday. Just read the guest list of distinguished fugitives:

Jiggs and Maggie, Count Screwloose from Toulouse, Tillie the Toiler, Boob McNutt, Congressman Frisby, the Glutt, Stale Annie and the Mayor of Rufftown.

There's a lot of animal crackers for your trophy room. And I'm crazy too. Why should I be an exception?

Got to see Saturday's race because we bet a snowball in the winter books.

Can't lose. Warm weather cancels the bet.

Got another 50-cent bet on Twenty Grand. That's all we bet when they start a race with a pistol.

AIR REPAIR ATTEMPT FAILS

Pilot Circles Bettis Field 100 Minutes Before He Risks Dangerous Grounding

Circling Bettis Airport for one hour and 40 minutes today with a disabled landing gear, a Pittsburgh-to-Buffalo airplane was landed without injury to its three women pasesngers.

Two attempts were made by the pilot to land. On the second he eased his plane down on the sound wheel, and it skidded to a stop, resting lightly on its right wing tip.

crowds as Pilot Weiblen brought his machine down to earth at the eastern end of the airport. Cheers greeted the passengers and pilot as they left the plane, after a landing feat which has few parallels in the history of aviation.

The three women passengers joked about their experience, praised the pilot and then took off in another ship for Buffalo, where they will attend a convention. They were Mrs. Vernon Phillips, of 6431 Carver street; Miss Faith Smith and Miss Elizabeth Wilson, also of Pittsburgh. It was Mrs. Phillips' first trip.

Miss Smith and Miss Wilson reside at 214 Cedarville street. They are graduates of St. Margaret's Hospital. Miss Smith is a nurse at the Blawnox public schools. Miss Wilson is a private nurse.

Going aloft in a mail plane, Pilot Bud Baker, accompanied by Pilots Charles Lutz, of the Clarksburg airlines, and Robert Trigo, operations manager, attempted to land Lutz on the roof of the disabled plane to make repairs while in flight. The plane, a six-pas-

MRS. VICKERMAN SEEKS DIVORCE

The suit of Mabel Knox Vickerman, 24, daughter of a prominent Bellevue family, for divorce from Harry E. Vickerman, of Calgary, Alberta, started before Judge W. Heber Dithrich today.

She is the daughter of one of the founders of the Blaw-Knox Company. The husband is the son of John W. Vickerman, of Bellevue, president of the Pennsylvania State Federation of Adult Bible Classes and an ardent prohibition advocate.

In her charges of cruelty and indignities, upon which she seeks her divorce, Mrs. Vickerman accuses her husband of excessive drinking.

The Vickermans were married in August, 1926, and separated in September, 1929. While living in Los Angeles in 1926 and 1927, Mrs. Vickerman said, her husband spent all of his income on liquor and compelled her to use her own money to buy food and clothing.

She now lives at the home of her parents, 125 Balph avenue, Bellevue. Vickerman is a salesman for the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation, assigned to a Canadian territory.

STEEL DROPS NEAR 101

NEW YORK, May 15.—United States Steel common was hammered down to a new low for the bear market on the New York Stock Exchange today, but, as the decline continued, the selling volume diminished.

Starting around 106, the stock sold steadily lower until it neared 101. Other industrials resisted the leader's influence for some time, but finally gave way and established new lows for the present downturn.

Rumors of weak accounts in London being "rubbed out" were heard in Wall street.

Valley Postoffice Architect Named

WASHINGTON, May 15.—(AP.)—Secretary Mellon today announced the selection of P. B. L. Hogner, of New Kensington, Pa., for architectural services in connection with the postoffice building there.

Ruth Nichols' Speed Record Recognized

NEW YORK, May 15.—(AP.)—Ruth Nichols, who is planning a solo flight to Paris, received official recognition today from the National Aeronautic Association as holder of the world's speed record for women.

Flying at Detroit, April 13, in the monoplane in which she will attempt to fly across the Atlantic, she attained a speed of 210 miles an hour. The previous record, 181 miles an hour, was held by Amelia Earhart.

Auto Injuries Force Gov. Bilbo to Bed

JACKSON, Miss., May 15.—(AP.)—Gov. Theodore Gilmore Bilbo, who declined to let injuries received in an automobile accident interfere with his strenuous life, was forced to remain in bed today as a result of the fractured rib and abdominal injuries he received when his automobile toppled into a ditch.

AIR FLEET OF 39 THRILLS CITY

Thirty-nine bombing planes thrilled Pittsburghers this afternoon as they soared over the city en route from Langley Field, Virginia, to Dayton, O., for maneuvers. The Second Bombardment Group, in charge of Maj. H. A. Dargue, which left Langley Field at 11 a. m., passed over the city in perfect formation about 2:20 o'clock, with thousands watching. There were 27 planes in one group and 12 in another.

Many persons went to Bettis Field hoping for a better view of the planes but were disappointed, as the planes did not pass over the field and due to poor visibility could hardly be distinguished.

DAYTON, O., May 15.—(AP.)—The Army's flying corces rallied today from all points for the greatest peace gathering in the nation's history. Scores of planes, many delayed by bad weather on transcontinental trips, arrived hourly. The number totaled 300 by noon.

Physicians at the hospital have not determined whether his ailment is caused by poison or kidney stones according to Stowitts.

The artist, who was born in Nebraska, but who has made his reputation as a portrait painter throughout the world, was making a collection of vanishing types of Java peoples some month ago, when he believes he was poisoned at a royal banquet.

ROYAL WRATH

He attributes the believed attempt to take his life to the anger of the King, to whom he refused to give a portrait of the Queen, Ratu Mas of the Pakubuwono, the Susuhunan of Solo.

Stowitts recounted his adventures in Solo, from his hospital bed today. He said he was staying at the palace of Grand Duke Kusumo di Diningrat, brother of the "big" King of Solo, of whom he had painted a portrait. The minor king, Nokoro, asked him to paint a picture of his queen and members of his court.

Thinking that King Nakoro understood that he painted solely for his own collection, Stowitts said he agreed to paint the portraits. When they were finished, the king became angry over the artist's refusal to give him the picture of his queen, Stowitts explained.

ILL AFTER BANQUET

Explanations were made and King Nakoro invited Stowitts to a banquet given in honor of a new governor general of Java. Immediately after banquet dinner, Stowitts became ill and was confined to his bed.

He recovered and traveled to Calcutta, where he again was stricken. Doctors there told him, Stowitts said, that he had been given three different kinds of poison: arsenic, bamboo powder and an unknown germ.

He recovered and was not affected again until this morning, when he was afflicted with pain in his room at Webster Hall.

BOY, 3, LOST DOWNTOWN

Wanted: The mother of a 3-year-old boy found wandering along Penn avenue at Sixth street last night at 10 o'clock. He doesn't know his name, or where he lives. He was taken to the matron's department of Central Police Station by Patrolman John Teets. Police are making an effort to locate the child's parents.

Joe Cook and Wife Declared Reconciled

DETROIT, May 15.—(INS.)—Mrs. Clarence Baumann, mother of Mrs. Helen Cook, announced yesterday that her daughter and the latter's noted comedian husband, Joe Cook, had become reconciled.

Mrs. Baumann declared that the Cooks, reported divorced, were living together in a Chicago apartment.

Surrenders After Liquor Row Killing

DETROIT, May 15.—(AP.)—An hour after Louis Kovacsics, 35, was shot to death in front of his restaurant and bar late last night, Paul Miller, 50, surrendered to police in suburban Dearborn and said he had shot his former partner after an argument over a $24,000 liquor deal.

BANK SUSPECTS' TRIAL DISPUTED

A three-cornered fight over the trial of five men held in New York, indicted here yesterday for complicity in the $52,000 Manchester Savings & Trust Company, was in the making today as extradition papers were rushed to Harrisburg to enable Pittsburgh authorities to bring the men here.

Joseph Flynn, Samuel Ruben, James Foley, Robert Naples and Barney Neinfeld, were indicted yesterday. New York detectives, who arrested them, want them for a bank robbery there, it was said, and Philadelphia authorities have already begun preparations to bring them to trial for a similar crime there.

The battle will occur next week when Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York, will hold a hearing to decide whether the men shall be extradicted, or tried, or tried in New York.

Radio Corporation Licenses Extended

WASHINGTON, May 15.—(INS.)—A large number of licenses of the Radio Corporation of America and subsidiaries were extended to July 15 by the Federal Radio Commission today, permanent relicenses being held up pending a hearing June 15 to determine whether the corporation has violated the radio act of 1927.

Panama Gas High, Cabbies May Strike

PANAMA, May 15.—(AP.)—Panamanian taxi drivers threaten to declare a general strike next Wednesday unless the price of gasoline is reduced from 31 cents a gallon to 25 cents. The government plans to take over the retail gasoline trade in an effort to effect lower prices.

Goes to Jail to Disprove 3d Degree Charge Here

Lawrence McGuire, 17-year-old Brackenridge High School student, of 1814 Main street, Sharpsburg, went to jail for five days to prove to two friends that Pittsburgh detectives do not use third degree methods on innocent youths. He was discharged today by Magistrate Thomas D. Jones in Morals Court.

Two weeks ago two student friends bet him that detectives "frame" innocent youths in order to advance themselves, McGuire told Magistrate Jones. McGuire, who is under a five-year parole on a robbery charge and reports once a month to Assistant Chief Probation Officer Edward Fagan, defended the detectives and said he would prove that they were fair.

Giving an assumed name, McGuire called Fagan six times last Monday and warned him that a "tough gangster by the name of McGuire and his mob were going t. stick up a couple of joints in town."

When McGuire came to Fagan's office that afternoon to report, he was taken to Central Police Station by Detectives Walter Monaghan and Thomas Morgan. For five days Monaghan refused to talk to the prisoner. Last night McGuire told him the story of his wager.

After his discharge, McGuire said:

"I'll never make another bet like that one even if I did win it. These detectives don't give you the third degree. They don't even talk to you."

Detectives said they were unaware of the hoax until McGuire confessed.

though the prosperous women could afford as many children as might come.

POOR WOMEN, already worried with too many children, are deprived of birth control knowledge, because they haven't a prosperous physician such as the prosperous ladies have to give them the information.

It is fortunate for the world, however, that poor mothers have many children, for the children of the poor, nine times out of 10, do the world's most important work. But that has nothing to do with the question of justice.

Arnold School Club Arranges Dinner

Arrangements are being completed for the annual dinner of the Dramatic Club of Arnold School. The program will be held in the Pittsburgh Country Club Wednesday evening, June 10. Stuart E. McMurray, president, will be toastmaster. The dinner will be one of the features of Commencement Week at Arnold School, which will end Thursday, June 11.

THUGS KIDNAP COLLECTOR

Search was continued by police today for the two bandits who, after kidnaping Edward Lockman, 23, of 1135 Chislett street, a collector for the American Oil Company, robbed him of between $600 and $700 in the Leech Farm road, late yesterday.

The two bandits leaped into Lockman's automobile when he stopped for a traffic light at Morewood avenue and Baum boulevard and ordered him to drive to the Leech Farm road, where they robbed him. Lockman found his machine in Washington boulevard where the men told him they would leave it.

Jewelry valued at $1,100 was stolen from the home of C. G. Fisher, 4123 Perrysville avenue, according to a police report. A front window was jimmied. A large sum of money was overlooked by the thieves.

Junior Leaguers Close Convention

CINCINNATI, O., May 15.—(AP.)—Delegates to the Association of Junior Leagues of America convention, closing a four-day meeting today, were told by Mrs. Danforth Geer, Jr., of New York, that members should be liason officers between the outside world and the social work profession.

NEW ECONOMIC SYSTEM URGED BY POPE

fields, and compelling the politically supreme liberalism of the time to yield little by little to a new social policy more favorable to justice.

Pope Leo's encyclical, the letter says, "also is resolute in asserting the right possessed even by working men to form associations for mutual aid and for the legitimate defense of their common interests."

CHANGES DISCUSSED

In the second part Pope Pius discusses the changes which have taken place since Pope Leo wrote.

He vindicates the solemn duty of the church and the Pope to intervene in social problems when they fall under the moral and evangelical law. He reaffirms the Catholic doctrines concerning the rights of private property.

In this section also the Pontiff wrote:

"It is absolutely necessary to reconstruct the whole economic system by bringing it back to the requirements of social justice so as to insure more equitable distribution of the united proceeds of capital and labor."

RICHES WITH FEW

This is necessary, he wrote, because there is "an excessive and unjust disproportion of the commodities of life between capital and labor. Immense riches have accumulated in the hands of a few, while the proletarians have nothing but their hands and the sweat of their brows."

The reconstruction he proposes, the Pope concludes, will be achieved by the uplift of the proletariat, which Pope Leo XIII so ardently desired.

Toward this end, the pontiff writes, wages must be such as really to satisfy the legitimate requirements of the honest worker and his family.

CO-OPERATION ASKED

He pleads for co-oparation between the classes and the trade groups.

The third part of the encyclical deals generally with the economic system, asserting that although it is not an evil in itself, it is seriously warped by grave abuses.

The Pope condemns concentration of wealth, which he declares results in tyranny and despotism, and asserts that the only efficacious remedy is a return to the principles of Christian and social philosophy.

The Pontiff inveighs against communism and socialism, declaring that even though socialism approaches the Catholic doctrine, "it is not possible to be at once a good Catholic and a true Socialist."

GREED ROOT OF EVIL

He concludes that the root of the present economic condition lies "in men fixing their eyes on earthly goods without heed for God and eternal things."

The encyclical closes in a note of rejoicing that so many of the clergy and laity, filled with the spirit of Catholic action, are laboring in the various countries, adding:

"The church does not fear for herself, but for so many of her sons, so many souls, who would be lost."

GREEN FOR PAY CUT STRIKES

WASHINGTON, May 15.—(AP.)—Strikes to prevent wage cuts if other means prove unsatisfactory have the approval of William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor.

This statement last night, followed an appeal by the federation's executive council that organized and unorganized labor resist "to the fullest extent" any tendency toward less pay or a lower living standard.

The council said it had found a move among some bankers and employers to reduct wages, and Green reiterated his belief that any action in that direction would be a direct breach of an agreement industrial leaders reached with President Hoover in 1929.

Honduran Recalled From Non-Stop Hop

WILMINGTON, Del., May 15.—(AP.)—Capt. Lisandro Garay, of Honduras, who planned a non-stop flight from New York to his native country late this month, has received orders to return home immediately with his plane, officials of the Bellanca Aircraft Corporation were advised today.

Capt. Garay was ordered back to Honduras, it was understood, to take charge of the country's air forces and supervise an air patrol of the borders.

VOID FRANCHISE OF SHORT LINE

Removal of all tracks, switches, poles and wires of the Pittsburgh, Mars and Butler Railways Company on Grant and Crescent avenues, in Etna, was authorized by Federal Judge F. P. Schoonmaker today. The road, known as the Butler Short Line, now in the hands of receivers, ceased operation April 22. On May 6 Burgess L. A. Donaldson asked permission for the removal. The borough also was given the right to consider the railways company's franchise terminated.

Injured Man Jailed As Stories Conflict

Walter Bogden, 45, of 1401 Penn avenue, taken to the Allegheny General Hospital with lacerations of the head, was arrested and lodged in the Thirty-third Street Police Station today after he told conflicting stories of how he received his injuries.

When taken to the hospital, he told police, it was said, that he fell down the steps in his home. Later he said that several men in his home had beaten him. Four men found in the Penn avenue house by police also were arrested.

NAUTILUS CREW PLEASED WITH DEEP DIVE

Craft Descends 83 Feet in Severest Test So Far; Leak Located Under Sea

By LIEUTENANT-COMMANDER SLOAN DANENHOWER
Skipper of the Trans-Arctic Submarine Nautilus

ABOARD THE NAUTILUS, off Block Island, May 15.—(By Radio Via Station WRH.)—The staunch little vessel in which we hope to voyage to the North Pole yesterday dove to a depth of 83 feet. It was by far the most successful of test dives we have made.

Escorted by the U. S. S. Falcon, submarine rescue vessel, and proceeding from New London to the diving grounds in the vicinity of Block Island, we arrived about 4:30 p. m. We immediately made ready to take the Nautilus down for the deepest submersion thus far attempted.

The Falcon, in command of Lieut. G. S. J. Ladelle, offered us every facility, including a corps of divers, two of whom were in diving rig, ready for an instant response for any call for assistance on our part.

LEAK DISCOVERED

Our hatches were closed at about 5 p. m., and we trimmed down, reducing our buoyancy to less than the weight of our anchor, which had been dropped previously.

By means of our submarine-oscillators, we were in constant communication with the Falcon, even while we were under the water. We hauled the Nautilus down gently on her anchored cable to a depth of 52 feet, when a slight leak developed in the head of the telescopic tower that is to be used as an ice drill in the Far North.

It was necessary to place a man inside the head of the ice drill to ascertain the exact location and extent of the leak. Chief Engineer Shaw volunteered for this somewhat dangerous job.

PRAISES CREW

The boat was brought to the surface while he entered the drill. When all was in readiness, we gave the Nautilus a slight negative buoyancy and let her drop gently to a depth of 83 feet, the deepest dive she has yet made, and which we regard as an excellent augury for future performances.

While we were at this depth, Engineer Shaw located the leak, but got a bath in the process. At that moment, I decided it was prudent to return to the surface. We then blew the main auxiliary tank, followed by the main ballast tanks and shot rapidly to the surface.

Throughout our whole maneuver, the Nautilus crew behaved with increasing efficiency and now that the leak has been located, we will repair it and proceed with deeper submersions.

Florida Senate Adopts Racing Bill

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., May 15.—(AP.)—A bill to legalize racing and pari-mutuel systems of wagering in Florida was passed by the state Senate yesterday. At the same time the Senate defeated an amendment to the bill that would have required a statewide referendum. The measure has not yet been passed by the House.

Sir Oswald's Party Resorts to Fists

LONDON, May 15.—(AP.)—A taste of "the good old English fists" will be given disturbers of Sir Oswald Mosley's new party meetings in the future, Sir Oswald declared today. He said that he was beginning organization of a force of "two-fisted" young men who will give physical support to his program if his opponents resort to violence.

A scene similar to many others in Spain that resulted in damage of about $30,000,000 to church properties as anti-clericals rioted, seized guns from armories, burned churches, ruined treasures. The new republics' martial law stemmed the tide.

Workers Favored Over Profits, Coolidge Says

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., May 15.

To the Editor of The Sun-Telegraph:

As the returns are published from many concerns employing a large number of wage earners it becomes apparent that the policy announced by leading managers of industry that they would take care of their employes in preference to their stockholders is being observed. When the operations for three months show no profit it is apparent that the receipts have gone to pay the two great items of labor and taxes. The remarkable feature of this result is that there have been so few decreases in the rate of wages in extensive industries.

Mr. Coolidge

We have had unemployment on a total and partial scale, but this is the first acute depression of such duration where there has not been a radical reduction of wages. To a greater extent than ever before people have been taken care of and the property of the country has borne the expense and loss. We are not yet organized so that this system works to perfection. That will take time. But the principle has been recognized and become more effective than in any past experience that the wage earners hold a preferred position in time of depression. Those who have made this possible are entitled to a great deal of credit.

BELASCO RITES SET FOR SUNDAY AS STAGE WORLD MOURNS

GEORGIA JUDGE SCORES BIRTH CONTROL

ATLANTA, Ga., May 15.—(AP.)—Richard B. Russell, chief justice of the Georgia Supreme Court, engaged in debate last night with Mrs. Margaret Singer, birth control advocate.

The jurist, the father of 18 children, whose son, Richard B. Russell, Jr., is the governor-elect of Georgia, said a "flood of advertisements, fakers and quacks" would be loosed if the law which prohibits dissemination of birth control information in the mail were repealed.

CITES DEATHS

Mrs. Sanger, the mother of three children, said that since the law was passed, largely through the influence of Anthony Comstock 57 years ago, one million and a half mothers have died of causes incident to motherhood, 90 per cent of whom might have been saved had not the law been in effect.

Fifteen million children, she said, have been "pushed out of life before they reached the first year because of weakened mothers, poverty and neglect."

LAW "NEEDED"

Judge Russell said the law is needed to protect the home, declaring:

"Everyone in Georgia who needs to know about birth control already knows about it. Any state that wants birth control practiced can have it. But I don't want the mails in my state opened to injurious matter to be placed before immature minds in the home. I object to opening the mails to depravity.

"I think Mrs. Sanger is conscientious in her objections to the law, but when she gets this thing started she can't control it."

Birth control, said Mrs. Sanger, is not only a health and economic expedient, but also a means of improving the moral strength of the nation.

Birth Control Vote by Two Denominations Proposed

NEW YORK, May 14.—(AP.)—Married members of the Congregational and Christian churches of the nation would be asked to vote on birth control under a resolution adopted today by the New York City Congregational Church Association.

The body voted to ask the general council of Congregational and Christian churches at its annual convention in Seattle next month to prepare a questionnaire for obtaining opinions on birth control from parents married at least five years and parents of one or more children.

They asked that results of such poll be submitted to Congress and legislatures of guidance in acting on birth control legislation.

Loses Dry Appeal, Must Serve Term

Jacob Sokol, convicted in 1928 for conspiracy to violate the prohibition law, surrendered himself to the United States marshal to serve a six months sentence. He had appealed the case to the United States Circuit and Supreme courts, but was unsuccessful. Sokol and four others were arrested in a raid at 1213 Montezuma street.

Ex-Pittsburgher To Be Ordained

BOLOGNA OUSTS TOSCANINI

BOLOGNA, Italy, May 15.—(AP.)—Arturo Toscanini, who was struck in the face last night when he refused to play the Fascist national anthem at a concert, was on the way to Milan today, having been ordered to leave Bologna by a Fascist official.

When the conductor arrived at the stage door of the theater a group of Fascists requested that he play the anthem because Count Ciano, undersecretary in the ministry of the interior and father-in-law of Premier Mussolini's daughter, was in the audience.

Toscanini refused, as he has done before, on the ground that the composition is not "good music." The delegation demanded that he reconsider, and when he would not one of them struck him and forced him to return to his hotel, where he was ordered to leave town.

HUNT MAD DOG VICTIM

In an effort to save his life, the Animal Rescue League today was scouring the city for the victim of a mad dog. The unidentified man was bitten by a dog belonging to Mrs. Sarah Richardson, 307 Thirty-ninth street, May 8. The dog died later and West Penn Hospital authorities declared it had rabies.

Hydrophobia may develop within 14 days to one year after the bite. Innoculations under the Pasteur treatment are the only preventive known. Superintendent J. Robb Snyder, of the League, appealed to police and the newspapers today to help him find the victim, that he might take the serum before it is too late.

CAPONE ROUSED BY STORY ON PARENTAGE

Gang Czar Enraged by Hurt To Mother on Rumanian's Claim to Be Father

International News Service.

CHICAGO, May 15.—Al Capone, harassed gang czar, who laughs off most of the wild rumors concerning himself, became serious and indignant today in squelching a story regarding his parentage because he felt it annoyed and hurt his mother.

Informed that a story from Berlin, Germany, stated that Ladislaus Kapovitch, a Rumanian, who claims to be the gang leader's father, was on his way to America, Capone dropped his usual jovial manner and asserted:

"Of course the story is absurd."

GIVES HISTORY

"My father's name was Gabriel. He died in Brooklyn, N. Y., on November 4, 1920. His body was first buried in a Brooklyn cemetery, but when my mother came here some years ago to live with me, I had his body brought here.

"Anyone who wants to investigate will find the family burial lot in Mount Olivet Cemetery here. My father is buried there with my brother, Frank."

Himself under sentence of a year in jail for contempt of Federal Court, Capone asked:

"Why doesn't the government take charge of this faker? He is either a confidence man or insane. Why let him get into the country?

TO PROTECT MOTHER

"Of course, I won't even see the man when he comes to Chicago. I have several brothers, though, who are capable of protecting their mother from the insults of some stranger who is trying to use the Capone family to get himself attention.

"I don't care what they say about me. They've said everything and done everything they can. I'm not asking consideration from anyone—in other words, I'm not crying about myself. But it does hurt my mother."

Weather Conditions.

The skies are clear over much the greater portion of the country this morning and the rainfall was limited to a narrow belt along the Middle and North Atlantic coast and to scattered places in the Far West. There is a disturbance centered over Manitoba and extends southwestward over the plains states to the Far Southwest but, as yet, it is attended by mostly clear skies. The principal high is centered over the extreme Lower Mississippi Valley and covers most of the eastern half of the country. Temperature changes were small generally, but towards rising. The temperature is now near the normal and there is no indication of a change to cold weather for the next several days.

River Conditions.

The rivers are falling. Stage at Franklin is 4.5 feet; Lock No. 7, 18.5; Pittsburgh, 18.3; Dam No. 4, 17.2; Dam No. 6, 18.4; Dam No. 10, 18.7, and Dam No. 13, 17.8. The dams are down. The rivers will continue to fall.

'Twas the Prince Of Wales Aimee Wed—She Says

CHICAGO, May 15.—(AP.)—It wasn't a baron, nor a count, nor a ship's captain, as rumors would have it, "it was the Prince of Wales" she married, Aimee Semple McPherson laughingly said here yesterday.

It was her answer to reports of romances that had drifted back from the evangelist's round the world trip. She stopped briefly on the way from New York to Los Angeles.

ATHLETE MERE GIGOLO TO WIFE

CHICAGO, May 15.—(AP.)—George Trafton, 250-pound center of the Chicago Bears professional football team, may be surprised to hear it, but in the opinion of his wife, Alyce, expressed yesterday, he's "just a gigolo."

"Gigolo" Trafton

The description was given by Mrs. Trafton in her answer to Trafton's suit for divorce, which charged her with cruelty. The "gigolo" charge was based, she said, on incidents which occurred at an inn.

Her answer, which contained a counter-charge of cruelty against Trafton, alleged he proved he had a fairly effective wallop when he broke her jaw when he was telling her what he was going to do in the prize ring to a chap named Primo Carnera.

The bout to which she referred was, however, won by Carnera, who knocked George out in 54 seconds.

LEADERS WILL JOIN IN LAST TRIBUTE

Famed Producer Dies While Audience Enjoys Last Play; Body to Lie Beside Wife's International News Service.

NEW YORK, May 15.—Broadway paused today to bow in tribute to David Belasco, one of the great figures of the American stage.

He died yesterday afternoon in his hotel apartment of a clot in one of the arteries near the heart.

He had planned to celebrate his seventy-seventh birthday in July by producing another play.

Weakened by protracted illness, Belasco died a power to the end, which came while a large matinee audience was enjoying a performance of his latest play.

When Helen Gahagan, star of his current play, came to her dressing room after the final curtain of the matinee, she was told of Belasco's death and collapsed. She appeared in the production last night with the rest of the cast.

FUNERAL SUNDAY

Funeral services will be held at 11 a. m. Sunday at the Central Synagogue. Rabbi Jonah B. Wise will officiate and Edwin Milton Royle, playwright, will deliver the eulogy.

The honorary pallbearers will include, it was announced today, Mayor Walker, Daniel Frohman, Lee Shubert, George M. Cohan, Judge Mitchell Erlanger, Frank Gillmore, president of Actors' Equity; A. O. Brown, shepherd of the Lambs' Club; Edward C. Carpenter, president of the Dramatists's Guild, and E. D. Coblentz, New York newspaper editor.

His body will be placed in the Belasco mausoleum at Linden Hills Cemetery, Brooklyn, beside his wife, who died in 1926, and his daughter, Mrs. William Elliott, who died in 1911.

Daughter at Bedside When Death Comes

His other daughter, Reina—Mrs. Morris Gest, wife of the theatrical producer—was with him when the end came. She had been absent from his room for some time and when she returned hear father said:

"Reina, dear—"

He raised his eyes and in them there was a message of defeat. Mrs. Gest said he seemed to know he was about to die. A few seconds later he was dead.

In addition to his daughter, Mrs. Gest, three brothers, Edward, Walter and Soloman, and a sister, Mrs. Sarah Mayer, survive. Edward Belasco resides in Los Angeles and the other brothers and sister in San Francisco.

'Miracle Man' Made Many Stage Stars

Belasco was the show business. He lived it every minute of his two generations in the American theater. He showed it even in his unusual clerical costume—collar at reverse.

They called him the "Miracle Man" because he took theatrical nobodies, worked on them, and then hung them high in the Broadway sky.

Belasco had a strange technique in his star-making. He believed generally in the whip. Sentimental and kindly off-stage, during rehearsals he would scold unmercifully his leading ladies and men.

On Stage at 5, Wrote First Play at 14

Of ancient Portuguese extraction, Belasco's ancestors went to England. His parents emigrated and settled first in Vancouver, B. C., moving thence to San Francisco, where Relasco was born.

He was carried on the stage in a baby part at the age of five. At 14 he wrote his first play, "Jim Black, or the Regulator's Revenge."

In all he wrote and staged, or aided in the writing and staging of about 400 plays.

Mother to Conduct Rites For Slain Ex-Tech Man

NEW YORK, May 15.—(INS.)—There will be no clergyman to intone the final prayer for Roy Sloane, former Carnegie Tech student and "boy lawyer" of Sing Sing, whose spectacular criminal career was cut short by the shotgun blasts of a murder mob.

His mother, Mrs. Anne Sloane, a distinguished author, will perform that last duty at the funeral service tomorrow. After having stood loyally by him in the face of the long series of crimes charged against him, and prayed nightly that he keep out of trouble, she will take the place of a clergyman at the funeral services.

CLARA BOW'S LIFE STORY

—By Louella Parsons—

STARTS MONDAY IN SUN-TELEGRAPH

Universal Service.

HOLLYWOOD, May 15.—For the first time, the real life story of Clara Bow is about to be given to the public.

From her birth in Brooklyn, through her school days, through the struggles against poverty and illness that her family faced, and up to her motion picture triumphs, the career of the flame-haired cinema star is traced in an amazingly interesting series of articles next Monday.

Louella Parsons, motion picture editor of Universal Service and the Hearst papers, is the author. And there could be none so competent, none so understanding of her material as Miss Parsons, whose writings of the screen and its players are known to millions.

"Only to you, Louella, would father and I give the intimate details of my life which we have given, and which you will pass on to the readers of the Hearst papers," wrote Clara to Miss Parsons.

And Robert Bow, in another letter, expressed exactly the same sentiment. "You have been the most consistently loyal friend my daughter has had, and I am glad it is you who are to tell her life story," Mr. Bow added.

CLARA BOW.

Miss Parsons promises the frankest sort of a narrative about Clara. It will not be any glittering tale of her screen successes alone, the writer declares. And it will not be the sort of story that conceals the adventures and romances that Clara has had, which made her the attempted victim, recently, of a blackmailer whom she bravely defeated.

Quite the contrary. In this life history, Miss Parsons says, Clara herself frankly tells of her romances—tells the real inside facts of them—tells angles of them that have not been known hitherto to anyone but herself.

Then, from Miss Parsons' own viewpoint, the real Clara—whom the public doesn't know—will be described, just as she is.

The narrative of Clara Bow will be complete in the series which begins next Monday. It will tell of the girl's life from her earliest childhood to the present day, when she is recuperating from a nervous breakdown caused by the intense strain to which she has recently been subjected.

Clara Bow—the subject! Louella Parsons, the descriptive biographer! A rare combination—to be had exclusively in the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, starting next Monday.

PINCHOT FLAYS 2 PITTSBURGH UTILITIES

Duquesne Light Earning More Than 7 Per Cent, Keeps Rates Up, He Says

Continuing his warfare against public utilities and the Public Service Commission, Gov. Gifford Pinchot attacked the Duquesne Light and Equitable Gas companies here today. In a statement issued just before he started on his tour to the northwestern part of the state, including stops at Butler, Meadville and Sharon, he said:

"The president of the Duquesne Light and Equitable Gas companies did the people of this state a very great service the other day. He went before the House Committee investigating the utilities and the Public Service Commission and told them, in his own words, that there was no such thing as regulation in Pennsylvania at present."

CITES EARNINGS

Reciting that the Duquesne company from 1927 to 1930, had earned $15,881,400 more than a fair 7 per cent return on its book value that the book figures had been written up by $14,000,000, he asserted that the actual earnings in the last four years had amounted almost to $20,000,000 more than a 7 per cent return. This return had been made, he said, notwithstanding the Public Service Commission had fixed rates.

Gov. Pinchot said:

"It has also been brought out that the Public Service Commission had not only allowed the writeup of $14,000,000, bu had found that on that basis the Duquesne company earned 9.45 per cent in 1928 and 10 per cent in 1929. Nevertheless the commission had made no move to lower rates in Pittsburgh."

Pinchot reviewed the testimony of President Phillips relative to the 7 per cent return, which Pinchot said was apparently new to the witness, who concluded with the remark, "That is news to me."

MUM ON RUMORS

Reports that Pinchot would demand resignations of antagonistic members of the Public Service Commission or swing the ax on them, received no confirmation from the Governor today. Asked concerning the rumors, he said:

"I have heard nothing and done nothing. You will hear lots of reports, however."

Speaking before the silver anniversary celebration of the Allied Boards of Trade, Gov. Pinchot said:

"The public utilities with their extortionate rates to consumers of light, water, power and other commodities are a cancerous growth in the healthy flesh of the state. There are only two ways to treat this cancer, the X-ray of investigation and publicity and the knife of legislative action. I am here to ask for your support and the authority to apply the knife to the Public Service Commission, the root of this cancer, and to restore untrammeled healthy growth to the public utilities of the state."

Pinchot paid tributes to County Commissioner Charles C. McGovern and James F. Malone, state supplies director. He said:

"I would not be governor at this minute if Charlie McGovern had not sat up five nights guarding the ballot boxes in the primary elections.

"And the Department of Supplies is a different place altogether since I put Jim Malone in there at its head."

TALKS OVER RADIO

"With a capital structure of $28,000,000,000, a sum greater than the national debt at its 1919 peak, the oppressive, grasping, overcharging public utilities can own senators, representatives and public officials, and not be in politics; whereas, any man who attempts to defend the people against their exactions is alleged to be doing it for political reasons.

"Shall the people of the United States continue to pay to the public utilities of this country the heaviest graft ever exacted in the history of the world, or shall the public utilities be compelled to give the people good service at fair rates, as they are in law and in duty bound to? If that is politics, let the public utilities make the most of it."

Upon his arrival yesterday at the Pittsburgher Hotel, Gov. Pinchot went into conference with former Mayor William A. Magee. They talked for about half an hour. Afterwards Magee said:

"I do not care to discuss the matters that Gov. Pinchot took up with me. The Public Service Commission vacancy was not mentioned."

Political gossip was that Gov. Pinchot would tender Magee the Benn vacancy. Magee has an intimate knowledge of the commission and its work.

MOORE UTILITY PROBERS END INQUIRY

Committee Concludes Final Hearing; Will Submit Supplemental Report

HARRISBURG, May 15.—The Moore committee investigating public utilities today is history—its last hearing yesterday concluding a six weeks' session in which 5,000 pages of testimony were taken.

Members of the committee have turned to the completion of their supplemental report, which will, it is understood, be presented to the House Monday night.

A previous report outlined the recommendations of the committee. Essentially it urged that a fair rate board supplant the Public Service Commission and that the public service laws be strengthened.

BACKS ARGUMENTS

The new supplement will make no new recommendations, it was learned. It will point out that all additional evidence substantiated the previous argument that the public has lost confidence in the commission; that utility stock issues should be placed under proper supervision, and that utility regulation should be made so that it will regulate.

Co-incident with the report that the supplement is nearly ready, came another that an analysis of the 5,000 pages of testimony would be made by committee members during the summer, with the conclusions to be given the Legislature at the next session, whether it be special or regular.

P. S. C. BATTLE CONTINUES

It was understood that the fight over the fair rate board and stricter public service laws would be continued next week in the Legislature.

That the House took its committee's recommendations and passed the fair rate bills was considered only the first step. The amendments to the Howell bill which would give the Governor the right to hire and fire the commissioners, also meet the House's approval and the administrative code containing other phases of the "picked" fair rate measures was passed with only three opposing votes.

NEW AIR LINE CENTERS HERE

Pittsburgh is to be the hub of a new air transportation service, the first part of which will be inaugurated June 8, when air mail and passenger service between Washington and Pittsburgh will begin, it was learned here today.

Postoffice officials announced yesterday that the Washington to Pittsburgh service was authorized. It is an extension of the Cleveland and Pittsburgh route. The entire airway will be flown by ships of the Pittsburgh Aviation Industries Corporation.

There are to be three round trips a day, each carrying mail and passengers.

PRINCE MARRIES ASTOR KIN

NEWPORT, R. I., May 15.—(INS.)—With a quiet ceremony, attended by only a dozen members of her immediate family, Miss Louise Astor Van Alen, a direct descendant of John Jacob Astor, was married today to Prince Alexis Z. Mdivani, of Transcaucasia, the former kingdom absorbed a century ago by Russia.

Prince Alexis' brother, Serge, is reported at present making plans to become the husband of Mary McCormic, noted diva, as soon as Pola Negri accepts the divorce she sought in Paris. Serge is at present in Hollywood, visiting at the home of a third brother, Prince David, the husband of Mae Murray, of stage and screen fame.

32-Cent Increase In Per Capita Cash Reported

WASHINGTON, May 15.—(AP.)—An increase of 32 cents in the per capita rate of money circulation in the United States is shown in the monthly circulation statement of the Treasury.

In April, there was $4,653,394,640 in circulation for a per capita average of $37.32. In March, money in circulation totaled $4,607,913,611, a per capita figure of $37, which was the same as April, 1930. The lowest per capita circulation in recent years was in June, 1914, when it dropped to $34.92 and the lowest on record in January, 1879, when it dropped to $16.92.

Monessen Military Contracts Awarded

HARRISBURG, May 15.—(AP.)—The general contract for the construction of a drill hall and administration building at the Pennsylvania National Guard Armory at Monessen today was awarded to the Wilson Construction Company of Johnstown by the Department of Property and Supplies. The company's bid was $44,123. The heating contract was awarded to R. J. Kleemann, of Butler, at $4,800; the electrical contract to J. E. Spence, of Altoona at $3,195, and the plumbing contract to William M. Clark and Company, Inc., of New Castle, at $3,094.

CALLS PINCHOT DICTATOR

GREENSBURG, May 15.—(AP.)—Senator William S. Rial, who was denounced by Gov. Pinchot here for his failure to support the fair rate bills, has issued a 1,500-word statement in which he branded the executive as a "dictator, a self-seeking egotist who, whipped by his own ambitions for power, hopes to dominate Pennsylvania." The Senator said:

"If the people of Pennsylvania are ready for a dictator, this is a fine opportunity to make Pinchot a Mussolini."

Answering a statement by the Governor that he could not have been elected if he had not stood by Pinchot principles, Rial referred to the fact that on his own platform he received over 4,000 more votes than did Pinchot in this district.

Exeter Graduate Goes to Turkey

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., May 15.—(INS.)—Louis S. Morse, of York, Pa., Exeter Academy graduate and senior at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, will represent that institution for the next year at Robert College in Istanbul, Turkey. Morse was picked by the Technology Christian Association cabinet for that honor. He will be an instructor in the physics department at the Turkish school, it was announced today.

Walkers Blamed For Auto Mishaps

HARRISBURG, May 15.—(AP.)—Pedestrians are becoming more responsible for automobile accidents, the Bureau of Motor Vehicles stated today in its monthly accident report.

J. H. Glazier, of the bureau, said:

"About 58 per cent of the pedestrian accidents last month were caused by persons crossing streets against traffic signals, between intersections and from behind parked vehicles. During April, 1930, the percentage was 41.8. Last month's increase would seem to shift the blame for pedestrian accidents more and more onto the pedestrian."

There were 885 accidents last month involving pedestrians, of which 67 were fatal.

Cantonese Rebels Attack Mutineers

SHANGHAI, May 15.—(INS.)—Gen. Chan Chia-Tang, leader of the Canton rebel army, today directed an attack against Whampoa, where 3,000 of his mutinous troops occupied the military academy after they declared their allegiance to the Nanking government yesterday.

An early victory was seen for the rebel army, giving Gen. Chan Chia-Tank possession of the last Nanking stroghold in Kwangtung province.

PINCHOT WARNS LEGISLATORS

BUTLER, Pa., May 15.—(AP.)—If a bill now in the House, which gives the Governor the power to hire and fire members of the Public Service Commission, is not enacted "and it becomes necessary to call an extra session of the Legislature," Gov. Pinchot will go into every county of the state and give the people "a full and accurate statement of what their representatives have done," the executive said in an address here today. He declared:

"The public utilities cannot gouge the people unless they control not only the Public Service Commission but the Legislature, elected by the people.

"The people of Pennsylvania have been easy for the bosses. They have let the bosses build up a feeling in this state that Representatives and Senators are not there to do the will of the people, but to take their orders from the bosses—and that is how we got where we are today.

"No boss who ever lived in Pennsylvania or any other state was ever master in his own right—even Penrose, the most masterful of them all, was nothing more than the servant of the big special interests of his day. If any single man is boss today, his name is Atterbury."

OFFICER SHOT AT ROADHOUSE

CHARLEROI, May 15.—Frank De Coma, Monongahela constable, was shot in the forehead early today as he attempted to enter the Green Lantern, a roadhouse near here. The bullet struck him a glancing blow and his injury was slight.

De Coma admitted he and Graham Ward, a son of Justice of the Peace Thomas Ward, of Monongahela, went to the roadhouse to investigate conditions. He said they did not have a warrant and did not intend to make a raid.

Charles Clegg, proprietor, a member of a rival political faction, said he fired at De Coma after the constable and Ward, who De Coma said he had deputized, attacked him in his filling station near the roadhouse.

None of the three were under arrest today, Justice Ward said.

California Avenue Reopened to Traffic

California avenue, between Superior and Island avenues, closed for several weeks while being repaved, will be opened to traffic tomorrow morning, Director of Public Works Edward G. Lang said today.

ADMIT STEALING CHURCH ORGAN

Pleading guilty to stealing a church organ and five dozen chairs, four persons were sent to the workhouse for periods from two months to two years by Judge George J. Moore in Criminal Court today.

Mrs. Anna Gupp, 45, was sentenced to serve three months to two years. Harry Carothers, 42, four months to two years; Charles Pickens, 55, two months to two years; William Watts, 55, two months to two years.

The four said they lived at Mrs. Gupp's boarding house, Fourteenth street and Pine Hollow road, McKees Rocks, were hungry, decided to steal the organ and chairs from the Forest Grove Presbyterian Church, Robinson Township. They sold the organ, they said, for $2, the chairs for 25 cents each. The church had been closed for some time before the theft.

Druggist's Widow Left $12,500 Estate

John B. Cullen, of 348 Melwood street, who conducted a drug store at Center avenue and Neville street for many years, left an estate of $12,500 to his widow, Mary Cullen, in a will filed today.

All-Woman Jury Finds Against County

Allegheny County's first all-woman jury today returned a verdict of $3,250 in favor of John W. Schooley and his wife for damages to their property at Baldwin road and the Steubenville pike, Robinson Township.

The Schooleys sued Allegheny County for the condemnation of a strip of property used by the county to eliminate a grade crossing of the pike by the Pittsburgh, Chartiers and Youghiogheny Railroad in 1926.

Harry Langdon Sues Former Landlord

LOS ANGELES, May 15.—(AP.)—Harry Langdon, film comedian, and his wife, Helen Walton Langdon, yesterday filed suits against James F. Dickason, wealthy property owner, demanding $502,500 for alleged false arrest.

The suits charge the Langdons were arrested last February 2 on complaint they had removed awnings and other fixtures valued at $175 from a house belonging to Dickason. They were acquitted the following day after they offered proof that they removed only their own belongings.

HELD FOR COURT AS 'PROPHET'

Mrs. Mary Cerimiorie, 36, 405 Paulson avenue, who calls herself "Madam Lillian, life reader and spiritual advisor," was arraigned before Magistrate Leo Rothenberg, in Central Police Court, this morning, charged with fortune telling. She was held for court under $1,000 bail.

She was arrested on complaint of two policewomen, Mrs. Ida Rickenbrode and Mrs. Sara McClanahan, who were given private readings for $1 each.

"Madam Lillian," Mrs. Rickenbrode said, told her she was going to New York, and added:

"You have been eating mostly from cans. Don't do that any more because you will get ptomaine poisoning."

Mrs. Rickenbrode said she resented the reflection on her housekeeping.

Fall Under Wagon Causes Man's Death

Edwin Armstead, 30, Negro, of 712 Woods Run avenue, died early today in the Allegheny General Hospital of shock following the fracture of both legs, according to a morgue report. The report said he fell from a garbage wagon, the wheels of which passed over him.

13 POLICE CARS TAKE FIELD

Thirteen more police cruising autos, equipped with radio receiving sets, were put in operation today, Supt. of Police Peter P. Walsh announced. This puts one auto in each of the 16 police stations. Fourteen more, Walsh said, will take the streets Monday.

The 30 radio equipped cars will augment five speed autos now used by the detective bureau.

Walsh said he made two tests of the cruisers last night. In one he called for a car then in California avenue. Seven minutes later, the driver was at his home in Bluff street. In the other test the time was two and one-half minutes.

Warm Pool Found In Deep Caverns

CARLSBAD, N. M., May 15.—(AP.)—A swimming pool with water at 70 degrees has been discovered 1,280 feet underground in the Carlsbad Caverns.

The pool, which is fed from the drippings of stlactites and other sources, contained water pure enough to drink and is 20 feet deep by 100 feet wide and probably 300 feet long.

1931 Gliders

$15.75 $39.50

Something that will sway and swing—that's the secret of comfort that made the old-fashioned hammock so popular; and these same principles, very attractively used in the modern glider, make gliders the most sought-for item in summer furnishings.

At $15.75 one may choose a well-built, three-passenger glider in a variety of bright colorings, with reversible seat cushions.

At $39.50 a sturdy, Permatex-covered glider may be chosen.

This Is the Year for New Awnings

Be one of the hundreds of Pittsburgh homes that will have Horne-made awnings at their porches and windows this year . . . and next. So many people have chosen Horne awnings this year because the new materials are more unusual and colorful than ever, the 1931 prices for better qualities are lower than last year's, and the expert work of Horne awning-makers is available at the same price as just ordinary work is elsewhere.

What Did the Rain Do to Your Lawn?

If you have any sort of lawn, this week's heavy rains must have affected it.

If the grass was already growing, the rain made it grow more. Now you need—

Cecil Lawn Mowers, $6.95

The four sharp, cutting blades will trim the lawn swiftly, surely and easily. This size has 14-inch cutting blades. With 16-inch cutting blades the price is $7.95.

If you had just planted grass seed, then very likely the rain washed some of it away. (And if you hadn't planted at all, then you'd better hurry!) You need—

Horne Special Lawn Seed
5 lbs., $1.75

Panamas in Snowy White

The crisp, crowning touch to this summer's white costumes, will be a panama. It may be all-white, or sharply contrasted by a band of patent leather or grosgrain ribbon in black or color. Its brim may be impudently rolled, it may take a smart turn upward, or droop to a shading angle. . . . Beautifully fresh Horne panamas, $5, $7.50, and $10.

...Horne's, Millinery Salons, Fourth Floor...

White Handbags

Stunning bags of white pig and pelican grains, patent leather and washable calf, Visca straw, feather embroidery, and linen. Smart little vanity cases that hold everything without bulging, interesting envelope and back-strap styles. And many interesting combinations with color—$2.95.

..Horne's, Main Floor...

White Gloves

Doeskins—because they are wonderfully soft and crushable, and because they wash like a handkerchief does. In slip-on length, for long-sleeved costumes, $1.95.

...Horne's, Main Floor...

White Belts

The finishing touch—a belt of white patent leather, kid, suede, or pigskin—wide or narrow, to suit your type of frock. 50c to $2.00.

...Horne's, Main Floor...

White Jewelry

Chalk-white and gardenia-white jewelry with every costume—your most important accessory this season. Plain, carved—single, double, and triple strands—choker and longer length necklaces, at $1.95.

White galalith bracelets, $1.00.
White button or drop earrings, $1.00.

...Horne's, Main Floor...

White Mesh Hosiery

Sheer and flattering—for morning and afternoon occasions all summer long, with knitted outfits for spectator sports, with pastel costumes. This fine, lacy mesh, all-silk, with picot tops, $1.65 pair.

STRAWS

A Men's Week Feature

$1.95

A rousing special to celebrate the official opening of the straw hat season—sennits which, by all the rules of good merchandising, should be marked much higher than $1.95.

There are shapes for every profile—narrow brims for small features, wide brims for big men, and medium widths for average types. Plain bands have the preference, with neat stripes a close second.

Other Sennit Straws, to $7.50.

HORNEBILT

Two-Trouser Suits

$29

Hornebilts have everything—at a price. All-wool fabrics. Tailoring of a very high grade. Fit that only good tailoring, good fabrics, and good styling can bring about. And TWO pairs of trousers, meaning months added to the life of the suit.

Hornebilts are available in single and double breasted worsteds, flannels, tweeds, and mixtures, light and dark colors.

Let us emphasize again—they come with two pairs of trousers.

Two-Trouser Flannel Suits, $33

Soft, luxurious flannels for summer—at a special Men's Week price. In plain grays, blues, and browns, single or double breasted.

Four-Piece Sports Suits, $33

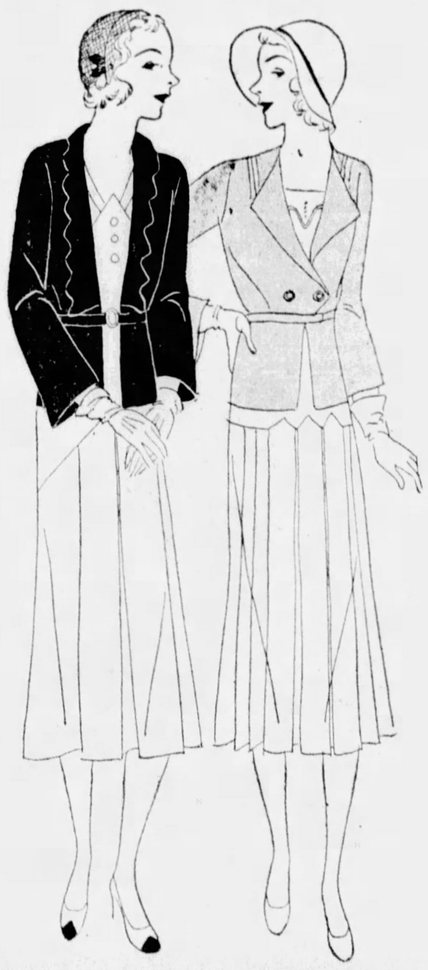
A Surprise for Junior-Misses

Jacket Frocks

of Rough Sports Silk

$10



They are not the ordinary kind of sports-silk costume, for they are made of the new, rich, crinkly Ondese; and as you can see, their styles are unusual.

The sleeveless and cap-sleeve frocks are in white or eggshell, and the jackets in basque blue, red, brown, yellow, or pink . . . And we'd have you know that for all their beauty, they're washable.

At the same price, there are chic, little costumes of one of the finer, shantung weaves. With snowy white short-sleeved frocks, and waistline jackets in gay tri-colors.

...Horne's, Junior-Misses' Section, Second Floor...

Flannel Skirts

$2.95

There are various flared and pleated models, and sizes for junior-misses and misses. All are of a nice quality of flannel, in white, yellow, pastel blue, pink, green, and shades of tan.

Mesh Sweaters

$1.00

Cotton mesh fashions are the popular thing, the practical thing, for summer wear, because they are cool and washable. These sweaters can be had in all-over mesh, or with mesh yokes, in white, pink, or yellow.

HEADS ELECTED AT CIVIC CLUB MEETING

Prize Awards Announced In Tulip Show Sponsored By Club, Florist's Group

The Civic Club of Allegheny County, holding its thirty-sixth annual meeting in William Penn Hotel last night, elected the following officers at a business meeting: President, Henry N. Muller; vice presidents, Francis S. Guthrie, Maurice R. Scharff and Mrs. F. D. Glover; treasurer, Mrs. William Thaw, Jr., and secretary, H. Marie Dermitt. The Soho Bath board members and 19 directors were also chosen. Maurice R. Scharff, retiring president, was in charge of the meeting.

Mr. Muller

Following the business session, a reception was held in the lobby of the hotel.

A tulip display, under the auspices of the Pittsburgh Florists' and Gardeners' Association, with the co-operation of the Civic Club, was one of the features of the club's meeting. Prizes for the best exhibits were awarded as follows: A silver vase, the sweepstakes prize, to Mrs. Alexander Laughlin, Jr., Henry Goodband, superintendent; second prize, to Mrs. R. B. Mellon, William Milne, superintendent; and third, to Mrs. E. A. Woods, T. Hoskings, superintendent. A special prize was awarded to C. D. Armstrong for an exhibit of orchids. The display was to continue through today and tonight.

EDISON SCORES GOLD STANDARD

FORT MYERS, Fla., May 15.—(INS.)—Abolition of the gold standard was urged here by Thomas A. Edison, 84-year-old inventor, in a conversation with Joseph Meyer, X-ray authority, of Detroit, the latter revealed today.

The present money system has played its part in the world depression by making gold the "king" of all commodities, in Edison's opinion. He was quoted as saying:

"Gold should not be a monopoly any more than aluminum, iron or lead. Money should be in reality a true medium of exchange and all commodities should sell for their intrinsic value and not according to the gold standard."

4 HURT IN AUTO COLLISION

Four persons were injured this morning in an automobile collision at Duquesne Junction, near McKeesport. Three of them left the McKeesport Hospital after their injuries had been dressed

They were Cyril Leifer, 29, 1069 Brownsville avenue, Pittsburgh; Elizabeth Banpatton, 26, 1 Amanda avenue, Knoxville, and Paul Battie, 21, 828 Vankirk avenue, Clairton. Mike Ondrek, 21, 320 Waddell avenue, Clairton, remained under treatment at the hospital.

McCormick, Colleen Free to Again Marry

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., May 15.—(INS.)—Colleen Moore, screen actress, and her ex-husband, John McCormick, film producer, today are free to marry whom they please. One year ago Miss Moore received her interlocutory decree from McCormick.

McCormick is expected to marry Mrs. Janet Hamilton Gattis, Washington society woman. Mrs. Gattis and McCormick are already in Honolulu. Colleen was reported engaged to Al Scott, New York stock broker.

2ND SUIT FILED IN AUTO CRASH FATAL TO 2

Actress, Mate Ask $30,000 From Host for Injuries In North Side Accident

The second suit growing out of an automobile collision in which two actresses were killed was filed in Common Pleas Court by Mrs. Alice Schreck, of 1303 Madison avenue, North Side, an actress, seeking $30,000 damages for injuries from Harold K. Murphy, of Bellevue. Her husband, Harry Schreck, joined in the suit.

Mrs. Schreck was a guest in Murphy's car when it collided with the automobile of Max Muehlbauer, of Spring street, South Side, at Sandusky and East General Robinson streets, North Side, March 22, and she suffered a broken rib and other injuries, according to the suit.

JUSTICE ASKED $50,000

William D. Porter, justice of the peace of North Braddock, who was in Murphy's car, previously filed a suit against Murphy and Muehlbauer, asking $50,000 damages for injuries. Mickey Sheehan, male impersonator, and Velma Koll, actress, were killed in the collision.

Mrs. Katherine A. Joyce, of Munhall, asked $20,000 damages for injuries to her son, Paul Joyce, by an automobile, in a suit against Robert C. Nicol, of McKeesport, filed in Common Pleas Court. The boy alighted from a school bus and was crossing the road in front of his home at Smith's lane and Eighth avenue, Munhall, March 31, when he was struck by an automobile driven by Nicol and sustained concussion of the brain and other injuries, according to the suit.

BOY HURT, PARENTS SUE

Seeking to recover $10,000 damages for the death of their son, William, 8, Mr. and Mrs. Philip F. Metz, 4814 Cypress street, filed suit against Arthur D. Harris, of Pittsburgh, in Common Pleas Court. The boy was struck by an automobile owned by Harris while on his way home for lunch from the Osceola public school January 8, according to the suit.

FORESTS ABLAZE IN IDAHO

LEWISTON, Idaho, May 15.—(AP.)—Approximately 20 fires, covering almost 8,000 acres, rage in national and state forests and private timberlands in North Idaho.

Three hundred men directed by federal and state officials and wardens of timber protective associations, sought to turn aside the creeping flames.

A slashings fire near Coolin swept out of control toward timber of the Kaniksu Timber Company.

The Clearwater National Forest fire advanced steadily on both sides of the north fork of the Clearwater River, driving back 200 men who had waded through snow to reach the scene.

S. M. Cossitt, assistant district superintendent of forests, said the fire hazard was extremely great because the trees are dry. The Kaniksu forest has been closed to campers.

Chilean Air Ace Meets President

WASHINGTON, May 15.—(AP.)—Col. Arturo Merino, chief of the Chilean air forces, was presented to President Hoover by the Chilean ambassador.

Col. Merino is in this country to inspect American airports and airplane factories. He will witness the air corps maneuvers which begin Monday and later intends to go to England.

Ground for Bridge Over Ohio Broken

WELLSBURG, W. Va., May 15.—Ground was broken here by the Mt. Vernon Bridge Company of Mt. Vernon, O., for a bridge to span the Ohio River between this place and Brilliant, O. The estimated cost of the structure is $1,000,000 and it will accommodate pedestrian and vehicular traffic.

GIRLS PERILED IN PLANE HERE

nger Travelair, was placed in e Buffalo service two weeks o.

Describing her experience, Mrs. hillips said:

"It was my first airplane ride. I didn't know whether the wheel folded up like that or not, but I thought it was funny, and I called the attention of the pilot, who saw it about the same time that I did.

ETURNS TO FIELD

"He turned and came back to the field, telling us that there was nothing to be excited over, but to keep our seats and fasten our 'life' belts. I wasn't afraid and I don't believe any of the other girls were. We laughed and joked. Mr. Weiblen kept up a running fire of humorous talk. When those other ships came up to direct us and warn us about landing, we thought it was lots of fun. When we landed there was hardly any bump at all."

While the attempts were being made to land the plane or to effect mid-air repairs, Pilot Ted Caney, a veteran pilot of the Pittsburgh Airways, went aloft several times warning Pilot Weiblen to "stay up." Following failure of the attempt to transfer Lutz to the disabled plane, Pilot Baker went up again with instructions to "Stall in on the runway."

DIRECTS RESCUE

The attempts at rescue were directed by James N. Condon, president of the Pittsburgh Airways, Inc. He said:

"We are glad it was not a serious accident. Our passengers suffered no ill effects whatsoever, and continued on their way to Buffalo in another plane as soon as they had landed."

The landing such as Weiblen made has been seldom equalled. Easing his plane down to earth at a speed of 40 miles an hour, Pilot Weiblen allowed it to settle on its unharmed left wheel. As it taxied to a stop, the plane eased over and was swung into a ground loop, plane's propeller was damaged in the landing.

PILOT'S STORY

Pilot Weiblin said:

"We left Bettis Field at 9 a. m. While flying over East Liberty another plane headed me off and pointed toward my wheels. Then I knew something was wrong. I turned around and flew toward the field, and told my three passengers, all girls, exactly what was wrong, and I instructed them to get in the rear seats and to put the safety life belts around them, which they did.

"I wanted the weight in the rear.

"I told them not to be afraid, that there was no danger. Of course, their lives were in my hands, and I knew there was danger. I kept up conversation with them all the time, keeping them in good humor. We were up in the air 1 hour and 40 minutes. Then we landed after four or five attempts."

The field was kept clear of spectators during the attempts at rescue. Ambulances stood heady to take the injured to hospitals in the event of a smash-up, while the Bettis Field fire fighting apparatus, with engines running, prepared for emergency use.

Hawks Makes Fast Flight at Stockholm

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, May 15.—(AP.)—An international airshow was opened at noon today with Prince Charles, brother of King Gustave, unveiling a monument to fallen fliers as planes circled above.

Frank Hawks, American speed flier, added to his laurels by flying from Hamburg to Malmslaett, about 475 miles, in two hours.

Study of Light Speed Near End at Death

PASADENA, Cal., May 15.—(INS.)—Three-fourths of the observations had been made in the speed of light experiments which the late Dr. Albert A. Michelson was conducting at the time of his death, Dr. Francis G. Pease said today. The balance probably will be completed in a month, he added.

At present the velocity is given as 186,285 miles per second, and according to Dr. Pease, the corrected figure will not vary greatly from Dr. Michelson's previous calculations.

Bogus Crabtree Heiress Faces Jail

BOSTON, May 15.—(AP.)—An effort to return Mrs. Ida M. Blankenberg, of Tulsa, Okla., to Massachusetts, where she faces a six months' sentence for perjury for representing herself as a daughter of Lotta Crabtree, was made today.

Mrs. Blankenberg was adjudged guilty of contempt for perjury committed in laying claim to the fortune left by the famous actress, estimated to exceed $5,000,000.

KING HITS STORE TAX DODGERS

HARRISBURG, May 15.—(AP.)—Dr. Clyde L. King, secretary of revenue, declared last night that some merchants of the state are attempting to dodge their full responsibility in the payment of the mercantile tax.

He made the statement in the course of his radio talk from a local station, taking the time usually used by Gov. Pinchot, who is on a speaking campaign. King said:

"The Department of Revenue is insisting that the mercantile tax law be strictly complied with. Not to do so is unfair to those who pay their tax in full and find that their competitors in adjoining blocks, having larger businesses and with political pull have been paying a smaller tax.

"The objection most business people have to this tax is the fact that a correct return is not being made by some, while others are making a full and complete return of the sales made. Parties who made the incorrect returns are being billed for the additional tax due the commonwealth, and are also liable to the penalties of perjury."

MAYOR FINALLY ACCEPTS RAISE

BALTIMORE, May 15.—(AP.)—When Mayor William F. Broening, Mrs. Broening and their son left for New York to sail for France, in the Mayor's pocket was a check for $8,000 he decided he would accept after refusing it for four years.

The money represented a raise in salary from $10,000 to $12,000 granted in 1927, but refused then and every year since by Mayor Broening. Yesterday the check was made out and left on his desk and the Mayor capitulated.

Mayor Broening's term expires on May 18. A Republican, he is to be succeeded by Howard W. Jackson, a Democrat, elected May 5.

FALL AT PICNIC FATAL TO CHILD

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., May 15.—Evelyn Ruth Cale, 11, of Bullskin Township, near here, was dead today, the victim of a fall yesterday while attending the Johnstown school picnic at Whistle Park, near her home.

The child, a pupil at the school, which closed yesterday, fell over an embankment and broke a rib that punctured her heart, according to Police Chief Andrew Thomas.

Dr. Paul Lucky was called shortly after the girl fell but she was dead when he arrived, he told Chief Thomas. The child was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Cale.

Duquesne, Seton Hill Colleges to Debate

A no-decision debate between the Duquesne University and Seton Hill College teams will be held in the Duquesne Campus Theater at 8 o'clock tonight. The subject will be: "Resolved, that the several states should enact legislation providing for compulsory unemployment insurance."

Taking the negative for Seton Hill will be Katherine Kennedy, of Greensburg, and Helen Verosky, of Pittsburgh. The Duquesne team is to be composed of Joseph E. Silvis and Horace B. Smith.

Chicago Publisher Leaves $2,500,000

CHICAGO, May 15.—(AP.)—The will of Walter Ansel Strong, publisher of the Chicago Daily News, disposing of an estate as "not to exceed" $2,500,000, was filed for probate.

His widow, Mrs. Josephine Haviland Strong, gets one-third of the estate, while the remainder was created as a trust estate for the benefit of Mrs. Strong and the five children. The will conferred discretionary powers on the executors as to disposition of the Daily News.

Sharon Hunts Driver After Fatal Crash

SHARON, Pa., May 15.—A district-wide search is under way for the driver of a small truck who caused two cars to go into the ditch near Osgood. In the crash John Hurst, 62, employe at the Bessemer and Lake Erie shop in Greenville, was killed and Ned Peck, 45, conductor, was injured.

THE PENALTY of GRAY HAIR

Gray hair—age—slipping. All these unpleasant ideas seem to go together. Yet, it is not at all necessary. Gray Hair often comes to a young head and people who have it are neither old nor incapable. But how often you hear people say, "Why, she has gray hair!" and—she is on the shelf.

This penalty need no longer handicap the woman who uses Canute Water. This is a clear, spring-like water, of wonderful properties which actually restore hair to its original girlhood color. No complicated "color plan"; no danger of getting brunette shade when your hair is blonde. Not only the one kind but the one bottle is enough. It really is surprisingly what successful, youthifying results it gives.

Apply Canute Water yourself, in the privacy of your own home. Many women in town are doing the same thing; they simply do not mention it. You need not mention it either. Just buy a bottle from any good druggist—and get rid of the "age-penalty" in gray hair. Canute Water is so safe, so scientific and sure that your dealer knows it will satisfy you; if not, he will refund your money. Sold and recommended by Kaufmann's and all Mayflower Drug Stores or your own druggist. —The Canute Co., Milwaukee, Wis.

LEGION URGES JOB PARLEY

INDIANAPOLIS, May 15.—(AP.)—The National Executive Committee of the American Legion late yesterday directed Ralph T. O'Neil national commander, to petition President Hoover to call a non-political conference to solve the causes of economic depression.

The report of the Legion's national unemployment commission, adopted unanimously, urged analysis of "charges that the financial and business leaders failed to recognize the warning signs fully one year ahead of the depression and failed to sound the warning that might have, in some measure, minimized the depression that followed."

The report of the commission related that a national survey by the 10,000 posts of the Legion indicated more than 6,000,000 persons out of employment.

Cornell Opposes Military Training

ITHACA, N. Y., May 15.—(AP.)—The faculty of Cornell University has voted 81 to 38 in favor of discontinuing compulsory military training.

The resolution will go to the board of trustees for action in June. Military drill, as represented by the requirements of the R. O. T. C. would be made elective, under the resolution. A change in the compulsory feature would affect nearly 2,000 students, first and second year men, it was pointed out on the campus.

Real Estate

The weekly mortgage report of C. C. C. Stotler, secretary-treasurer of the Title Guaranty Company, shows that a total of 352 mortgages valued at $1,759,249.51 were placed on record from May 7 to and including May 13.

Of this number 312, with a valuation of $1,603,499.73, were straight mortgages. The remaining 40, valued at $155,749.78, were purchase money mortgages. One hundred and twenty of the straight mortgages were to corporations, 111 to building and loan associations and 81 to individuals.

ENGINEER TO SPEAK

Lewis W. McIntyre, city traffic engineer, will address members of the Building Owners' and Managers' Association next Wednesday at a luncheon meeting in McCreery's dining room. McIntyre's talk will deal with the downtown parking problems and the question of complete elimination of parking on streets in the Triangle.

The Amherst Terrace Realty Company has sold to Oscar Palmi, McKeesport builder, a lot 50x120 feet at McCully and Prescott avenues, Amherst Terrace plan, Versailles Township. The purchaser expects to construct a six-room brick bungalow on the property, according to William M. Weldon, realtor, who closed the deal.

A long term lease on the six-story warehouse building, 1018-20 Forbes street, has been closed by the Porter & MacDowell Company, realtors, for the owner, William C. Smith, to the Fort Pitt Casket Company. The building contains 30,000 square feet of floor space and has been remodeled to satisfy the requirements of the new tenants.

FOUR LOTS SOLD

Four building lots in the Raleigh Square home development, Carrick, are reported sold by W. A. Bode & Co., owners and developers. Two lots, Bode reports, have been sold to John Hack, who is erecting houses on each. One lot has been secured by Charles George Grant and another by George Kearn. Grant is also constructing a home.

Fifteenth Ward—M. Cassale, two brick dwellings, 4300-04 Winterburn street, $7,000.

FACE COVERED WITH PIMPLES

Resinol clears them away

"My complexion was very poor because of pimples and blackheads which covered my face and neck. I had been advised to try Resinol Soap and Ointment, but had tried so many other things without success I was disgusted with everything. However, a friend urged me to try a sample anyway. In three days' time the improvement was so great I could hardly believe it. I will always have a word of praise for Resinol." (Signed)—

Jesse Born Too Early

By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER

How would Jesse James compare with the modern jackers?

This question has been asked by the Reference and Research Department of the Boy Marble Champions League.

Was Jesse braver than the 1931 stickeroo who packs so much artillery he sounds like a tin peddler's wagon on a hill? We think he was. At least he had a tougher racket.

They say Jesse had a kind heart. He took from the rich and gave it to the poor. Yes, he did.

Jesse was so benevolent he would rather shoot you than see you drown.

He also had a violent temper but never got so mad he threw silver dollars at you. But his gadget was tougher than the modern gunnister who pokes up a bank, steps outside into a crowd and is gone.

When Jesse left a hot town he was good for a steeplechase over two or three big states, through rivers, around mountains and over the hills. They would be shooting at Jesse and his landscape gardeners for weeks at a clip.

They knew the direction in which he was going and where he was headed. And the motored bandit had it all over Jesse because it did the James boys no good to change the license plates on their hosses.

We don't claim that Jesse and his playful little brothers were good material to select as scoutmasters. But they had to have a certain amount of outdoor courage to stand off the posses. The farmers didn't like Jesse's brand of interestate commerce.

When the James clique stuck up a community chest that was just the start of the job. It meant a point-to-point race over barren horizons for months. Towns were small and a stranger stuck out like a sore thumb.

Now, the boys step into the bank and step out again. And there you are. They're gone.

That's why we claim Jesse as the founder of an early American industry had more abdominal grit than this season's crop of jackers. He launched his boat, sailed around it and, when it was sunk, he had no friends on the jury.

Jail terms of 50, 60 and 80 years also indicated that they put the boys away more carefully in those days, even if they didn't pack 'em in ice.

Dukes Incorporate Selves to Cut Taxes

LONDON, May 15.—(AP.)—It is quite the thing for dukes to incorporate themselves to make taxes on their estates lower. The Duke of Norfolk, the Duke of Westminster and the Duke of Richmond and Gordon have done so.

Stimson, Borah Agree On One Thing, Horses

WASHINGTON, May 15.—(AP.)—Secretary Stimson and Senator Borah are thoroughly in agreement on one thing; that the horse is a wonderful animal. Each rides daily. They went to a horse show together.

400 Jobless Plead To Retain Shelter

TOLEDO, O., May 15.—(AP.)—Acting on the plea of 400 inmates, Mayor William T. Jackson called a special meeting of his cabinet today to determine whether the community welfare house can be kept open.

The 400 unemployed men who have been provided food and lodging during the winter marched to Mayor Jackson's residence when they received notice the institution would be closed today because of lack of funds.

NOTICE TO TAXPAYERS

Office of Treasurer of Allegheny County, Room 108, Court House, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

In pursuance of the 21st section of an "Act relating to Allegheny County," approved the 1st day of May, 1861, and of the amendment to said section, approved the 30th day of March A. D. 1868, hereby give notice that the tax duplicates for the several Wards of the Cities of Pittsburgh, McKeesport, Duquesne and Clairton, Boroughs and Townships, will be open, and I will be prepared to receive the County, Road, Poor, Bond Interest, etc., Park and Personal Property Taxes for the year 1931 on May 1st. Said taxes may be paid during the months of May, June and July only, at 5% discount, during August at face, and on and after September 1st the tax plus an added 10% penalty must be paid to the County Delinquent Tax Collector.

Statements will be furnished promptly upon written request, if furnished name, location by Ward in the Cities of Pittsburgh, McKeesport, Duquesne or Clairton, or Boroughs or Townships. If statement of Personal Property or Occupation Tax is desired, give street address also.

Use of the mail is advised for requesting statements and making payment of taxes. Payment may be made in cash at Treasurer's Office, or through mail by certified Check or Money Order (payable to John Francies, County Treasurer), and mailed to Room 108, Court House, Pittsburgh, Pa., accompanied by stamped and addressed envelope for return of tax statement or receipts.

SPECIAL NOTICE

Positively NO discount will be allowed on taxes not actually received at the Treasurer's Office before the close of business on July 31st, 1931, nor will Taxes at face be received by the County Treasurer after the close of business on August 31st, 1931.

Delay in delivery by mail or messenger will not be considered an excuse for non-payment before expiration of discount or face period for payment.

JOHN FRANCIES,
County Treasurer.

Legal Notices 107

ALBERT F. YUNKER, Attorney-at-Law, 434 Diamond street, Pittsburgh, Pa. In the Court of Common Pleas of Allegheny County, Pennsylvania, No. 821 July Term, 1931. Docket A. In re: Satisfaction of mortgage of James Barry to Cyrus Townsend, and of mortgage of James Barry to Margret Murnion, Hugh Kane and Rose Anne, his wife, Mary Murnion and Catharine Murnion, Peter Murnion and Sarah, his wife, John Farrell and Margret, his wife.

To Cyrus Townsend, Margret Murnion, Hugh Kane and Rose Anne, his wife, Mary Murnion and Catharine Murnion, Peter Murnion and Sarah, his wife, John Farrell and Margret, his wife, or their heirs or legal representatives or whoever may be the holder or holders of each of the mortgages hereinafter mentioned.

Take notice, that on the 20th day of April, 1931, Hiram F. Cheetham, Alice Mary Koehler, Richard Andrew Cheetham and George Summerwell Cheetham, filed their petition at the above number and term, averring that Hiram F. Cheetham has life estate in the real estate hereinafter described, and that Alice Mary Koehler, Richard Andrew Cheetham and George Summerwell Cheetham are the owners in fee of the hereinafter described real estate: All that certain piece or parcel of ground situate in Hampton (formerly McCandless Township), County of Allegheny and State of Pennsylvania, being known as Purparts A-No. 1 and B-No. 1, as shown on the plan recorded in Partition Docket Vol. 10, page 95, in the matter of the partition of the Estate of George Summerell, deceased, at No. 11 March Term, 1858, in the Orphans Court of Allegheny County, bounded and described as follows, to-wit:

Beginning at a pin at the corner of Grubbs's line and the line dividing Purparts A-No. 1 and B-No. 1, as marked on said plan; thence North 89 degrees 30 minutes East, along said line dividing Purparts A-No. 1 and B-No. 1, 148.63 perches to a pin, thence dividing Purparts A-No. 1 and B-No. 1 and C-No. 1, as marked on said plan, thence North 0 degrees 37 minutes East along said line dividing Purparts A-No. 1 and B-No. 1, 67.4 perches to a pin, thence South 89 degrees 40 minutes West, 80.63 perches to a pin; thence North 0 degrees 30 minutes East, 2 perches to a pin, thence South 89 degrees 40 minutes West along Miller's line, 68 perches to a pin, and thence South 0 degrees 37 minutes West, along said Grubb's line, 89.89 perches to the place of beginning. Containing 65.3 acres.

That two unsatisfied mortgages upon said tract or piece of land remain of record in the Recorder's Office of Allegheny County, Pennsylvania, one made and executed by James Barry to Cyrus Townsend, dated May 28, 1852, acknowledged May 28, 1852, and duly recorded in the Recorder's Office of Allegheny County, Pennsylvania, on May 28, 1852, in Mortgage Book Volume 23, page 143, in the sum of $305, payable on or before the 1st day of April, 1854; and the other made and executed by James Barry to Margret Murnion, Hugh Kane and Rose Anne, his wife, Mary Murnion and Catharine Murnion, Peter Murnion and Sarah, his wife, John Farrell and Margret, his wife, dated March —, 1849, acknowledged March —, 1849, and duly recorded in the Recorder's Office of Allegheny County, Pennsylvania, on May 28, 1852, in Mortgage Book Volume 23, page 141, in the sum of $1,000, payable in the following manner, viz.: $200 on the 10th day of April, 1851, with the yearly interest, and $200 in each year thereafter, with interest payable always on the 10th day of April in each year until the whole is paid.

That more than 21 years have elapsed since the principal of each of said mortgages became due and payable, and that no payments of principal or interest have been made on said mortgages for 21 years on account of either of said mortgages by the present owners, or so far as can be ascertained, by their predecessors in title, and praying for satisfaction thereof.

WHEREUPON said Court ordered that notice of said facts be served by the Sheriff of Allegheny County, Pennsylvania, on Cyrus Townsend, Margret Murnion, Hugh Kane and Rose Anne, his wife, Mary Murnion and Catharine Murnion, Peter Murnion and Sarah, his wife, John Farrell and Margret, his wife, or their heirs or legal representatives, and upon the known holder or holders of said mortgages, if they, or any of them can be found in Allegheny County, Pennsylvania, and have proof thereof returned to the Court, then to give public notice by advertisement requiring them to appear in said Court on Monday, the 8th day of June, 1931, at 10 o'clock a. m., easern standard time, to show cause why a decree should not be made directing that the property described in said petition be released and discharged from the lien, encumbrance and charge of each of said mortgages, and the payments thereof.

Bowman Names New School Head

Martin Phillip Chworowsky, head of the Community School, has been appointed principal of the Fanny Edel Falk Elementary School of the University of Pittsburgh, Dr. John G. Bowman, chancellor announced today. The appointment will be effective September 1.

The elementary school is to be a laboratory where the newest teaching methods for junior pupils will be developed.

Engineers Score Plane Designers

BALTIMORE, May 15.—(AP.)—The "short-sighted policy of American designers" of failing to devote more attention to the control of airplanes at low speeds was attacked here before the aeronautics section of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. Loss of control at low altitudes resulting in the deadly spin was termed the most dangerous phase of aviation.

Sharon U. P. Church Names New Pastor

SHARON, Pa., May 15.—The Rev. Oscar T. Person, pastor of the United Presbyterian Church of Donora, has been named to become pastor of the First United Presbyterian Church of Sharon, to succeed the Rev. Dr. H. Harlan Macartney, who recently resigned to become pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of McKeesport.

Canadian Official Held in Rum Sale

BANGOR, Me., May 15.—(AP.)—Robert O'Shaughnessy, 67, a Canadian immigration officer, is in custody of federal authorities here, charged with illegal sale and possession of liquor.

O'Shaughnessy was arrested at Danforth after he was alleged to have sold a quart of liquor to Fay Graves, a federal prohibition agent. Graves and another agent said O'Shaughnessy was in full uniform.

Annual Dinner Held By Duquesne School

The Duquesne University School of Journalism held its second annual dinner at the Kilkeary Hotel last night, with the Rev. Dr. Michael J. Kelly, head of the school, presiding. Mrs. Gilbert J. Trageser, of 222 Morewood street, was hostess.

Guests included Dean Hugh Muldoon, of the School of Pharmacy; the Rev. James B. Parent, vice-dean of the School of Music, and Gilbert J. Trageser.

Seek to Identify Bridge Victim's Body

NEW CASTLE, Pa., May 15.—The body of an unknown man found Wednesday afternoon under the Pennsylvania Railroad Bridge at Hoytdale is being held at the Marshall Morgue, Wampum, for identification. He had been dead a short time when found. It is believed he fell from the bridge. It is said the victim lived as a hermit in the hills around Hoytdale.

Swissvale Plans Memorial Day Fete

Twenty-one civic and fraternal organizations will unite for the Memorial Day program in Swissvale the night of May 29, in the Swissvale High School program. Congressman Clyde Kelly will make the memorial address and there will be a program of music, including fife and drum corps numbers. The celebration is sponsored by the Daniel W. Brooks Post No. 63, of the American Legion.

RIGHT TO OUST CO-ED DENIED

HAMILTON, O., May 15.—(AP.)—State-supported universities are denied the right to expel students who fail to attain specified scholastic qualifications, in an opinion handed down here by Common Pleas Judge J. D. Barnes.

The ruling was in the case of Miss Jean West, Portsmouth, against Miami University, Oxford, O.

Recently the co-ed was dismissed from classes by Miami authorities because she failed in some studies and her father brought suit in her behalf, protesting the right of a state-supported school from dismissing any student who had paid entrance fees, regardless of the pupil's scholastic standing.

Judge Barnes held that Miami had no authority to drop Miss West from classes, but ruled that the institution could compel the co-ed to remain in the same grade until she mastered her work.

HERRICK BUST GIVEN PARIS

NEW YORK, May 15.—(AP.)—Carved from great wooden beams of the first White House at Washington, a bust of the late Myron T. Herrick, American ambassador to France, was presented to the City of Paris, at a banquet aboard the French liner Ile de France.

The bust was the gift of the American committee for the Paris International Exposition. It was presented last night by the committee chairman, George Harrison Phelps, to the French ambassador, Paul Claudel, in ceremonies broadcast over a national network.

The dinner was given by the French Chamber of Commerce in honor of 25 mayors of American cities who will act as envoys and take the bust to Paris, where it will be turned over to the municipal council.

RESERVE FUND FOR JOBS URGED

NEW YORK, May 15.—(AP.)—A plan whereby American employers would be required by law to set apart a reserve to care for unemployment was proposed after a survey of the unemployment situation conducted at Swarthmore College by two economists of the University of Chicago.

The plan is contained in the book, "The Problem of Unemployment," by Prof. Paul H. Douglas and Aaron Director.

The authors conclude that slightly more than 150,000 workers are protected from the risks of unemployment by trade union, employer and joint employment benefit plans—representing approximately one-half of 1 per cent of the gainfully employed wage earners and salaried workers in the United States.

McKeesport Firm In Receivers' Hands

On petition of Edwin Housaman, of McKeesport, stockholder of the John L. Thomas Drug Company, of McKeesport, John L. Thomas and Robert C. Sproul were appointed temporary receivers of the company by Judge W. Heber Dithrich in Common Pleas Court, with a hearing fixed for May 29. Their bond was fixed at $50,000. The petition averred that the company suffered losses by lack of business and that the company is unable to pay its bills.

Mining Congress Concludes Sessions

CINCINNATI, May 15.—(AP.)—Sessions devoted to developments in coal cleaning and fuel utilization marked the closing today of a five-day convention of the manufacturers' division of the American Mining Congress.

An optimistic outlook for business in general, but with particular reference to the coal industry, was seen by C. F. Richardson, of Sturgis, Ky.

MRS. CAROLINE IVANEK — MRS. LAURA KETCHAM

WAR MOTHERS ENTERTAINED

Three Pittsburgh World War mothers, among the 163 Pennsylvania women who will make a pilgrimage to the graves of their sons and husbands in France as the guests of the government during May, July and August, were honored at a luncheon given yesterday by the Pittsburgh chapter of the American War Mothers in McCreery's dining room. The luncheon was followed by a theater party.

They are Mrs. Caroline Ivanek, 331 Kearsarge street; Mrs. Mary Keivler, 2132 Holyoke street, and Mrs. Laura Ketcham, 313 Virginia avenue.

Mrs. Keivler and Mrs. Ketcham, members of the Pittsburgh chapter, will carry the chapter's flag to France. They will sail July 22.

SLAYER OF TWO GETS 50 YEARS

CHICAGO, May 15.—(AP.)—Fred W. Smith, unemployed machinist who ran wild with a pistol in a loop department store April 7, was convicted last night of the murder of Paul Townsend, 19, and sentenced to 50 years imprisonment.

The jury returned a verdict less than 13 hours after the trial started.

Smith shot Townsend to death when Townsend tried to capture him as he fled through the Marshall Field & Co. store following an attempted robbery on a nearby elevated railroad platform. In his flight, Smith also wounded Casimir Crazinski fatally and is accused of his murder.

Sacred Heart Church To Use New Carvings

A new sculptured wood crucifix and two new tall processional candelabra of carved wood will be used for the first time at services Sunday night in Sacred Heart Catholic Church. The crucifix and candelabra and hand-wrought lanterns, designed and executed exclusively for the church, are said by art critics to be among the finest things of their kind in the country.

They are the work of Frank Aretz, sculptor, and are gifts to the church from Mrs. William J. Barton, of 356 Stratford avenue. The crucifix and candelabra will be used in connection with the procession and crowning of the May Queen.

2 Men Sentenced In Attack Case

Joseph Yayo, serving nine months in jail for attempted embracery, following his conviction of having tried to approach a juror during his trial for attacking a young woman, has had one and one-half to five years added to his sentence by Visiting Judge J. O. Campbell, of Butler County, in the attack case.

Chester Parella, of Paragon street, convicted with Yayo in the attack case, but not involved in the embracery charge, was given six months to two years in the workhouse by Judge Campbell. Sentences had been deferred until the embracery case was tried.

Saves 20 Guests, Loses Own Life

CALEXICO, Cal., May 15.—(AP.)—After rousing 20 guests in a burning hotel here, enabling them to escape, George A. Morris, 65, re-entered the building in an attempt to save some papers and was burned to death.

DERBY SPECIAL CARRIES FANS

More than 125 Pittsburghers, including city, county and state officials, were en route to Louisville today for the Kentucky Derby, having left Pittsburgh last night on a special train. Twelve pullmans, two diners and an observation car made up the train which carried the racing fans from the city.

The train left the city at 6:30 o'clock. A number of the businessmen went to the train directly from their offices, meeting their friends on the train at dinner.

Among those who left last night were Judge James N. Drew, Judge Charles A. Copeland, former State Senator Max G. Leslie, State Senator Herman P. Brandt, Gene Sweeney, Sewickley postmaster; Alderman John J. Verona and his son, Daniel; Representative James P. Rooney and Chief George W. Murren, of the county Detective Bureau.

The first straw hat of the season made its appearance, being worn by Chester Zahn.

SAFETY PUPILS TO SEE SHOW

More than 2,000 pupils from public and parochial schools of the city will be guests of the Western Pennsylvania Safety Council tomorrow morning in the Davis Theater. The children, members of the Junior Safety Council patrols, will be entertained with movies, music and speeches. Hero medals will be presented to patrol members.

Frank L. Duggan, president of the Safety Council, will present the awards to 10 boys and girls. The speakers will be Dr. Ben G. Graham, superintendent of public schools; the Rev. Paul E. Campbell, superintendent of parochial schools; John S. Herron, president of city Council; Fire Chief Richard L. Smith and Ben R. Marshall, assistant superintendent of police.

Pipes Gas in Hose, Kills Self, Son, 10

NEW YORK, May 15.—(AP.)—Mrs. Theresa Artinger, wife of an apartment house superintendent in the Bronx, piped a flow of gas through a 50-foot garden hose from the kitchen range into her bedroom last night and asphyxiated herself and her 10-year-old son, Roy.

Convicted in Killing Railway Detective

Council Works At High Speed In Homestead

In one of the shortest meetings in its history, Homestead council met last night, awarded a $10,040 contract for the improvement of Twelfth avenue extension and adjourned—all in one minute and three seconds.

Trial in Dancer's Murder Set May 22

NEW YORK, May 15.—(AP.)—The trial of Rudolph Duringer, Ossining truckman, for the murder of Virginia Brannen, dance hall hostess, in the Bronx April 27, was set today for May 22.

Duringer's counsel argued for a two weeks' delay, but the district attorney's office entered vigorous objection and the court decided one week was sufficient for preparation of the case.

SAFETY PRIZES GIVEN DRIVERS

The third interstate drivers' contest was brought to a close at a rally in Memorial Hall last night when 27 safety awards for commercial vehicle fleets, and 3,000 no-accident certificates for drivers, were presented.

About 5,000 drivers for 124 commercial fleets witnessed the presentations, heard addresses by safety leaders, and saw the one-act tragedy-comedy, "Green Lights," presented by the Better Traffic Committee.

Marcus Dow, manager of the safety department of the Greyhound Lines, Cleveland, said that the contest had been responsible for a 10 per cent reduction in commercial vehicle accidents during the past year. The previous contest showed a reduction of 21.9 per cent as compared with the first, it was said.

Other speakers were Frank L. Duggan and Assistant Police Superintendent Ben R. Marshall. H. F. Webb, vice president of the Western Pennsylvania Public Safety Council, which co-operated with the Better Traffic Committee in sponsoring the contest, presided. Speakers were introduced by Walter Rosenbaum.

WOMEN UPHOLD PARTY CHIEFS

HARRISBURG, May 15.—(AP.)—The Pennsylvania Federation of Democratic Women, in a resolution, commended the Democratic National Committee for its "progressive business-like action in calling together the committee members for the consideration of vital problems concerning the American people." The federation also urged that the state and county committees in pre-primary conferences indorse the action of the national body.

In another resolution, the convention urged Democratic voters to oppose the nomination and election to the party executive committee of any person who failed to support the party candidates.

2 Children Hurt In Auto Tank Blast

SHENANDOAH, Pa., May 15.—(AP.)—Two Girardville children were seriously burned today while playing in an abandoned automobile when they dropped a match into the gasoline tank. The tank exploded and the children, Betty Demshock, 4, and Ralph Hadesty, 4, were burned about the face and arms.

JACKET ENSEMBLES

$16.50

Count on a Jacket to Double a Frock's Chic Usefulness

The shantung suit costume sketched comes in simply lyric color contrasts: maize, brown and bittersweet, for instance. The jacket is sleeveless, you golfers, the dress has its cap sleeve. The lovely "white" print on navy or black outdoes Mrs. Vionnet in fagoting a white top and deep white cuffs on to the dress of the silk suit. Many other daytime or evening fashions in this group.

JUNIOR-MISS SILK FROCKS

Make Much of Dots, Prints and Shantung

Can you believe that it is possible to get a shantung bolero suit for $7.95. The one sketched has spoke fagoting at the charming neckline. And speaking of the fashionable fagoting the printed model sketched has a solid yoke and sleeve of the fascinating stitch. Lots of dots on light grounds or pastels. Some delectable pastel crepes lavishly embroidered! Sizes 11 to 17.

All In A Day

By Mark Hellinger

People I've Met

NEW YORK, May 15.

WILLIAM J. FALLON. He died four years ago this month. I don't suppose many people remembered the anniversary of his death. Come to think of it, why should they? Four years is a long time to remember anything. If they remember you for four days in this town, you've done a pretty good job.

Bill Fallon was a lawyer—and one of the greatest, I think, that ever lived. Handsome, he toyed with witnesses and juries as though they were made of putty. Had he so desired he could have been a great political factor in the state and nation. He did not so desire. And a tremendous talent was turned into nothing more than a strange history of wasted opportunity.

Born in Westchester County Fallon studied law and became an assistant district attorney shortly after his graduation. His ability was soon recognized. He was little more than a kid when he was trying and winning cases against shrewd veterans of the bar. And not by any unusual legal knowledge either. His personality was strong enough to sway any jury.

For some reason that I have never been able to determine, Bill Fallon suddenly switched to the other side of the fence. He resigned his position and became a crooks' attorney. He hit the Broadway trail. By day, he tried cases that seemed unbeatable and won them. By night, he tackled different types of cases in the cabaret belt. Those were the cases that eventually beat him.

The man's stamina was astounding. He never seemed to require sleep. I saw him drink through the night on one occasion in the cheapest kind of a Broadway dive. At 8 o'clock in the morning, he seemed to be on the verge of passing out. At 9 o'clock, he called for two cups of black coffee. At 11 o'clock, he was trying a case in brilliant fashion in Supreme Court. At 4 o'clock he had won it—and went out to celebrate!

Women? Sure. What did you expect? He had a wife and two sweet kids—but he kept them pretty much in the background. Many men preached to him. But Bill merely gave them back that grand smile. It was his life, he said, and he was living it as he wished.

Yes, the women went for Bill in a big way. It was Fannie Brice, I think, who said: "His eyes are just like the wood violets with the dew upon them." Slushy? Of course, it was. But that's the way they felt about Bill.

Fallon had tried many cases which won him front page recognition in newspapers all over the country. But it was in 1924—if my memory doesn't fail me—that the attorney rose to his greatest heights. He was charged with bribing a juror, and his opponents were determined to get him this time. They were positive they had the goods on him and felt certain he could never wriggle out of the mess.

Bill defended himself and his work was a thing of beauty. There wasn't one man in a thousand who didn't think Bill was guilty of the charge. But Broadway admired him so much that the betting was even money he'd win his case. And win it he did.

The night he was acquitted was the biggest night of his career. Crowds milled about him and cheered him to the echo. They slapped him on the back and told him he was the greatest man that ever lived. His Broadway pals pumped his hand until it ached. And why not? He was still a young man—and the highway of his future was paved with pretty coins.

For some months after that acquittal, Fallon basked in the sunshine of success. But soon it was the same old story. Hitting the high spots once again. Too much liquor. His promise to settle down was forgotten. In order to get ready cash, he took cases he never should have handled. The result was inevitable.

When Bill was taken seriously ill soon after, the Broadwayites shook their heads. I remember one man speaking to me about him in a restaurant. This chap was one of those who cheered Bill the loudest when Fallon was throwing parties.

"Guess Bill is done for," he told me. "Well, that's the way they all go. Hitting the booze too heavy, you know, and all that. I always thought he was a little overrated."

Fallon lingered on about a year and a half. He died suddenly at the age of 41. He passed from the picture at an age when most attorneys are just coming into prominence. His will told another sad story. All he left was $500.

A great character, William J. Fallon. He was only too willing to trade the promise of the future for the pleasure of the moment. His life was nothing more than a brilliant promise wasted.

And yet, if he had the choice I think he'd do the very same thing all over again. He was that kind of a guy . . .

* * *

JIMMY DURANTE. Member of the team of Clayton, Jackson and Durante. Probably the nuttiest comedian Broadway has ever known. Starting from nowhere, Durante has been making a fortune out of insanity. That's more than a great many columnists can say.

After some 10 years, the team is now breaking up. Durante goes to California by his lonesome and will be featured in pictures. If they give him half a chance, he will be the most popular comic in the film game within two years.

Durante has always been the very personification of Broadway. Starting with Clayton and Jackson in the Club Durante, which was little more than a hole in a wall, Jimmy was always an actor's comic. He appealed to the wise guy and could make the grafter and the gunman howl with laughter. These men raved about him. But strangely enough, they were the very ones who were most dubious of his great success.

I remember talking about him to one of the very wise boys one night. I said Durante would be a great star some day. The wise bird gave me the laugh.

"Durante is one of those guys who's only good for the mob," he explained. "He's rough for the outsider. He hasn't got the class. Can you imagine him singing at a society party? Say, they wouldn't know what he was chirping about."

As usual, the wise men were wrong. Each year brought Jimmy additional success; each engagement won him new friends. Today the biggest social lights are daily about his work. And the more insane he becomes the better they seem to like it.

Now Hollywood claims him from Broadway. In some spots he has been criticized for leaving the two men who were with him from the start. The criticism is unfair. I don't blame Jimmy for seizing the greatest opportunity of his career. And I know that Clayton and Jackson would like nothing better than to see Jimmy come through as a great picture star.

Out in Hollywood Durante will miss his partners very, very much. There's one thing, however, that he'll miss even more. And that's Broadway . . .

Two Plead Guilty In Hermit Killing

MARIETTA, O., May 15.—(AP.)—Clay Sims and Waldo Tippins, both of Paden City, W. Va., two of three men indicted in the killing of John Conrad, 76-year-old hermit, while engaged in robbing his dwelling several months ago, pleaded guilty to first-degree murder charges. Judge David H. Thomas took the pleas under advisement. The robbers were believed to have obtained more than $6,000 in currency from Conrad.

Mrs. Hoover Places Stone in Cathedral

WASHINGTON, May 15.—(INS.)—Mrs. Hoover placed the first stone in the north porch of the Washington Cathedral, which is to be added to the edifice on Mt. St. Albans as the gift of American women. She is honorary chairman of the national women's committee for the cathedral. The ceremony was conducted under the auspices of the Rt. Rev. James E. Freeman, bishop of Washington.

JOB FUND DRIVE NET $1,281,742

The campaign of the Allegheny County Emergency Association came to an end officially yesterday with a total of $1,281,742.33 in subscriptions reported. Workers in the drive reported for the last time yesterday on their efforts since the meeting May 7. The amount raised since the last meeting was $49,019.70.

Although meetings have ended, some of the solicitors plan to continue working on many prospects. Their reports will be made to W. F. Maxwell, executive secretary of the campaign. The only speaker yesterday was Arthur E. Braun, chairman of the association, who outlined efforts being made to develop a long-range plan for unemployment stabilization here.

HAWES TO QUIT, REED URGED

WASHINGTON, May 15. — (INS.)—The figure of former Senator James A. Reed, the white-haired Missouri Democrat, appeared upon the national political horizon today with the decision of Senator Harry B. Hawes to retire from the Senate at the end of his present term.

A host of Fighting Jim's friends have launched a movement to draft him to run for Hawes' toga in 1932. If this move succeeds, Reed will have the earnest support of his Democratic colleagues on Capitol Hill, who have sorely missed his leadership, courage and eloquence since he went into retirement two years ago.

Titled U. S. Guest Admits Trips to Speakeasies

LONDON, May 15.—(AP.)—When in New York, says the Earl of Beauchamp, chancellor of the University of London, do as the English do in London. He said:

"It's perfectly true I went to a speakeasy several times, I saw nothing wrong in it. I was doing what every self-respecting Englishman who likes to drink now and again was doing every day."

The same admission by the Earl in an address at a commencement dinner of the university the other evening has caused a flutter of comment in conservative circles.

SLUMP PERILS ACCORD-BRIAND

GENEVA, May 15.—(AP.)—Economic depression is the most serious threat to European accord, Aristide Briand, French foreign minister, declared today at the opening session of the commission to study his project for a Pan-European Federation.

The crisis is especially serious in the agricultural countries of Southeastern Europe, he said, and to those countries the commission will try to give prompt relief both by preferential rates on cereals and by long-term agricultural credits.

The commission will discuss the "urgently important" Austro-German proposals for a customs union, he said, when the matter is presented by Julius Curtius, Germany's foreign minister.

HOOVER LAUDS CANAL SURVEY

WASHINGTON, May 15.—(AP.)—Gratification over the survey by army engineers of a proposed Nicaraguan canal was expressed yesterday by President Hoover in a letter to Gen. MacArthur, chief of staff.

The survey recently was completed and the army engineers ordered back to the United States. Their recommendations have not been drawn up. The President wrote:

"I am much gratified with the conduct of the survey of the route for an interoceanic canal across Nicaragua, which the army engineer battalion is bringing to a successful conclusion.

"For a year and a half the officers and enlisted men of the battalion have toiled in the tropical jungle in the accomplishment of this task.

"Their work has been done, not for financial reward, but in willing and faithful performance of duty."

VARE ATTORNEY GETS U. S. POST

WASHINGTON, May 15.—(AP.)—The attorney for the Republican City Committee of Philadelphia, Edward W. Wells, yesterday became United States attorney for the Eastern Pennsylvania Judicial District.

President Hoover gave a recess appointment to Wells, whose selection was sponsored by William S. Vare, head of the Philadelphia Republican organization. The appointment culminated two years of effort on the part of Vare and the organization to have named a man of the organization's choice.

Wells' appointment will have to be renewed at the convening of the next Congress in order to be confirmed by the Senate.

State Legion Sets Membership Record

PHILADELPHIA, May 15. — (INS.)—State Commander Charles I. Engard announced today that the Pennsylvania department of the American Legion has enrolled more members this year than ever before. He asserted that he expected the membership would reach 75,000 before the next convention in August at Easton.

Duquesne Graduate Named Principal

SHARON, Pa., May 15.—Samuel G. McCullough, supervising principal of West Middlesex schools, has resigned to become principal of the high and grade school at Eastbrook, near New Castle. He will be succeeded by Peter Collodi, boys' basketball coach, who is a graduate of Butler High and Duquesne University.

Ohio Woman, 67, Harrison Kin, Dies

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, O., May 15. —Services will be held Friday for Mrs. Laura Harrison Dickey, 67, second cousin of President Benjamin Harrison, who died Wednesday of a stroke. Mrs. Dickey succumbed in her home, the former residence of Wilson Shannon, first native born governor of Ohio.

DuBois Men Held As Bandits Suspects

PRAISES WORK OF DESIGNERS AS AVIATOR

Field Meets All Requirements Of Up-to-Date Terminal, Noted Ocean Flier Says

Allegheny County's $2,500,000 airport meets all the requirements of the future up-to-date flying terminal, declared Clarence Chamberlin, trans-Atlantic pilot, following a tour of inspection with County Airport Manager Carl W. Forcier yesterday.

Chamberlin, here for a short visit, said he had watched the development of the county port with interest, flying over it at intervals in the course of his travels.

His visit with Forcier yesterday was the first time he had viewed the project from the ground. He said:

"I am amazed at the remarkable job your engineers have conceived. They have taken practically every flying problem into consideration and they are to be congratulated."

The field, Chamberlin continued, is particularly adaptable to radio-controlled blind flying. The pilot, he said, can fly directly onto the field without maneuvering about in thick weather, and it is only a problem of a few years before passenger and express schedules will be kept intact regardless of weather conditions.

READY BY FALL

Chamberlin likened the Allegheny County development to the Floyd Bennett Airport in New York, which has been under construction for three years. He said:

The port will be ready for flying some time this summer or early fall, according to county officials.

42 ALIENS BEGIN DEPORTATION JOURNEY

Large Party Leaves City Under U. S. Escort; Ohio Family Goes Voluntarily

The largest deportation party of aliens ever sent from Pittsburgh was placed aboard a train last night at the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Station, to be delivered today to immigration officials at Ellis Island, New York. Later they will be placed aboard steamships and taken to their native countries.

The party of 42 persons was conducted East by inspectors operating under W. H. Marshall, director of immigration in the Pittsburgh district. In the party were 38 aliens being deported because of illegal entries into the United States and other offenses under the immigration law. The other four members of the party were John Watson, 39, his wife and two children, James, 6, and Wilfred, 4, being returned to England.

ASKED TO BE DEPORTED

The Watson family are voluntary deportees under the "distress" feature of the immigration regulations. The family, which has been residing in Steubenville, O., came to this country two years ago. Watson is a miner, but was unable to obtain employment and his desire to be returned to England was reported to Director Marshall by the Social Service Union of Steubenville. It was the first case of its kind ever handled in this district.

Among the other aliens were 27 Arabians who had entered this country by deserting steamships on which they had served as seamen. They were arrested by immigration inspectors in Weirton, Aliquippa and Conway, where they had been working in steel mills.

The others to be deported are three Greeks, one Italian, one Spaniard, two Jugo-Slavs, two Czechoslovakians and two Mexicans.

CORONER FREES BOY PENDING INQUEST

Death Held as Warning Against Collection, Sale Of Obsolete Firearms

James Murphy, 15, of 204 Ulysses street, was released on his own recognizance today by Coroner W. J. McGregor pending the inquest into the death of his chum, William Kinley, Jr., 16, of 137 Amabell street, Mt. Washington. Kinley was the victim of an "empty" revolver, dying on the way to the South Side Hospital.

Coroner McGregor issued a statement following the release of Murphy in which he said the boy's death should be a warning against youths playing with odd collections of guns and the manufacture and sale of pistols made after the style of ordinary cap pistols. He said:

"In the death of William Kinley, investigation shows the deceased had a small collection of guns among which were two pistols from which the ordinary .22 caliber bullet could be fired. One of these, the fatal gun, was an obsolete single shot pistol; the other, a single shot gun of the appearance of the ordinary cap pistol on sale at many places.

"This death should be a warning to guard against youths having and playing with odd collections of guns and also cause the discontinuing of the manufacture and sale of pistols made after the style of the ordinary cap pistols."

ENGINEERS SIFT CITY METHODS

The investigation of technical procedure in the city Public Works Department, for which Council appropriated $5,000, was under way today following the opening session yesterday in which the five engineers selected by the Engineers' Society of Western Pennsylvania, C. M. Reppert, chief city engineer, and Henry Oliver Evans took part.

The Works Department's attitude on methods now in use was discussed by Reppert and members of the committee and Evans submitted a summary of his own charges of inefficiency.

Samuel A. Taylor is chairman of the committee, which is made up of J. N. Chester, E. K. Morse, A. G. Butler and C. S. Davis, all of whom are actively engaged in engineering here.

McKeesport Man Cut, Another Held

BIGAMY CHARGE WINS DIVORCE

Gordon Grabensteder, 31, of Ohio, married Vera Thomas, 26, of 100 Regan avenue, Brentwood, August 17, 1929, lived at her parents' home until December 1, 1929, when his first wife appeared and took him away with her.

This testimony won the second Mrs. Grabensteder a divorce in Common Pleas Court, granted by Judge James H. Gray. She declared the first wife came to her and told her no divorce had been granted, which was then admitted by Grabensteder.

Mother-in-law interference disrupted the marriage of Victor S. Ernst, of 147 Chesterfield road, and Clara B. Ernst, Dimling place, Oakland, according to his divorce suit.

He said her mother persuaded his wife to make unreasonable demands for money, that Mrs. Ernst refused to go out with him unless her mother accompanied them, and refused to go to live with him in a house he rented in Beechview unless her mother moved with them. They were married in June, 1924.

Coal Firm School Certificates Awarded

Certificates were awarded last night to members of the Pittsburgh Coal Company foreman training school and shop engineering school being conducted at Crescent, Banning, Midland, Montour and Blythedale. The awarding of the certificates took place last night in the Monongahela High School.

W. R. Young, of Pennsylvania State College, awarded the certificates. C. A. McDowell, safety and personnel manager; L. E. Young, production vice president, and R. Z. Virgin, safety supervisor, spoke.

2 WIN AWARDS IN U. S. COURT

The Revere Sugar Refining Company, of Suffolk, Mass., was awarded a verdict for $93,799.37 by a Federal Court jury against Jacob and Benjamin Marcus, trading as Marcus Brothers, of Pittsburgh, wholesale grocers. The action was brought to recover on a contract between the plaintiff concern and Marcus Brothers, involving the purchase of 3,420 barrels of refined sugar by the Pittsburgh company.

Another jury, on binding instructions, awarded Mrs. Claire J. DeRoy, widow of Abe J. DeRoy, $1,438.56 in an action she brought against the New York Life Insurance Company, of New York. She had brought suit to recover $20,000 on two insurance policies that had been issued to her husband. Counsel for the insurance company claimed DeRoy, who died June 18, 1929, had fraudulently misrepresented facts relative to his health, in obtaining the policies. The award was the amount paid in premiums by DeRoy and interest on the money.

Drys Seize Still, Mash, Hold Suspect

Edward Paul, 24, of 218 Montville street, was arrested, prohibition agents reported, following the seizure of a 75-gallon still in his home yesterday. Besides the still, 17 barrels of mash were found and destroyed.

Man Faces Charge Of Breaking Glass

Warren Schaffer, 27, of 3233 Eastmont avenue, Dormont, was arrested early today after he broke a display case in front of 540 Smithfield street, according to a police report. Patrolman Clurg Shelton, assigned to the beat there, heard the crash of glass, he said, and reached the place in time to catch Schaffer.

P. C. W. to Unveil Tablet to Scientists

Two stone tablets, engraved with the names of 28 of America's outstanding scientists, will be unveiled at the Pennsylvania College for Women Tuesday night. The men honored were chosen by a poll of 902 of the nation's leading scientists.

Bad Check Suspect Brought From N. Y.

Lieut. Frank Ferris arrived here early today with Lawrence Cunningham, 31, of New York, arrested there for Pittsburgh authorities on a bad check charge, police said. He was to be arraigned today in Central Police Court.

MOTOR LIGHT DRIVE PUSHED

An average of a dozen motorists are being arrested nightly, or are receiving warning cards, in violations of the state motor code regarding headlights as the result of a campaign conducted by the State Highway Patrol, it was reported today by the Perrysville station.

Motorists with improperly focused lights are issued cards which must be presented at an official station, for light adjustment, and the card returned within a specified time, or face arrest, officials said. Drivers of machines bearing but one headlight will be arrested, it was said.

Jennifer Says She Will Try to Imbibe Some Of Gerkes' Wisdom

By Fannie Hurst

(This famous story has been made into a talking picture by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer with Marion Davies in the leading role.)

CHAPTER VIII.

"I hope you are finding your quarters comfortable, Dr. Gerkes," said Jenny from the head of her table, where they sat sparsely grouped, because it could have accommodated four times their number. The secret of the icy grace with which Jenny presided at her table, Jennifer was fond of declaring, was that her mother never permitted her head to touch the back of her tall chair, or her hand to lie along its arms.

"Very comfortable, thank you," said Gerkes, who was interested in his portion of slim frizzled smelts. "It's a pleasant room."

"You've a couple—of them, Gerkes, or is it three? Don't guess you've had time to check up."

"Well now, Rarick, I haven't," said Gerkes without embarrassment. "There's another room leads off, I take it."

"No, old dear, you don't take it," said Jennifer, popping an almond into her mouth and grinning, "you apparently leave it."

"I'm pretty much of an Eskimo," he said. "They live in bare rooms and keep stacked such furniture as they need, outside their houses, until a piece is called in for use. Simplifies."

"Dr. Gerkes has lived up there a lot among them, Jenny. He also spent two years in Lapland studying."

Becomes Loquacious

"You don't say so," said Jenny, regarding him over a smelt poised on the end of her fork. "Wasn't it somebody or other said of the French that no race which eats little escargots, suffocated in their shells, can ever achieve civilization? Well, that's the way I feel about Eskimos and blubber. Fancy being the kind of person that can drink it!"

"One must fancy it; because they don't."

"Don't what?"

"But I always thought——"

"No, my dear lady, you never thought, or you wouldn't be of the opinion that Eskimos drink blubber."

"Why, don't they?"

"Why — er — obviously —I can't."

"Well, for that same obvious anatomical reason, the Eskimo, who, strange as it may seem, is constructed just as you are, could not drink quantities of oil, either, and keep it down. Sorry to have to seem to be concrete."

"You are smart, aren't you?" said Jennifer, and propped her elbows on the table and her chin in her palm, and regarded his lusterless figure across the table. "Now tell me how they put ships in bottles, and who wrote 'Titus Andronicus.'"

"The best way to make a ship in a bottle is to begin working from the inside of the bottle, outward. Glycon is the reputed inventor of a kind of logaoedic verse. Bivalves have snouts. Biology, around the time of the Council of Trent, insisted that the vein of the fourth finger of a fiance's hand led to the heart. Does that square me scholastically with your daughter, Rarick?" said Gerkes, irritated or stimulated to a point of loquacity that took his breath away.

"I think it must be wonderful," said Jennifer, widening her eyes at him, "to be wise enough to play dumb. I'm always trying to be not too dumb to play wise. It can't be got away with."

"Yes, and I would have gone to college, Doctor, but I would have been sure to fall in love with all my professors under forty, and it would have been so complicated.

Gerkes told a non-too-chaste tale then from the Cent Nouvelles, about a lady and a certain three lovers.

"He's a nasty old roue," said Jenny to herself, although she had rocked with laughter through far more pointless tales when her table blazed with friends of her own choosing.

"By the way, Rarick, there's an idea behind the story I just told that ought to interest you. Louis Sixteenth, to whom the authorship is attributed, goes on to relate that this lady while bathing lost her diamond ring. While diamonds were undoubtedly not common at this time, it proves, however, that the stones which Henley picked up for you at Bruges could easily date back to at least 1460."

"By Jove! So it could! It also proves that they faceted their stones back in those days, too, now doesn't it? That's a mighty interesting point. That's what I mean, Jennifer, by the historical value of inanimate things."

What Has Gone Before

John G. Rarick has made millions as a chain store operator. His wife, Jenny, shortly after their marriage, lent him $2,500, all she had, when he was near failure, and out of this money he built riches. Jenny plans the social education of their children, Jennifer and Avery. Her goading results in Rarick's agreeing to go East and to buy a magnificent home, but, secretly, he finds himself hating her. This is accentuated by his own temperamental inability to get close to his children. All their appeals to him are made through their mother. Rarick meets an odd genius, Dr. Felix Gerkes, an authority on art and gems, and installs him in his house. Jenny objects to his presence and a bitter scene follows in which Rarick delivers the ultimatum that Gerkes remains. He sends for Jennifer and compels her to cancel a dinner engagement to dine with Gerkes. Jennifer tells her father she almost hates him, but she has to give in.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., May 15.

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

Yesterday ought to have been a day of consolation to folks that have made bad investments. Here, George F. Baker, who was supposed to have not less than a half billion, winds up with one-eighth of that. And he was supposed to be the smartest financial man we had. The thing busted right in his face. So what chance did anybody else have? I tell you, and I believe it as strong as I ever believed anything in my life, Calvin Coolidge was the only man in America that saw this whole thing coming, and got from under. He just says to himself—"Folks have bought everything in the world, for a dollar down, under me. Now let 'em pay for 'em under Herbert. I will see you again when things pick up. So long." Name me another man in America that saw it coming unless it was Al Capone. I hate to class a fine upstanding citizen like Mr. Coolidge with Capone, but facts is facts, and Cal and Al are the only two out of 120,000,000.

Will Rogers

Yours,

WILL.

New Boat Gets First City Cargo for Atlantic Port

Pittsburgh's first cargo to be transported to an Atlantic Ocean port in a freight vessel made in the Pittsburgh district will leave the Ohio River Transportation Company's float at the Water street wharf at 5 p. m. today, bound for Baltimore and cities along the Ohio and Mississippi Rivers.

One hundred and fifty tons of Heinz products are being loaded today on the bay-type, twin-screw freighter Red Star, just completed at Midland, Pa., for the Victor Lynn Transportation Company of Maryland. This is the first boat to sail from Pittsburgh for Baltimore, a distance of 4,500 miles, according to its builders. It will be used in bay traffic between Baltimore and Salisbury, Md.

The vessel, powered by twin Deisel engines and capable of a speed of 15½ miles an hour, will make her maiden voyage in approximately 30 days, according to the captain, Mason Webster, of Salisbury, Md.

Need Cash? $1,000 Awaits Readers in New Game

Yet there are opportunities for getting real cash if the "go get it" spirit is employed.

Of course everyone asks the question "How?" The Sun-Telegraph has developed a plan by which the "streets" of Pittsburgh will yield to the readers of this newspaper $1,000.00. All they have to do is "go get it."

This unique plan is open to everyone—young and old—no matter where they live. Watch the streets of Pittsburgh—"Thar's gold in them." And aside from the yield of cash the new plan will afford a fascinating pastime—something from which every man and woman, boy and girl, will get a thrill. If you miss the Sunday Sun-Telegraph, you'll miss all the details about this unique distribution of cash. You'll also miss the opportunity of a lifetime—just at a time when real cash is more needed than any other.

STATE ACT BELIEVED NEEDED TO SOLVE POLL TAX TANGLE

50-CENT LEVY UPSETS COUNTY FIGURES

Legal Experts May be Called To Determine Borrowing Power Under New Law

Additional legislation may be needed to stabilize Allegheny County's valuation figures as a result of the enactment of the 50-cent poll tax law. Heretofore approximately half a million people were assessed under a graduated occupation tax.

If the new poll tax bill wipes out the occupational tax, it was pointed out, some other legislation will be needed to restore what was lost in assessment value as the bonding power has been lessened.

County officials had determined that this year the graded tax law added $141,000,000 to the assessed valuation of the county. The 50-cent tax law is supposed to void that valuation.

Legal experts may be called upon to determine whether the county would be entitled to add to the total assessed valuation the value of the persons assessed for the 50-cent poll tax.

The $141,000,000 valuation was based on 487,840 residents assessed only for occupational tax and about 25,000 residents whose occupation tax was in their total levy, including property tax.

$812,748 REVENUE

Last year's records show that the occupational tax was paid by only about 31,000 of the 487,840 assessed for that tax alone. It was estimated that about 80 per cent of the occupation tax included in the property tax was paid.

Supporters of the new law claim that the 50-cent tax will invite payment from enough of those that declined in the past to meet their obligations, to make the total revenue equal, if not increase, that of former years.

Previous assessed valuation based on occupation ranged from $100 for housewives to $1,000 for presidents and treasurers of banks and corporations, attorneys, architects, publishers, manufacturers, doctors and others. The individual tax ranged from 84 cents to $8.39.

In between laborers were assessed $1.69; retail merchants, $2.51; clerks, $2.93; salesmen, $3.77; clergymen, $3.35; building mechanics, $5.86. All of these will now be assessed 50 cents.

BORROWING POWER

The county's assessed valuation totals $2,600,000,000. County commissioners are allowed, by law, to borrow up to 2 per cent of that valuation on their own authority. An additional 7 per cent may be borrowed on the authority of the people expressed at a bond issue election.

Deducting all outstanding bonded indebtedness and eliminating the assessed valuation based on occupational taxes, the county's borrowing power today is $12,000,000 under the commissioners' discretion and $70,000,000, subject to the voters' will, according to the county's Bureau of Accounts.

GUNBOAT SEEKS SANDINO ARMS

MANAGUA, May 15.—(Universal.)—With new bandit outbursts threatened, guardia troops were rushed to the interior and northern coastal towns by plane early today to reinforce garrisons.

From Purta Cabezas the gunboat Asheville steamed hurriedly out of the harbor on a secret search for a Scandinavian tramp steamer, said to be en route to a Sandino rendezvous near Bluefields with a load of arms and ammunition for the bandits.

Movements of the Asheville, it was reported, were guarded with the strictest secrecy, but it was learned authentically that radios from Washington had told of the departure of a Norwegian vessel from the gulf port last night. This ship, it was stated, was bound for a secluded river in the vicinity of Bluefields, where it is to contact the Sandino band and deliver a considerable quantity of ammunition, machine guns and rifles.

HOLD INTERVIEW BY TELEVISION

LONDON, May 15.—(INS.)—The first "television interview" was an accomplished fact here today.

Mrs. Snowden, wife of the Chancellor of the Exchequer, who is ill, stood in her room at 11 Downing street and permitted herself to be interviewed by the Daily Herald. An ordinary television set was attached to telephone lines and there was no difficulty in bridging the mile of space between the Herald office and Downing street.

Mrs. Snowden told the television interviewer that she did not believe the illness the Chancellor is suffering from would prove serious.

MOSES FACING BATTLE

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS
Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, May 15 — Rumblings of discontent between Old Guard and Progressive elements of the Republican representation in Congress, which for some months have threatened to give Democrats organization control of both houses at the forthcoming December session, were enlivened today by reports that Insurgent members are laying plans for disciplining Senator Moses, of New Hampshire.

The New Hampshire senator, one of the leading luminaries of the Old Guard group, is slated for disciplinary action at the hands of Progressive members of his party because of his now famous characterization of Republican Insurgents as "sons of the wild jackass."

Moses is now president pro-tem of the Senate, an office of dignity and prestige which he finds pleasing. If plans now being agitated by some of the Insurgents carry through, he will find a concerted move initiated to block his re-election, something that Progressives would be easily able to accomplish either by casting their lot with the Democrats or even declining to vote in the balloting over his successor.

Mine Imprisonment Leaders Arrested

TOKIO, May 15.—(AP.)—Twenty leaders of 200 miners who locked themselves in a pit of the Takao coal mine in Fukuoka Prefecture Tuesday, and refused to work as a gesture of sympathy for 600 miners on strike in a nearby mine, were arrested when they came to the surface today.

Police charged the 20 with being responsible for the illegal confinement of the others, contending the leaders kept the men under ground by force.

MAN GETS TERM FOR AUTO CRASH

Samuel Gray, 45, real estate dealer, of 3139 Annapolis drive, Dormont, was sentenced to one and one-half to three years in the workhouse today when he pleaded guilty before Judge George V. Moore to two charges of aggravated assault and battery and driving an automobile while intoxicated.

The charges resulted from an accident September 21, when Gray is alleged to have driven his machine into another car parked in Bigelow boulevard, John Roeder, of 1706 LaPorte street, and Charles Mills, of 7151 Verona boulevard, were injured.

In sentencing Gray, Judge Moore said:

"The human havoc wrought was so sweeping that I'll have to impose a severe sentence."

LAUNDRYMEN TO END MEET

The Pennsylvania Laundryowners Association, in session for its twenty-fourth annual state convention at Schenley Hotel, today will elect officers for the ensuing year.

Speakers at the closing sessions today included Charles H. Emmerling, of Pittsburgh; F. P. O'Crowley, of Wilmington, N. C.; Mrs. Pauline Beery Mack, of State College; J. H. Horst, of Baltimore, and W. B. Haggerty. At the banquet tonight, State Senator W. D. Mansfield will be the principal speaker.

California Recalls Gas Execution Bill

SACRAMENTO, Cal., May 15.—(INS.)—The Assembly voted yesterday to reconsider the vote by which a bill substituting lethal gas for hanging as a means of capital punishment in California was passed.

Deficit Averted By Collectors Of Stamps

WASHINGTON, May 15.—(AP.)—The stamp collectors save one branch of the Postoffice Department from recording a deficit.

In announcing a clearance auction sale of coins, stamps and first-flight covers for May 21, it was pointed out at the Postoffice Department that the philatelic division, unlike the department generally, has always shown a profit.

PLAIN HIGHWAY SIGNS SOUGHT

The Pittsburgh Motor Club has ordered its highway safety committee to determine if rural highway warning signs in the state are visible at night with properly adjusted headlights. Complaints have been received that warning signs are erected so high above the road that they are out of the range of legal headlights.

The committee also will investigate the possibility of using symbols instead of words on signs indicating curves, intersections and railroad crossings. Robert L. Wickline, chairman of the committee, has recommended that the city public works department be asked to resurface wood block pavements on Penn avenue, Seventh avenue and other streets.

Man Hurt by Truck In Downtown Street

James Hunter, 36, no home, was taken to Allegheny General Hospital today after being struck by a truck at Liberty avenue and William Penn way. Doctors said he suffered a double fracture of the skull, cuts and bruises. The truck driver, A. K. Brown, 19, of 2952 Zephyr avenue, was arrested.

GIRL, 4, KILLED BY AUTO

Anna Cocivera, 4, of 927 Western avenue, was dead today, the victim of an automobile which struck her in front of her home. She died in Allegheny General Hospital several hours later of a fracture of the skull.

Elizabeth Van Tatten, 26, of 1 Amanda avenue, Knoxville, a passenger, police say, in a machine driven by Cyril Leifer, 29, Pittsburgh, suffered lacerations when Leifer's car collided with that of Paul Beattie, 21, of Clairton, last night at the McKeesport - Duquesne junction. Mike Ondrike, of Clairton, a passenger in Beattie's car, suffered a broken right knee.

William Fillmore, 52, of 836 North Lincoln avenue, is in the Allegheny General Hospital, his right leg broken when he was struck by a machine driven by Hugh Fetzger, 25, of 210 Chestnut street, at Irwin and North Lincoln avenues.

WED FOR BONUS, VET CHARGE

Sam Szarzski, 38, of the Friendly Inn, Forbes street, defending himself on a bigamy charge preferred in Center Avenue Police Court by his bride of three weeks, said:

"She married me for my soldier bonus money. When that went, I went, too."

Szarzski testified he had told his wife, Catherine, 30, of 1928 Fifth avenue, that he had a wife and child living in England and has a divorce action pending.

Rothenberg held the husband for court.

Operating Rooms In Dead Black Proposed

CHICAGO, May 15.—(AP.)—All-black operating rooms, designed to reduce glare and aid visual precision in surgical operations, were advocated last night by Dr. A. R. Bacon, of Chicago.

Speaking before a branch of the Chicago Medical Society, Dr. Bacon, who recently returned from Russia, said he had seen an operating room of that type there.

The walls, floors, ceiling and all equipment lending itself to coloring, were dead black, he said. Garments of the surgeon and his assistants were of the same color.

Arrange Eye Tests For Children Here

HARRISBURG, May 15.—(AP.)—The state Council for Blind announced it had completed arrangements for inspection of the eyes of all children in Pittsburgh who will enter school next year.

Ten examining units of three persons each will make the tests.

GRAPE PRODUCT BANNED HERE

The executive committee of the Western Pennsylvania Retail Druggists Association has gone on record against the sale of grape concentrate in drug stores.

Given a little attention and time to "age," the concentrate becomes a drink of pre-prohibition alcoholic content.

Ross M. Davis, secretary of the association, said the fluid is not being sold in Pittsburgh stores.

Earlier in the week, members of the District of Columbia Retail Druggists Association passed a resolution "deeming it advisable that the article not be sold in district drug stores."

Plans have been completed for a community supper in the Glenshaw Presbyterian Church tomorrow evening.

M'KEES ROCKS CUTS SALARIES OF TEACHERS

Board Points to Economy of $5,400 by Pay Reductions And Elimination of Jobs

A saving of $5,400 on the $185,000 payroll of the McKees Rocks schools was effected by the borough school board at a meeting last night, according to A. D. Levy, secretary of the board.

Teachers' salaries were cut, two positions were eliminated and new instructors were hired at lower salaries by the board to make the saving possible.

CITIZENS PROTEST

A committee representing more than 500 citizens of the borough appeared before the board at its meeting last week and protested any move to increase the school millage. The delegation was informed at that time, Henry Haupt, chairman of the board, said, that plans to reduce the schools' operations cost had already been arranged and would be completed last night.

The deficit of $40,000 in school accounts, occasioned by nonpayment of taxes, will be met by a loan of $50,000 to cover May and and June payrolls, it was said.

Fourteen high school teachers and seven grade school teachers will be affected by the cut which reduces salaries to $140 a month, it was said. Two positions were eliminated in the grade schools. Replacements included six grade school teachers at a minimum salary of $1,000 annually; two high school teachers, at the $1,200 minimum, and a bandmaster and orchestra instructor, $1,400.

16 SALARIES CUT

Salaries of 16 teachers were increased $10 monthly, in compliance with the state school code. The ability to cut the pay of others was attributed to the fact that these salaries had been started from $10 to $20 a month above the minimum permitted.

Positions eliminated accounted for a saving of $2,000 annually, it was said. Savings by replacements totaled $2,900, and by reductions, $2,100. This total saving of $7,000 was reduced by $1,600 through the compulsory increase, making the saving $5,400, it was said.

MOVE TO SAVE HARMONY LINE

Plans for an organization to protest the possible abandonment of the Pittsburgh, Harmony, Butler and New Castle Railway, the Harmony line, which is still in operation, were discussed last night at a meeting of citizens along the route from Pittsburgh to Evans City. The meeting was held in the Brush Creek school, Warrendale.

SECOND SUSPECT ARRESTED IN FATAL EAST END CRASH

PRISONER HELD AS DEATH CAR PASSENGER

Jailed for Quiz in Running Gun Battle That Ended In Smashup of Four Autos

A second arrest was made early today by Homicide Detectives James O'Kane and Robert Carroll in connection with an automobile crash at Highland and Stanton avenues in which Martin Ambrose, 22, of 3429 Denny street, was killed.

Police said the prisoner is William F. Moore, 22, also of 3429 Denny street. The other youth being held is Matt Cynowcz, 19, of 2831 Mulberry way.

Ambrose was killed, police say, when a machine being pursued by a police scout car ran through a red light into a line of automobile traffic, and caused a smashup of four automobiles. Ambrose and the two youths being held were passengers in the car being pursued, police said.

Police charged that when officers in the scout car attempted to question the youths in Ambrose's machine, parked in Highland Park without lights, someone in the machine opened fire on the officers. When the patrolmen returned the fire, the Ambrose car was driven away, and the accident followed.

MAN ARRESTED BY BROTHER

One man was in South Side Hospital today and two others, including one who had been arrested by his brother, faced a hearing today in South Side Police Court, as a result of a street fight in Lincoln place, late yesterday.

Subdued by Patrolman Frank Neil when he was alleged to have resisted arrest, Michael J. Brown, Jr., 24, a city fireman, of 855 Muldowney avenue, was being taken to the Hays Police Station when his brother, James Brown, 23, interfered, according to police.

In the melee, the younger Brown suffered an injury to his right arm. Fred Neil, 39, of Muldowney avenue, the patrolman's brother, became involved in the dispute and was arrested on a charge of interfering with an officer by his brother, police reported. James Brown, facing the same charge, was taken to the hospital.

POLICE HORSES IN PRIZE TESTS

Competing for prizes offered by Pittsburgh merchants, mounted officers of the Pittsburgh Police Department, known as the "Black Squad," will meet tomorrow afternoon on Schenley Oval.

Japanese Leader Thinks Golf Will Help Nation

DEL MONTE, Cal., May 15.—(AP.)—Takeo Haraguchi, chief of the Japanese government's Finance Commission, believes golf will save Japan. He is at Del Monte with his wife on the way home after a four-year study of finance methods in New York. He said:

"Japan has not yet learned to play like America, but it is fast learning. There are today only 30 golf courses in Japan, but the number is increasing rapidly. When my country learns to mix business with the relaxation afforded by games such as golf the whole business structure will be benefited."

BANKERS STUDY ESTATE LAWS

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 15.—(INS.)—Creation of a permanent committee to adjust differences with the Pennsylvania Bar Association over corporate practice of law was recommended to the annual convention of the Pennsylvania Bankers' Association by Carl W. Fenninger, of Philadelphia.

Fenninger, who is chairman of the trust company section of the association, pointed out in his report that four bills had been introduced in the Pennsylvania Legislature to restrict the legal activities of trust companies. He decried the introduction of the bills and urged the permanent committee as a means of reaching an agreement.

Edgar A. Jones, of Scranton, chairman of the association's special committee on legislation relative to the practice of law, concurred with the remarks of Fenninger.

Frank G. Sayre, of Philadelphia, vice president of the Pennsylvania Company for Insurance on Lives and Granting Annuities, told the delegates that the laws of Pennsylvania governing trust investments should be liberalized.

Raiders Find Beer In Hazelwood Auto

Prohibition agents are seeking the owner of an automobile seized at 4:30 o'clock this morning in the rear of the Baltimore and Ohio station in Hazelwood. They found one barrel and six half barrels of beer in the machine after the driver fled.

Empire Steel Men Spurn Reduced Pay

MANSFIELD, O., May 15.—(AP.)—Flat refusal to accept any wage reduction was voted by 1,600 striking employes of the Empire Steel Corporation at a mass meeting here last night. The men walked out early this week when asked to take a 15 per cent pay cut. The vote was on the company's compromise offer of a 10 per cent reduction.

Protesting Teacher Submits to Oath

SEATTLE, Wash., May 15.—(AP.)—Faced with the alternative of resigning from the University of Washington faculty, Prof. Howard B. Woolston said he would sign the oath of allegiance to the United States, and state of Washington as required by a recent act of the state legislature.

Dr. Woolston had protested against the law as encroaching upon academic freedom.

POLICE THWART EXTORTION

ATLANTA, Ga., May 15.—(AP.)—Police announced the arrest of Early W. Knox, 50, in what they said was a plot to extort $2,500 from Mrs. Hugh M. Willet, wife of a prominent Atlanta insurance man, by threats against her children and grandchildren.

Knox, officers said, wrote Mrs. Willet last Monday demanding that she leave the money in a bag at a hotel or there would be a "bullet for the first one (of the children) that can be shot with the least risk."

Police watched while a transfer company employe obtained the bag and later gave it to another man who was captured and led the officers to Knox.

'LAZY' CHINESE SENTENCED

Quen Yuen, described by his countrymen as the laziest Chinese in Pittsburgh, will not idle away his time midst the scenes of his ancestors. Arrested on a vagrancy charge and turned over to the federal authorities for deportation, he was back again before Magistrate Leo Rothenberg in Central Station today, the federal authorities finding no basis for deportation proceedings.

Asked by the magistrate why he did not work, the prisoner replied:

"I'm just a lazy guy."

Said the magistrate:

"Well, I'm going to send you where they'll take that lazy feeling out of you. Twenty-five dollars fine or 30 days in the workhouse."

Yuen, of 515 Second avenue, was arrested on complaint of George Lee, Second avenue merchant, who said Yuen wouldn't work and made himself generally obnoxious.

WOMEN ATTACK DOAK ON JOBS

WASHINGTON, May 15.—(AP.)—The National Woman's Party attacked the action of Secretary of Labor Doak in sending a representative to the International Labor Convention in Geneva to work for the continuance of an agreement barring women from night employment.

Through Miss Muna Lee, director of national activities of the party, the women charged the Secretary with acting contrary to the announced policy of the administration of equality of opportunity for their sex and with upholding a minority point of view. Miss Lee said two-thirds of the states of the United States leave night work open to women on the same terms as to men. Miss Lee said:

"The present administration has declared its stand for equality of opportunity for men and women. The policies of the Department of Labor, however, are manifestly inconsistent with that stand."

RUM VOTE BILL WINS IN CONN.

HARTFORD, Conn., May 15.—(AP.)—The state House of Representatives adopted, 171 to 59, a bill submitting to the voters the question of whether Connecticut shall petition Congress for the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment.

The bill received the support of both the Republican and Democratic leaders. It provides that the question be voted on at the general election in June. The measure was transmitted to the Senate.

WOMAN MUSHER SUED BY MATE

LEWISTON, Me., May 15.—(AP.)—John L. Read, clerk of courts of Androscoggin County, said last night that divorce proceedings against Mrs. Elizabeth M. Ricker, internationally known sled dog driver, had been instituted by her husband, Edward P. Ricker, Jr., of Poland Spring. Both are socially prominent.

Neither of the Rickers was at their Poland Spring home and friends there of the couple professed ignorance of the proceedings. The Rickers have two children.

Mrs. Ricker, an ardent exponent of the outdoor life for women, has participated in sled dog races in the United States and Canada and is author of a biography of Leonhard Seppala, noted Alaskan musher. She is an accomplished equestrienne, golfer and swimmer.

Two Men Injured As Scaffold Breaks

WASHINGTON, Pa., May 15.—Two men were in the Washington Hospital today, one in serious condition, as the result of a 16-foot fall yesterday when a scaffold on which they were working at the new Washington High School, now under construction, broke.

Aircraft Revision Parley on July 31

WASHINGTON, May 15.—(AP.)—Aircraft mnufacturers and officials of the Commerce Department will confer here July 31, upon suggested revisions for airworthiness requirements.

Assistant Secretary Young said the department had few proposed amendments this year and that these would be submitted to the manufacturers soon for study.

POTTERS MEET IN CLEVELAND

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., May 15.—(AP.)—Cleveland was selected last night by the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters and the United States Potters' Association for the joint general wage conference which opens next Tuesday afternoon. The scale adopted will affect 7,500 skilled workers.

President James M. Duffy will head the 25 union conferees and President Frank H. Sebring, of Salem, and Joseph M. Wells, of Newell, W. Va., chairman of the labor committee, will lead the manufacturers in the session.

9 Convicts Called In Ohio Fire Trial

COLUMBUS, O., May 15.—(AP.)—Nine convicts will be called as witnesses in the trial of Clinton Grate, 31, charged with first degree murder with the Easter Monday fire at Ohio Penitentiary last year, Grate, who, with Hugh Gibbons, another convict, confessed setting the fire that killed 320 prisoners, goes on trial Monday.

Donald J. Hoskins, Franklin County prosecutor, withheld the names of the convict witnesses, fearing that other prisoners might harm them if their identities were revealed.

Reds Attack 'Steel Helmets', One Slain

KASSEL, Germany, May 15.—(AP.)—One member of the German "Steel Helmets" organization was killed and six seriously injured last night when they were attacked by a force of Communists armed with fence pickets, iron bars and sticks. The attackers had fled when police arrived.

GIMBELS Will Not Knowingly Be Undersold

Squires' Rivalry For Cases Ended By Steel Tape

EVANSTON, Ill., May 15.—(AP.)—Justice Max Borchardt, recently elected and keen for business, set up court next door to the police station where Magistrate Harry Porter holds forth. He had his eye on "the change of venue" cases and his mind on the provision of the law providing that such actions should go to "the nearest justice court."

But Justice James M. Corcoran kept getting all the cases and fees. Borchardt moved his office, this time across the hall from Corcoran's, to be nearest the magistrate's court. Then he served notice he was entitled to the cases. So the Commissioner of Public Works called out his force of engineers and draftsmen. The steel tape decision was: To Borchardt's office, 233.70 feet; to Corcoran's, 247.90 feet. But to Justice Sam Harrison's office, located across the street from the Police Court for 26 years, it was only 202.82 feet. So Squire Sam gets the business.

When You CAN'T QUIT

Fatigue is the signal to rest. Obey it if you can. When you can't, keep cool and carry-on in comfort.

Bayer Aspirin was meant for just such times, for it insures your comfort. Freedom from those pains that nag at nerves and wear you down. One tablet will block that threatening headache while it is still just a threat. Take two or three tablets when you've caught a cold, and that's usually the end of it.

Carry Bayer Aspirin when you travel. Have some at home and keep some at the office. Like an efficient secretary, it will often "save the day" and spare you many uncomfortable, unproductive hours. Perfectly harmless, so keep it handy keep it in mind, and use it. No man of affairs can afford to ignore the score and more of uses explained in the proven directions. From a grumbling tooth to those rheumatic pains which seem almost to bend the bones, Bayer Aspirin is ready with its quick relief—and always works. Neuralgia. Neuritis. Any nagging, needless pain.

Bayer-Tablets of Aspirin — Genuine

Get the genuine tablets, stamped with the Bayer cross. They are of perfect purity, absolute uniformity, and have the same action every time. Why experiment with imitations costing a few cents less? The saving is too little. There is too much at stake. But there is economy in the purchase of genuine Bayer Aspirin tablets in the large bottles.

KENTUCKY DERBY FORECASTER, PULITZER PRIZE WINNER ON AIR TONIGHT

WE NOW PRESENT

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Radio Editor

Government investigators discovered yesterday that rum runners were using certain Detroit radio stations for broadcasting coded musical programs which directed their operations in the Detroit River. . . Reg Clark, of WMBC, said he was offered $100 a week if he would broadcast certain tunes at specified times on the WMBC Children's Hour.

Bedridden and in a cast in a Chicago hospital, following an accident, Mrs. Margaret Ayer Barnes, from pure boredom, called for a pencil and paper and wrote her first short story. More tales followed and eventually "Years of Grace"—which won the Pulitzer prize. Mrs. Barnes speaks on KDKA at 10 tonight.

Clem McCarthy, after a bitter experience at the Steeplechase in England, says there's nothing like a good old-fashioned Kentucky Derby—and tonight at 6:45 he tells why on WCAE. Preview dope on the horses.

Speaking of the Derby, we met radio's "Flying Dutchman, Lou Hamburg, Jr., tearing along Liberty avenue last night. Luggage plenty, headed for Louisville. Ever since Lou made a hole in one at Schenley, he has had a hankering for long shots—so tomorrow, it's "Prince D'Amour."

Too bad we don't all have short wave radios. W3XAF, short wave station of WGY, using 31.48 meters, is to relay a description of the Campolo-Loughran fight to South America at 9:30.

WIBX at Utica, N. Y.—formerly owned by John C. Drummond, new manager of WWSW—stages a DX party at midnight.

QUESTION A DAY:

Answer—No. A brother-in-law of Gene has a steady job of creating new situations for the boys. Wasn't Lena a scream in "Carmen" last night? And Jake wasn't bad either as "Escamillo"—or "Eskimolo," as he preferred it.

When Paul Whiteman plays at the Edgewater Beach Hotel in Chicago tomorrow midnight (WJZ), a great glass curtain weighing many tons is to separate him from the revelers on the dance floor . . . Merrymakers are to see Paul's band through the glass, but they will dance to his music coming through a loudspeaker.

STUDIO LIGHTS

Bernice Claire and Alexander Gray, who co-starred in the motion picture, "The Desert Song," are billed for WCAE next Monday night at 9:30.

Patty Jean, conductor of women's programs at WTAM, is to describe the attire of women at the Kentucky derby for WCAE fans tomorrow afternoon at 6:45 prior to the big event.

Donn Wermuth, who write continuity for the Monday night theater parties on KDKA, is passing out cigars . . . official weight, seven pounds four ounces . . . a boy.

"Saki," of the NBC sketch, "Saki Get Rich" insists on calling the Nobel prize winner, "Singular Lewis" . . . and saying "Number One Fine" for "I'm Feeling Well" . . .

Riggs and Moke are "going to town" in their WCAE sketches at 11 on Monday, Wednesday and Friday . . . really first class!

Goes places and does things . . . that's Chesterfield. The same good-tasting cigarette wherever smokers light up. For what you taste in Chesterfield is the aroma and flavor of milder, better tobaccos, blended and cross-blended to bring out the finer qualities of each tobacco. That's why smokers find the change to Chesterfield a real change.

FOR NINETEEN years, our Research Department has kept intimate touch with every new development of Science that could be applied to the manufacture of cigarettes. During this period there has been no development of tested value or importance to the smoker which we have not incorporated into the making of Chesterfield cigarettes.

ADDITIONAL RADIO PROGRAMS

The Loudspeaker

By LOUIS REID

NEW YORK, May 15.—Children are becoming more and more the dictators of the dials. For hours, interminable hours in the early evening, their fingers guide autocratically the entertainment of the ether.

And there is no one to say them nay. Rebellious parents may storm and threaten, may cajole and flatter. All to no avail. Parental authority is no more. So far as radio is concerned, it has gone the way of the square dance and the hitching post.

It is a strange development of American civilization—this despotic sway of children over the sound and fury that tumbles from 10,000,000 loudspeakers. It is a new and formidable revolution. It threatens not only the security of the home, it also menaces the progress of radio entertainment. And there is nothing that can be done about it—nothing, that is, short of laying an ax to the radio set.

* * *

The radio world, of course, is alert to the vast movement that is going on in the American home. So alert that it is scrambling for those hours when it can be assured of the rapt attention of childish ears. Once it gains them it knows the open road to success lies straight ahead.

The hours from 5 to 9 p. m. have been arbitrarily seized by young America. These are hours given over largely to dialogue—dialogue designed for the most part to reach the hearts of youthful listeners. Children now cry for radio chatter as they once cried for soothing syrup. A symphony concert or a speech by a foreign protenated during these periods has no chance, for there is a childish stampede to the dials to turn them off.

Gone is the old discipline in the home, gone is the whip hand, gone even the threat of the reformatory. Little Willie has spoken, and Little Willie will stand for no nonsense. He knows what he wants. And he doesn't want music or a lot of speech.

He wants a dialogue—the dialogue of inanity, of banality, of apparently unending drivel. And he's going to have it or there's no peace in the home. That's the point. There's no peace any longer in the American home unless little Willie, with his sure fingers, finds his favorite programs.

The infant revolution really started when Amos 'n' Andy became a household ritual. The blackface radio comic strip found ready ears among children, though much of the comedy ladled out was unintelligible to them. The ever-present suggestion of adventure, combined with a vivid appeal for sympathy and a ludicrous word or situation served to hold children spellbound.

Once entrapped by Amos 'n' Andy it was only natural that children remained to hear other programs. While other periods did not have the appeal of the blackface pair they offered enough of the kind of diversion that seems to keep children interested.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Leaders Aid Hospital Tag Day

Among the varied activities of society women during the days of May is philanthropy. And of all charities just now society folk are most interested in the Children's Hospital.

On Saturday, Flower Day for the benefit of the hospital, a group of social leaders will serve as usual at headquarters in the Mellon Bank.

Mrs. Herbert DuPuy, who is general chairman of this annual tag day, announces those aiding her at headquarters will be Mrs. Benjamin Page, Mrs. R. B. Mellon, Mrs. William J. Holland, Mrs. W. H. Singer, Mrs. Frank N. Black and Mrs. William A. Seifert.

Friday evening, May 22, there will be a small supper dance in the Pittsburgh Golf Club given by the Bennett Rodgerses, the R. Kent Hansons and the junior William Bacon Schillers. The affair is in honor of Mary Barbara Shiras, daughter of MacGilvray Shiras, of Aylesboro avenue, who will marry Karl Adams Dietrich, of Detroit, on Saturday, May 23. The wedding is to take place in the Shiras home and there will be a small reception later.

Honor Bride

* * *

Miss Rose Bair and Miss Hannah Rice entertained Monday evening in Miss Bair's home in Balph avenue, Wilkinsburg, in honor of Miss Louise Hartmeyer, of Wilkinsburg, whose marriage to Leslie Margison, of Iron Mountain, Mich., will take place on June 12. Five tables of "500" were in play.

Honored At Party

Miss Hartmeyer was honored at a luncheon in the home of Miss Dorothy Turner, Laketon road, by the members of her Sunday school class at Calvary Lutheran Church Wednesday night.

* * *

Dr. and Mrs. Erhart Ruedemann have moved to Pittsburgh from Rochester, Minn., where for the past four years Dr. Ruedemann has been associated with the ear, nose and throat department of the Mayo Clinic. Before her marriage Mrs. Ruedemann was Miss Helen Best, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Best, of Fifth avenue.

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., May 15.—William E. Doerr, Pittsburgh, was installed as new state commander, Knights of Malta, by Supreme Commander Clarence Walker, Massachusetts, at the concluding state session here yesterday.

Officers appointed by the new commander included E. H. Jacobs, Elizabeth; Samuel Battersby, Ellwood City; J. C. Ulmer, Lancaster; Burtt G. French, Erie; Albert Kline, Hanover; John Craver, Harrisburg, and Frank Palm, Reading.

Harvey Smith, of Pittsburgh; Thomas McKee, Madison, and Dr. H. F. Fisher, Braddock, were named to the state of the order committee; C. J. Schmidt, of Pittsburgh; Donald Cahoon, Scranton, and A. C. Lockard, Freeport, were appointed to the law committee, and James Edgar, of Pittsburgh; James A. Finley, Steelton, and B. E. Pasten, Homestead, to the finance committee.

Punching Bag Hits Lamp, House Burns

CORVALLIS, Mont., May 15.—(AP.)—Herbert Simmons, 15, attacked a punching bag at his ranch home last night in training for work as a jockey. The bag broke loose and overturned a lighted lamp, which set the house afire. Simmons escaped through a window, his father and brother, called from the home of a neighbor, aided in saving other buildings on the ranch.

Du Pont Pays $2,000 For Bull at Sale

TRENTON, N. J., May 15.—(AP.)—Pierre du Pont, of Peterson, paid $2,000 for the top-priced bull sold at the national Guernsey sale. He bid that sum for a bull owned by John Ames of North Easton, Mass.

Two Pittsburgh commanderies of Knights Templar will march in a body to church services Sunday night commemorating Ascension Day.

Chartiers Commandery No. 78 will gather at Corliss Station at 7:30 and go to the Sheraden Methodist Episcopal Church, Chartiers avenue. The Rev. John D. Van Horn will preach. Members of other commanderies have been invited to attend the service.

Duquesne Commandery No. 72 will attend Emory Methodist Episcopal Church, North Highland avenue and Rippey street, East Liberty. Services will be conducted by the Rev. Dr. W. W. T. Duncan.

Child Hit by Trolley In Serious Condition

The condition of Nancy Elliott, 4, of 364 Atwood street, whose left leg was crushed when she was struck by an Atwood street car near her home, was regarded as serious at Magee Hospital.

S. P. Pack, who placed the child in his truck and started for the hospital, told police that at Atwood and Forbes streets, the machine collided with a car driven by Helen Schrom, of 104 Morewood avenue. Police commandeered a taxicab and completed the hospital trip.

Wind Levels Power Lines, Halts Industry

SASKATOON, Sask., May 15.—(AP.)—Regina, provincial capital of Saskatchewan, was without electric power last night after a heavy windstorm had leveled main power lines and poles for four blocks.

Telegraph service and industries were at a standstill. A number of automobiles were crushed beneath fallen poles.

U. S. Attorney Aide In N. Y. Resigns

NEW YORK, May 15.—(INS.)—J. Bertram Wegman, assistant United States district attorney in charge of the prosecution of prohibition cases in Brooklyn, has tendered his resignation to his superior, Howard W. Amoli.

Boy Scouts, Y Activities Diminish Delinquency

Boys' work, such as the Boy Scouts, Y. M. C. A. and Boys' Club of Pittsburgh, tends to diminish delinquency among boys, according to figures given by Judge D. Paulson Foster, of the County Court, before the Pittsburgh Kiwanis Club yesterday in Fort Pitt Hotel.

Judge Foster said:

"In 1923 one out of every eight boys in the Strip was brought into Juvenile Court. In that same year the Boys' Club of Pittsburgh was organized, and today only one out of every 22 boys of that district is brought into my court. I have had only one Boy Scout before me in court."

Judge Foster asserted that in the future criminal courts will be more concerned with preventive measures than in the actual criminal act.

Truancy is one of the most frequent causes for children being brought into court, according to Judge Foster. He said it is caused in the majority of cases by the child's not liking certain school subjects.

A juvenile judge, in Judge Foster's opinion, should talk to a delinquent child in his own language and in complete informality.

Federation Presidency Nomination Goes to Ardmore Woman

It will be to the disappointment of the southwestern district of the State Federation of Pennsylvania Women that a clubwoman from the eastern part of the state has again been nominated for the presidency. Although the ticket has not been officially announced, it is understood that Mrs. Richard J. Hamilton, of Ardmore, is the presidential nominee. The southwestern district, however, is to be represented on the board by the corresponding secretary, Mrs. Richard B. Perry, and the district president, Mrs. James G. Chalfant, both of whom have been active in state as well as local club affairs.

One of the most original entries in the art-in-industry contests (May 22 to 29 in Kaufmann's auditorium) will be the model American home (doll-size) which the Allegheny Valley Woman's Club has made. With their own hands the women have built the house of plaster and stones on a cement foundation, have roofed and landscaped it and have made all the furniture and interior decorations, even to a tiny Bible that lies upon a night table and a cat at the fireside.

All the dishes have been modeled and the result, in addition to speaking for the art and industry of the women, shows the products manufactured in the valley—plate glass, paint, blocks, steel, mirror, bronze and paper.

PARIS DECREES BLACK COATS POPULAR FOR SUMMER WEAR

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, May 15.—After we have culled a favorite color from the generous range afforded us this season, we send out a call for black. Especially is this so when it comes to coats. It would seem that we have all indulged our desire for a colored coat during the early days of spring and now we are demanding coats of black. For there is a dash and elan to the smartly cut black coat that no brightly hued garment can muster. And for the more formal occasion the black coat is certainly persona grata at the court of fashion. A favored material for the dark wrap seems to be crepe marocain. It has a rich and distinguished look about it and does not need much ornamentation to make it attractive. This material has also been much used for dresses and suits, despite the claims of all sorts of new weaves that beat in waves on the sartorial shore each season. The new coats are skilfully cut and detailed with all manner of little unexpected touches to add to their charm.

* * *

VERY SMART, indeed, is the ensemble—to the right of the page—by Heim. The coat is a three-quarter, sleeveless model of black silk marocain and has a shallow cape. The frock is of printed crepe de chine in tones of gray on a white ground. The frock is very simple in cut with a scarf tie at the neck, a narrow belt and diagonal tiers on the skirt. The two upper tiers are considerably more shallow than the lowest one, and all are cut circular.

* * *

Meadow Gold "smooth-freeze" produces far richer, creamier texture. Dealers are ready to serve you with the new, sealed "carry-home" package

NOW you may enjoy ice cream of a rich, creamy texture such as you never tasted before. Meadow Gold's "smooth-freeze" is a recent discovery. It gives Meadow Gold Ice Cream a deliciousness not to be found in ice cream made the old way. Never a lump or icy crystal to mar the flavor! Just velvety smoothness that melts on the tongue.

This remarkable freezing method . . . a discovery that is revolutionizing the ice cream industry . . . brings out to the full the wholesome goodness of Meadow Gold Ice Cream.

Made of real things

Meadow Gold is made of sweet, delicious farm cream from selected dairies in this community. The flavors are real flavors. Chocolate and vanilla made right from the beans. Fresh fruits in season—real fruits always. Not a single substitute of any kind.

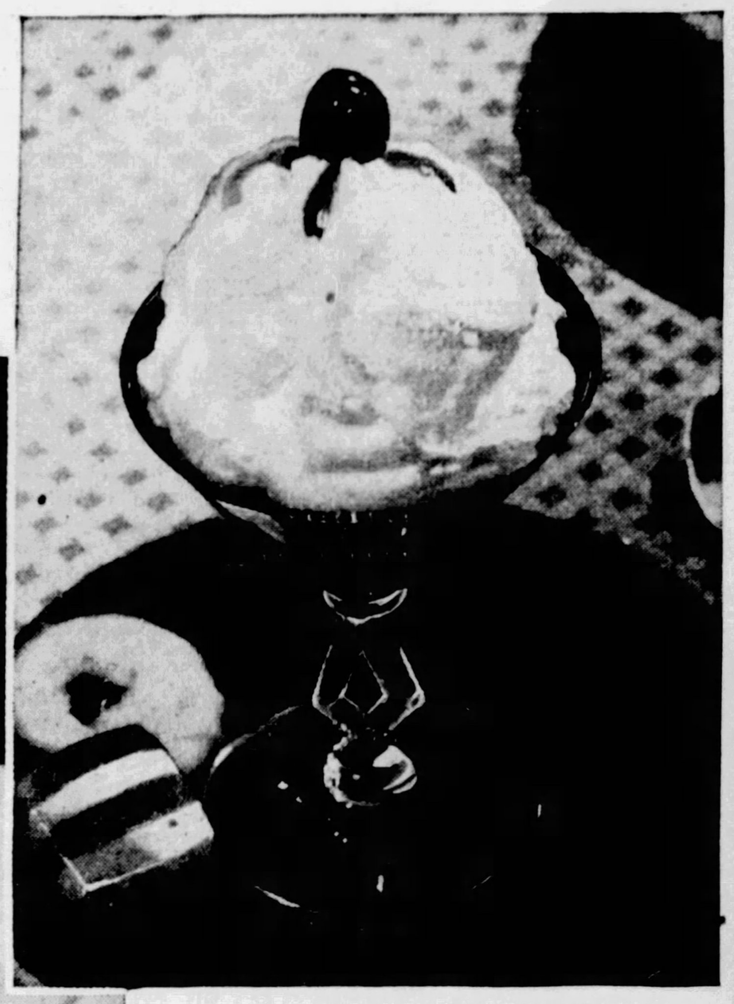
You can let your children eat all they want of this pure, wholesome ice cream. It is a healthful, easily-digested, energy food for the whole family.

To enable you to enjoy Meadow Gold "smooth-freeze" ice cream at home, we've developed the sealed, "carry-home" Meadow Gold package. Meadow Gold Ice Cream is packed in this waxed container right at the freezer. Wrapped and sealed, it reaches you untouched by human hands.

Ask your dealer

Stop in at any dealer's and try Meadow Gold Ice Cream. See how its smoother, creamier texture improves a soda. Take along a couple of pints—of different flavors—to serve at home. You'll agree once you taste this new delight—never was any ice cream so good as this.

© B. C. Co., 1931



Buy it in the Wrapped, Sealed "Carry-home" package

In countless taste tests, not one person has failed to find Meadow Gold Ice Cream creamier, richer in texture than ice cream made the old way.

CRAB A LA NEWBURG—Melt 2 tablespoons butter in a saucepan and add 1 cup canned crabmeat, stirring as it heats.

Melt an additional 2 tablespoons butter, sift in 2 tablespoons flour and, when blended, add 1 cup scalded milk. Beat together until very smooth. Season the sauce with salt and pepper, 1 teaspoon anchovy essence and 2 teaspoons tomato catsup. Add ½ cup cream and the crabmeat, stirring until the mixture reaches the boiling point. Remove from the fire and add the yolks of 2 eggs, stirring as it thickens. This must be kept below the boiling point or it will curdle. Add more seasoning if necessary. Serve at once on toast or with toasted crackers.

* * *

CRAB MEAT SALAD—Soak 2 teaspoons granulated gelatine in 1-3 cup chicken stock for 5 minutes; dissolve over hot water and add a tablespoon of vinegar. Add slowly to ½ cup mayonnaise dressing, beating thoroughly. Mix ½ cup of grape fruit pulp, ½ cup canned pineapple and a cup of the canned crab meat add to first mixture. Pack in oiled molds and chill. Serve on nests of lettuce leaves. Grapefruit juice may be used in place of chicken stock.

* * *

EGGPLANT AU GRATIN: Pare an eggplant and cut into small cubes. Cook in boiling salted water until just tender. Prepare a white sauce by melting 3 tablespoons butter, adding 3 tablespoons flour, salt and pepper, and gradually stirring in 1½ cups milk. Cook two minutes. Mix the drained eggplant with the buttered baking dish. Top with grated cheese, a sprinkling of paprika and soft bread crumbs. Bake in a moderately hot oven about 20 minutes.

* * *

GRAPE JUICE SHERBET—Soak 1 tablespoon gelatin in cup cold water. Add 1 cup sugar to 1½ cups boiling water and boil 10 minutes. Remove from heat and add the soaked gelatin. Allow to stand until partly cool; then add 2 cups grape juice and ¼ cup lemon juice. Pour into a mold or into the trays of the mechanical refrigerator and chill.

Just before serving arrange 4 lady fingers or thin slices of sponge cake in each sherbet glass. Fill with the grape juice gelatin. Dot with whipped cream and sprinkle with chopped pistachio nuts. Serve immediately.

* * *

SAVORY MEAT LOAF—One pound veal steak (chopped), 2-3 pound beef (round, chopped), 3 tablespoons chopped onions, 3 tablespoons chopped green peppers, 3 tablespoons chopped celery, 1 tablespoon chopped parsley, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 1 egg, 3 tablespoons catsup.

Mix all ingredients except catsup. Shape into roll 2 inches thick. Fit into baking pan. Spread with catsup. Add ¼ inch of water. Cover and bake 1 hour. Baste frequently. This loaf can be served hot or cold.

* * *

RHUBARB COBBLER—Two cups flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 2 tablespoons sugar, 4 tablespoons lard, 1 egg, ¾ cup milk.

Mix flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Cut in lard and add rest of ingredients. Spread over top of rhubarb mixture. Make four holes in top to allow steam to escape. Bake 25 minutes in moderate oven. Serve warm.

* * *

RHUBARB MIXTURE—4 cups diced rhubarb, 1½ cups sugar, 3 tablespoons flour, 3 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, ½ teaspoon vanilla, 2 tablespoons butter.

Mix rhubarb, sugar and flour. Add rest of ingredients and pour into shallow, buttered baking dish. Cover with crust.

* * *

NUT PUFFS—Beat ½ cup butter and add 2-3 cup sugar. Add 2 eggs well beaten, then add ½ cup of shelled pecans or walnuts. Sift 1½ cups of flour with 1 teaspoon baking powder and 1-3 teaspoon salt. Add to the mixture, beat well and bake in a very small well-greased fancy pan. Ice with a thin boiled icing.

* * *

HADDOCK STUFFED WITH OYSTERS—Remove the skin and clean 1 pound haddock. Sprinkle fish with salt and brush over with lemon juice. Clean 1 pint oysters and dip in buttered cracker crumbs, seasoned with salt and pepper. Place a layer of the filet in a greased baking dish, cover with oysters and then with another layer of fish. Brush with egg, slightly beaten, and cover with crumbs. Bake 50 minutes to an hour in a moderate oven. Serve with Hollandaise sauce and garnish with lemon slices.

* * *

BROILED HAM WITH RAISIN SAUCE—Soak thin slices of ham for one hour in lukewarm water. Drain, wipe, and broil for three minutes in the broiler. For the raisin sauce, mix together ½ cup brown sugar, ½ tablespoon mustard, and ½ tablespoon flour. Add ¼ cup seedless raisins, ¼ cup vinegar and 1¼ cups water. Cook to a syrup.

* * *

VEAL CUTLETS VIENNESE—Trim the veal cutlets and flatten each with the broad blade of a knife. Dip the cutlets into beaten egg mixed with 1 tablespoon water, and roll in fine bread crumbs until the meat is heavily coated. Saute in hot fat or melted butter. Serve with thin slices of peeled lemon which have been garnished with strips of chopped hard boiled yolk and strips of chopped hard boiled white of egg. Just before serving, pour melted butter over all and sprinkle with chopped parsley.

* * *

OYSTER LOAF—Remove a pint of fresh oysters from their juice and roll in cornmeal, after first dipping each oyster in well beaten, seasoned egg. Fry the oysters; then place them on a platter on the stove to keep hot. Cut a loaf of bread in half lengthwise, scoop out the inside of each half, leaving only the crust. Toast the inside of each half, and butter freely. Place in one of these pieces of toasted bread a layer of fried oysters, then a layer of mixed pickles, another layer of the oysters and another of the pickles. Add a layer of lemon sliced thin, and place the other half of the loaf over this. Put in a baking pan, place in the oven for 5 minutes until heated through. Then serve, cutting through the bread vertically in slices. Remove the lemon, for the oysters will have absorbed the juice and flavor.

* * *

CRAB AND CHEESE DELIGHT—Cook 2 tablespoons chopped green pepper in 2 tablespoons butter 5 minutes. Blend in 2 tablespoons flour; add ½ teaspoon mustard, ¼ teaspoon salt, dash of cayenne pepper, a cup of cooked and strained tomatoes, a cup of grated cheese and a slightly beaten egg. Cook a few minutes. Heat ¾ cup milk before adding the other ingredients, then add the crabmeat. Serve on rounds of toast or crackers. Save a tablespoon of cheese to be sprinkled on top when serving.

* * *

APPLE JELLY—Wash 5 cups dried apples, add 8 cups water, cover, and boil 30 minutes. Drain through a jelly bag. There should be about 3½ cups juice. Add a tablespoon lemon juice for each cup of juice, and boil 5 minutes. Add ½ cup sugar for each cup of juice, and continue boiling until the jelly will sheet from a spoon, or about 20 minutes. Pour into sterilized glasses. Cover with paraffin. And then use the apple pulp for apple butter.

* * *

APPLE BUTTER—Use 4 cups of sieved apple pulp left from making apple jelly. If it is very dry, add 2 cups of water. Combine with 2 cups sugar, ⅛ teaspoon salt, a teaspoon cloves, a teaspoon allspice, a teaspoon cinnamon and boil slowly one hour or longer. It is improved with long, slow cooking.

* * *

HOT MARSHMALLOW SAUCE—Soften 20 marshmallows in a moderate oven, but do not brown. Put a level cup of sugar and ½ cup of water into a small saucepan and boil until the syrup spins a thread when tested in cold water or when it registers 218 degrees on the candy thermometer. Add the marshmallows and beat until the mixture is smooth, then flavor to taste with fruit juice. Continue beating until the ingredients are well blended. Keep hot in a double boiler.

* * *

CHICKEN CURRY—Prepare a 3-pound chicken and cut in pieces for serving. Melt 1-3 cup of butter in a hot frying pan, add the chicken and cook 10 minutes. Add the liver, and cook 10 minutes longer. Then add 2 sliced onions, 1 tablespoon curry powder, 2 teaspoons salt and 1 teaspoon vinegar. Add boiling water to cover, and simmer until the chicken is tender. Remove the chicken, strain the sauce, and thicken with 1 tablespoon flour mixed to a paste with cold water to each cup of liquid. Pour over the chicken and serve with a border of rice and sliced beets.

* * *

INDIVIDUAL OYSTER PIES—In individual ramekins place a layer of oysters and sprinkle lightly with salt, pepper and a few drops lemon juice. Add a layer of thick white sauce and repeat with a layer of oysters, seasoning and white sauce until each baking dish is almost filled, leaving a space at the top, so the pie will not boil over. Cover with a thin crust of pastry which has been scored across in several places. Bake in a very hot oven 10 to 15 minutes.

* * *

JELLIED SALMON SALAD—Two tablespoons granulated gelatin, 1 cup cold water, 4 tablespoons sugar, 1 cup boiling water, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 cup salmon, 1 cup finely chopped celery, ½ cup cooked peas, 3 tablespoons chopped sweet pickles.

Soak gelatin in cold water five minutes. Add boiling water and stir until dissolved. Add sugar and lemon juice. Cool. When a little thick, add rest of ingredients and pour into shallow mold which has been dipped in cold water. Set in cold place to stiffen. Unmold on lettuce. Top with mayonnaise.

* * *

GRAPEFRUIT AND CRAB SALAD—One cup grapefruit, sections free from membrane and cut in pieces; 1-3 cup cucumber, diced; 1 cup crab meat, flaked; ¾ cup celery, finely cut; ½ cup mayonnaise.

Toss ingredients lightly together, chill, serve on crisp lettuce. Garnish with additional mayonnaise. Serves 6.

* * *

PINEAPPLE SAUCE—Half cup sugar, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 cup diced pineapple and juice, ½ cup water, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, ⅛ teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon butter.

Blend sugar and flour. Add pineapple, water and lemon juice. Cook until mixture thickens a little. Stir constantly. Add rest of ingredients. Serve warm.

* * *

FILLING—Third cup sugar, 5 tablespoons flour, ⅛ teaspoon salt, 3 tablespoons lemon juice, ⅔ cup water, 1 egg yolk, ½ cup chopped figs, 1 tablespoon butter.

Blend sugar, flour and salt. Add lemon juice, water and yolk. Cook in double boiler until thick and creamy. Stir frequently. Add rest of ingredients and beat. Cool and use as filling between two baked cake layers. Use leftover egg white for boiled frosting and cover top and sides of cake. Cut in wedge-shaped pieces and serve.

* * *

SHRIMP DE LUXE—Five tablespoons butter, 6 tablespoons flour, 3 cups milk, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon paprika, 1½ cups shrimp, ½ cup cooked mushrooms, 3 tablespoons chopped green pepper, 3 tablespoons chopped pimentos, 3 tablespoons chopped cooked celery, 1 egg, well beaten, 6 pieces hot toast.

Experiments Show Pork to Be Easily Digested

Dr. Copeland points out that this meat leaves the stomach within 3 hours after eating and in comparative tests proved more digestible than turkey.

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Former Health Commissioner of New York City, United States Senator from New York

There has always been a certain amount of controversy over the nutritive value and digestibility of pork. Recent experiments have shown this meat to be easily digested and a food of high caloric value.

In recent years pork has constituted about 50 per cent of the total meat consumption in the United States. The customary bacon and eggs, as well as the ham sandwich, are indeed popular items in the American diet. They are nutritive and wholesome foods, certainly not detrimental to health.

Lean pork is rich in vitamin B. Its content of fat-soluble vitamin A is comparatively low. This deficiency is easily balanced by the customary habit of eating most pork products with eggs.

Eggs are low in vitamin B, but high in vitamin A. In this way, meals containing ham and eggs, or bacon and eggs, give a liberal supply of both vitamins.

Bacon and pork products are extremely popular with persons doing manual work. This is easily explained by the high caloric or fuel value that these foods possess. It is estimated that a pound of bacon or pork will furnish more than 3,000 calories. This is approximately three times as great as the number of calories consumed by the average person at a meal.

Pork is completely digested in the stomach. It leaves the stomach in about three hours. In a series of comparative tests, pork was digested more rapidly than turkey, in the same time as chicken and somewhat more slowly than beef.

This time variation for the various meats is of little significance. Meats of all kinds, including ham and bacon, are among the most digestible of food products.

* * *

CRABMEAT COCKTAIL—One cup crabmeat, flaked apart, 1 cup diced celery, ½ cup diced cucumbers, 1-3 cup finely chopped sweet pickles, ¼ cup chopped pimiento stuffed olives, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon paprika, 2-3 cup stiff mayonnaise. Mix ½ mayonnaise with rest of ingredients. Chill. Serve in small glass cups lined with lettuce. Top with rest of ingredients. Serves eight.

* * *

ROAST OF VEAL AND BROWNED POTATOES—Five-pound roast of veal, 3 tablespoons flour, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 2 thin slices onions, 2 celery leaves, 2 slices green peppers, 1 cup water, 8 peeled potatoes, ½ teaspoon of salt. Wipe off roast with damp cloth. Sprinkle with flour, teaspoon of salt and pepper. Fit into baking pan and top with onions, celery and green peppers. Add water. Bake 15 minutes in hot oven. Cover and bake 1¾ hours in moderate oven. Baste frequently. Add potatoes which have been sprinkled with ½ teaspoon of salt. Bake 45 minutes.

* * *

STRAWBERRY SHORTCAKE—Two cups flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, 4 tablespoons sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, 4 tablespoons lard, ⅔ cup milk, 2 tablespoons soft butter.

Mix the flour, baking powder, sugar and salt. Cut in lard with knife. Mixing with knife, add milk. Pat out on floured board until dough is ½ inch thick. Spread ½ dough with butter and fold other half over on top. Bake 15 minutes on greased baking sheet in moderate oven. Carefully split warm shortcake and add berry mixture. Replace top of shortcake and spread with whipped cream mixture.

* * *

KIDNEY BEAN SALAD—Two cups kidney beans (canned), 2 hard cooked eggs, diced, 1 cup diced celery, 4 tablespoons chopped dill pickles, 2 tablespoons chopped onions, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon paprika, ½ cup salad dressing.

Pour beans into collander. Rinse well in quantities of cold water. Drain well. Add rest of ingredients. Chill and serve on lettuce.

* * *

PINEAPPLE SOUFFLE — Four tablespoons butter, 4 tablespoons flour, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1½ cups pineapple juice, 3 tablespoons lemon juice, 2-3 cup sugar, 2 egg yolks, 2-3 cup diced pineapple, 2 egg whites, beaten.

Melt butter and add flour. Blend well and add salt and pineapple juice. Cook slowly and stir constantly until very thick sauce forms. Add sugar, lemon juice and egg yolks. Beat two minutes. Fold in rest of ingredients and pour into buttered baking dish. Set in pan of hot water. Bake 35 minutes in moderately slow oven. Unmold carefully and surround with pineapple sauce. Serves six.

* * *

JELLIED CELERY SALAD

2 tablespoons gelatin.
½ cup cold water.
2 cups boiling water.
¼ cup sugar.
1 teaspoon salt.
½ cup mild vinegar.
2 cups diced celery.
2 tablespoons lemon juice.
2 tablespoons horseradish (prepared).
Few drops green coloring.

Chill and serve on lettuce with French-Russian dressing, which is made by adding ¼ cup chili sauce and 1 teaspoon chopped olives to plain French dressing.

* * *

STUFFED BEET SALAD

Cut a slice from the bottom of each so that they will stand upright.

Peel and when cold fill with cold boiled green peas and celery cut in small pieces.

Moisten with boiled mayonnaise.

Serve on lettuce leaves and place a slice of hard-boiled egg on each portion of salad.

* * *

ROQUEFORT MOUSSE

½ pound Roquefort cheese.
1 pint cream.

Grate cheese and put in top of double boiler with the milk. Stir until melted, then cool.

Freezes in three to four hours.

* * *

SALMON-RICE SALAD

1 can salmon.
1 cup boiled rice.
1½ cup sliced celery.
1 teaspoon capers.
¼ cup chopped sweet pickles.
¼ cup sliced radishes.

Marinate the salmon, rice and celery in French dressing for 15 minutes and add remaining ingredients slightly moistened with mayonnaise.

Serve in a lettuce-lined bowl

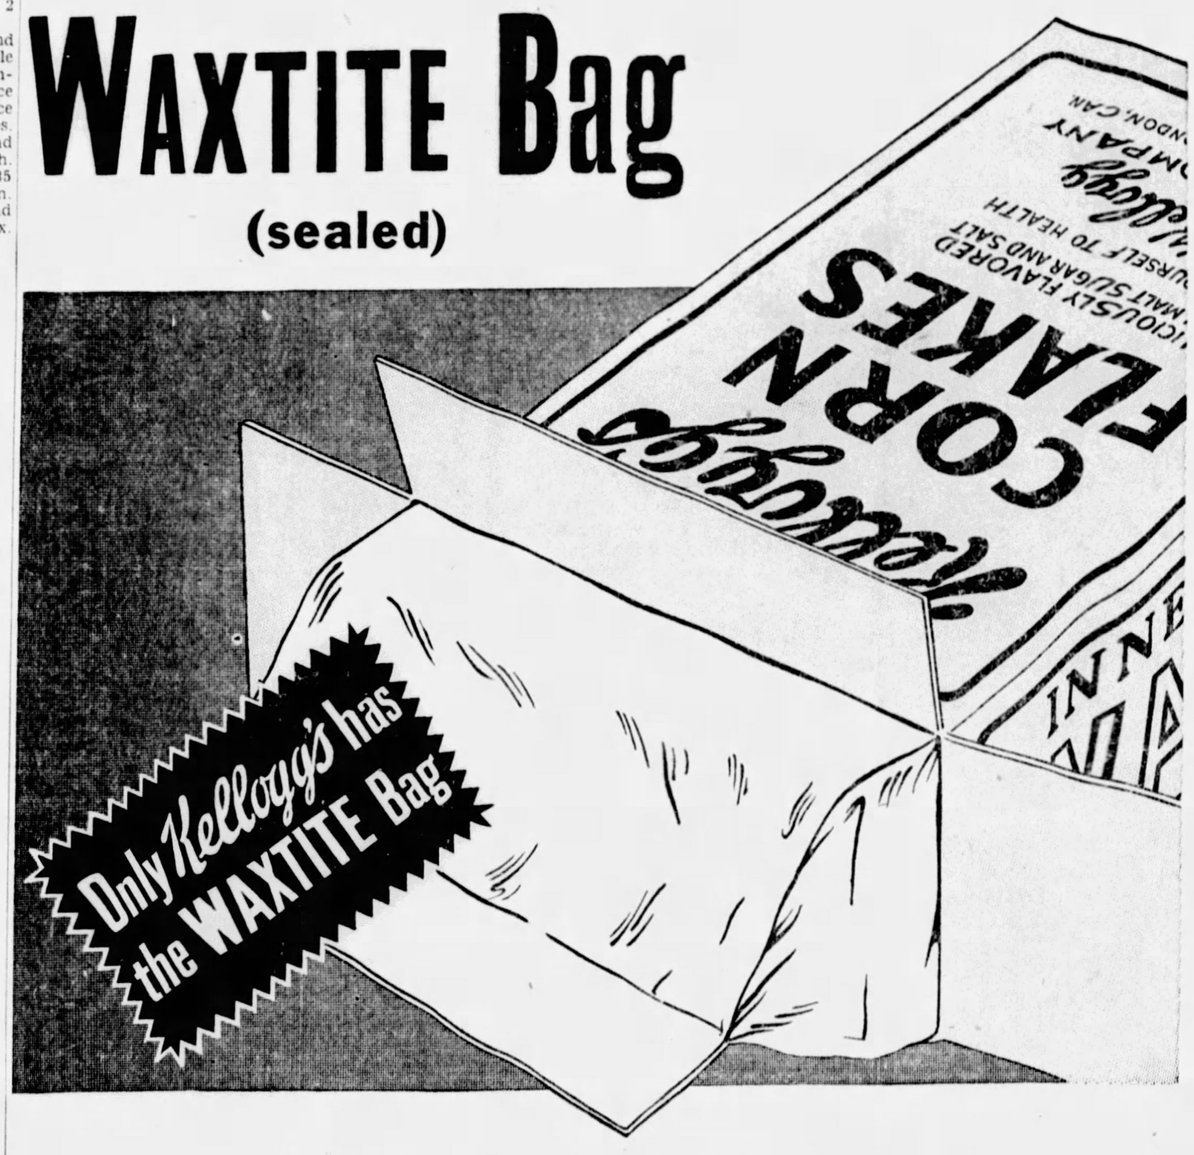
WAXTITE Bag (sealed)



...IT BRINGS YOU THAT "PERFECT" KELLOGG FLAVOR!

TOMORROW morning, notice how wonderfully fresh and crisp your bowl of Kellogg's Corn Flakes tastes. That's because of the famous waxtite inner-seal bag that brings all Kellogg's Cereals oven-fresh to your table!

This special bag is different from other packages. Many foods are wax-paper wrapped—some inside, others outside. But only Kellogg's have a waxtite sealed inner bag. Sealed against moisture and contamination.

Constant improvements insure Kellogg's quality. And that's why it always pays to specify Kellogg's when buying corn flakes. Few other foods, indeed, offer you more in convenience and value.

Many servings from a single package costing but a few cents. Delicious with milk or cream. No trouble to prepare. Fine for breakfast, lunch, children's suppers, late snacks. With a "wonder" flavor that has never been duplicated.

Enjoy Kellogg's Corn Flakes often these warm days. So easy to digest, they help you feel cooler. Add fruits or honey for an extra treat. At all grocers in the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Kellogg's CORN FLAKES

PRUDENCE PENNY'S RECIPES

and garnish with hard-boiled eggs.

* * *

FRUIT CREAM SALAD

1 cup sugar.
1 tablespoon of cornstarch.
1 cup of milk.
2 lemons.

Beat eggs, add sugar, cornstarch and milk.

3 bananas.
¼ pound walnut meats, finely chopped.

Serve six people.

* * *

PINEAPPLE-SHRIMP SALAD

1 can shrimps.
1 can crushed pineapple, drained.
¾ cup diced celery.
Boiled salad dressing.

Combine and serve in a salad bowl that has been lined with lettuce.

Over the top, place slices of sliced cucumber on each of which has been dropped a teaspoon of salad dressing.

* * *

FRUIT SALAD ROYAL

1 package lemon jello.
1 cup boiling water.
1 cup white cherries, seeded and finely cut.

Cherry juice and water to make one cup.

½ cup nut meats, coarsely cut.
½ cup celery, diced.

Dissolve jello in boiling water.

Chill.

Turn into molds.

Serve on lettuce with mayonnaise.

* * *

APPLE SALAD

Take nice red apples, scoop out center and fill with the following mixture:

1 cup celery, cut fine.
1 cup chopped apple (chopped with a silver knife).
½ cup chopped peanuts.
3 tablespoons French dressing.

Serve on bank of lettuce and garnish with paprika, parsley (finely chopped), yolk of egg, grated lemon or anything to garnish that you might consider suitable.

* * *

ORANGE SAUCE—One-half cup sugar, 3 tablespoons flour, ⅛ teaspoon salt, ½ cup orange juice, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, ½ cup water, 1 tablespoon butter.

Blend sugar, flour and salt. Add rest of ingredients and cook 3 minutes or until thick and creamy. Stir constantly during the cooking. Serve warm or chilled over pudding.

* * *

CREOLE RICE—Two cups boiled rice, 2 cups tomatoes, ¼ cup chopped green peppers, 2 tablespoons chopped onions, ½ cup chopped celery, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon paprika, 4 tablespoons butter, melted.

Mix ingredients and pour into buttered baking dish. Bake 25 minutes in moderate oven.

* * *

MOLASSES SPICE CAKE

½ cup granulated sugar.
½ cup lard.
2 eggs beaten lightly.

Scald 1 teaspoon baking soda in ½ cup coffee or water.

2 heaping teaspoons baking powder.
¼ teaspoon salt.
2½ cups flour.

Mix flour, spices, salt and baking powder together and add to this 2 ounces of broken nut meats and ½ cup seedless raisins.

Stir this into the first mixture and bake in moderate oven for 45 minutes.

* * *

ZWIEBACK NUT CAKE

1 cupful sugar.
4 eggs.
½ teaspoonful baking powder.
1 cupful grated zwieback.
1 cupful chopped walnuts.
1 teaspoonful vanilla.
½ pint double cream.

Beat the yolks of eggs well with the sugar.

* * *

GINGERBREAD

2½ cups flour.
½ teaspoon salt.
1 teaspoon soda.
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1½ tablespoons ginger.
½ cup shortening.
1 cup brown sugar.
2 eggs.
1 cup molasses.
1 cup boiling water.

Sift dry ingredients except sugar together.

Then add alternately to the latter mixture the sifted dry ingredients and the boiling water.

Recipes make 12 servings.

* * *

FIG CAKE—Half cup fat, 1½ cups sugar, 2 eggs, 1 cup milk, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 teaspoon lemon extract, ¼ teaspoon salt, 2½ cups pastry flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder.

Cream fat and add sugar. Add all rest of ingredients and beat vigorously three minutes. Pour into two layer cake pans and bake 25 minutes in moderate oven. Add filling.

TELL IT TO SALLY

By SALLY MARTIN

When Is a Wife Justified In Leaving Husband?

Hubby Won't Work

Here's June, for instance. According to her, she has grounds for at least a couple of divorces . . . I wonder.

Would you desert your man under these circumstances? Or would you feel that it was up to you to stand by?

"Dear Miss Martin:

"I'm in an awful predicament, and I would appreciate your advice very much, so I hope you will give me some.

"Mother was always against my marrying Dick, because he didn't like to work, and he was jealous. But I married him anyway, because I loved him. We have been married a year and a half and I have gone through torment during that time. We have a baby eight months old. I thought the baby would change him, but it didn't. I helped him as much as I could by working when I was able, but I haven't worked since the baby came.

His mother spoils Dick. She pets him and, if he is wrong, she tells him he is right . . . and he doesn't treat me nice at all.

Wants to Return

About two months ago we had a real battle, and broke up our home. I am with my mother, and he is with his. The other day we happened to meet, and he wants me to come back and give him another chance . . . but he hasn't any job, which was what most of the fight was about, so I am afraid to take another chance on him . . . I have given him too many chances already, I think.

"And if I do go back to him, and something happens, mother won't ever take me in again because she knows how mean he has been to me. But I still do love him. So I don't know what to do. Shall I go back to him or shall I stay where I am?

"JUNE."

Well, June—I admit you have reasons. Plenty of 'em. But has it ever occurred to you that he might have reasons, too?

You complain because he hasn't a job. Do you think you could get a job if you tackled the world during these all but desperate days? If you could, a couple of million discouraged souls would like to know how.

Both Failing Life

You say he "doesn't like to work." Who does? Are you working now? Do you call it working to go home and board on Mamma and Papa and let them pay the bills?

Yes, I know. You have the baby. But plenty of girls have babies—and support them. They don't mooch on the old folks. Aren't you running away from life just as much as he is running away from it?

In short, it strikes me that you are two spoiled youngsters—with a couple of well-meaning but meddling mamas, who should help you to face your responsibilities instead of dragging you apart. The boy has failed you—but you're also failing him, June. And you are both failing life—and your baby.

What did it mean when you promised to take each other "for better or worse?" It didn't mean the romantic hours—the easy times. It means now: Are you game enough to stand by your promises?

Why Not Turn Tourist and Travel About Our Own Town, Fay King Asks

By FAY KING

At this time of the year we all begin to wish to travel.

But the trouble is we begin to think of places so far away, and trips that cost so much we get discouraged.

And while we are wishing we could go to South Africa, Australia or [illegible] who are there are wishing they could come to the United States.

There are so many things of interest and beauty that tourists come to see in our own city and state that we who live here do not bother to see.

Why not turn tourist in our town and "travel" about a bit? We'll enjoy it!

Love's Reawakening

Continuation of Love's Awakening

Madge Burnishes Thoughts of Everything Save Happiness

I shall not soon forget the happiness in my small son's face when Marion came into the library calling for him to sing carols with her. It was a revelation of the strength of his affection for the young girl who had been in our home so much that she was like a big sister of his own. It was also a revelation of the jealous dislike he cherished for Ronald who had monopolized her since the Brixtons and their guests had taken possession of The Larches.

There is something highly ludicrous to many people in the spectacle of a small boy's jealousy toward some older boy or man who has taken away from himself the attentions of the girl or woman who is his goddess. She may be his school or Sunday school teacher, the councilor of his camp, or a neighbor's daughter. But whatever her relationship, though her age be 14 or 40, if he has set his young heart upon her, he is furiously and comically jealous of anything masculine who claims her attention.

But though I cannot help a quiet smile at their antics, my amusement is always overshadowed by sympathy for the very real suffering behind such emotional exhibitions. And in the case of my own idolized little son, I comprehended his plan and shared it as I did his joy and naive delight in what he patiently thought was Ronald's defeat.

I usually play for the Christmas Carol singing, though Lillian sometimes relieves me, but this evening I motioned Mary to the piano when we were finally gathered round it. I knew that there would be far more harmonious singing at midnight when the Brixton party of college men and boarding school girls should come over to join our Christmas Eve celebration, but there was something about this group of beloved relatives and friends drawn close by the Christmas spirit which made my heart fairly ache with tenderness. I felt I must see them together, as I could not do if I were at the piano.

My father and Dicky's mother, their fine and, high-bred faces reflecting their pride and happiness in Junior, stood close together, singing softly, their eyes fixed upon their grandchild, who, shouting lustily the words he knows by heart, was at the same time showing Roderick where the lines were upon the copies of the carols which each one of us held. But one hand was clinging tightly to Marion's, and in the intervals of his coaching he alternated adoring glances at her with ludicrously triumphant ones at unconscious Ronald, who, not guessing his role of crushed and hated rival, was neglecting his music score in watching Marion. At the piano Noel was bending over Mary, turning her music.

Henry and William had come straight to me upon my coming back to the living room, and with Katherine's aid I guided them through the Carols, unfamiliar to them. With one hand laid affectionately upon my shoulder, Lillian stood close beside me, her powerful contralto blending with the clear sopranos of Marion and Mary, while Dicky and Harry, achieving a creditable baritone and bass, completed a quartet effect which the members at least enjoyed to the utmost.

A little apart from the group, and yet distinctly of it, Katie and Jim—who always pulls his exuberant wife back to what he evidently considers "her place"—were also singing. Katie, with with enthusiastic enjoyment, Jim, more stolidly but with equal earnestness.

My own voice faltered and stopped as I watched the group, containing all my own "blood kin" save one, my "brother-cousin" Jack Bickett, who is Katherine's husband, the friends who are dearest to me, and the faithful couple who have kept my domestic path clear of stones for so long. And the inevitable, saddening thought of all such yearly, time-honored rites came to me—how many years longer would our group remain unchanged?

Anxiously I scrutinized my father's face and that of my mother-in-law, noting uneasily that each successive year was taking its toll of their vigor. Suppose that before another year——

I shook myself free of that terrifying thought, resolutely banished also the shadowing visions of Robert Savarin upon his deathbed in his mountain home, with his eyes fixed upon his portrait of Lillian, of Jack Bickett in the wilds of South America, with the uncertainty of his attitude toward Katherine making her life a hell of uncertainty, and of Hugh Grantland, the most loyal friend I ever have known, and whose fate, dead or alive, was an ever present question.

I buried deep also in that moment, my jealous resentment against Edith Fairfax for her endeavor to make a breach between Dicky and me, my fear of Jack Leslie, of whom we had had no trace since he instigated the attack upon Noel, my uneasiness concerning Charles Owen, providentially, however, absent from the Christmas house party at The Larches, and my anxiety concerning Philip Veritzen's possible reaction—to say nothing of Dicky's attitude afterward—to the plea I meant to make for Noel and Mary.

Nothing, I said to myself fiercely, should spoil this Christmas Eve for me. I added, as I saw Junior's eyes fixed upon Marion, nothing should spoil my little son's happiness for the few remaining minutes of the Christmas Eve which he had been promised below stairs.

Household Hints

When housecleaning the bookcase this year don't forget to sprinkle a few drops of oil of lavender on the shelves and dispel any mouldy smell that may be around them.

To send coins safely by mail place the coins flat on a piece of paper and stick a small strip of adhesive plaster over them and onto the paper; then fold the paper as usual and place it in the envelope. This prevents the coins from breaking through the envelope and becoming lost in the mail.

Some persons contend that expensive china and glassware is extravagance, but the cheaper grades cannot stand the same things that the better grades can. They both chip and crack more readily, and in consequence there is a great deal more breakage than with the better grade.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Good Sense in Eating Adds to Healthy Life

There is a group of gall bladder and liver disturbances that are uncomfortable ailments. They may be caused by infection, formation of stones which cause mechanical obstruction, or by faulty diet.

Dr. Copeland

Many liver and gall bladder disturbances may be due entirely to improper diet. Indeed, in most cases of gall bladder disease, particularly in acute catarrhal jaundice, there is usually a long history of dietary neglect. This may be the only apparent cause.

Persons who are overfond of fried, salty, greasy foods, rich gravy, and dishes exceedingly rich in fat, are particularly likely to have such disturbances. Indeed, many a man digs his grave with his teeth.

Gall bladder conditions are most frequently found in women who have had several children and who have passed the age of 40. It is the custom among medical men to refer to this group as "fair, fat and forty." This is often an accurate description of individuals who complain of liver or gall bladder upsets.

It must be admitted that the importance of diet in relation to various ailments may have been over-stated. As a matter of fact, this possible factor has been stressed in all conceivable ailments.

Of course, I do not wish to minimize the importance of good sense in eating. In the group of ailments I have mentioned, however, diet does play an important part.

For such persons it is important to avoid foods that are rich in fat, or which are fried or greasy. Butter may be included in the diet, but only in small amounts.

Foods, like eggs, that are rich in certain chemical substances, are to be avoided. Sugars and starches must be taken in moderation.

In general, where these ailments threaten, avoid the following foods: Eggs, peas, white beans, cauliflower, Brussels sprouts, radishes, cucumbers, cabbages, sauerkraut and onions. Pies, pastries, cakes and puddings are to be excluded from the diet. Any food that is known to cause digestive disturbances should be avoided.

Excessive eating is never advisable, but must be avoided in these troubles. It is wise to eat frequently, perhaps, and little at a time. Water should be consumed at each meal. At least six to eight glasses of water per day is recommended.

All tendency toward constipation should be overcome. Regular elimination is essential. This can be accomplished by regularity in meals. Be sure to eat plenty of fresh fruits and vegetables.

Answers to Health Queries

J. R. C. Q.—What can be done for undulant fever? 2—What can be done for pimples?

A.—There is no specific treatment for the disease. The patient receives much the same general care as the typhoid patient. Intravenous injections of mercurochrome have been used. It is advisable for the patient to be under the care of a competent physician. 2—Correct the diet, by cutting down on sugar, starches and coffee. Eat simple food. Exercise is, of course, essential.

* * *

S. S. L. Q.—What causes cracking joints?

A.—This is usually due to lack of synovial fluid. Massage the parts with warm codliver oil before retiring. This should help you.

A READER. Q.—What is a floating kidney?

A.—A floating kidney is one which is not fastened to its normal position, due to lack of fat about the kidney.

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

Hair grows six inches a year. Let the woman who would dye her locks remember that. Every two months there will appear an inch of white hair close to the scalp, which will require retouching.

Some of the new sachet powders are delicious; make you take a deep breath and want more. Make small satin bags, place in hat boxes, on dress hangers, in handkerchief and glove containers. New blends have lasting qualities that sachet powders have had in the past.

How about your lung flushing? Do you keep your ventilators washed out with fresh air? Better had, if you're going to stand in the front ranks of the beauteous babies. Breathing exercises make you chesty, put so much wim and wigor into the complexion that you can chuck the old rouge compact and grow real blushes. Diaphragmatic breathing flattens the tummy that has accumulated rolls of fat, it also aids digestion. Fresh air is the free-to-all cosmetic and most of the gals don't think about it at all.

Women with too much spread amidship can roll their hips away. Rolling fulfills two purposes: it reduces excess tonnage and it gives the family a good laugh. Get down on the floor. Lie on the back. Lift the right leg, turn toward the left and roll, stretching muscles of thighs and torso. Unless there is plenty of muscle pull, reduction will not take place. After three rolls to the right, do three rolls to the left. Stop and rest, taking three deep inhalations. Persevere. Time will show results.

Time was when the city gal was depicted in a sassy frock perched on heels and wearing a hat with perky feather, while the small-town gal appeared in a gingham apron. A lot of water has run under the beauty bridge since then. In the most remote wilderness, girls have the same coiffures, lipsticks and general fashions as the citizenesses of the big burgs. Beauty culture has been spread over the map like butter on a slice of bread. It is within the reach of every woman. And the spectacle of life as it moves and has its being is made more attractive thereby.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Early Invitation More Convenient

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Will you be so kind as to settle this question for me? How long before any formal dinner dance should you invite your escort? Would three or four weeks in advance be too long? E. B.

This invitation should be given as soon as possible, that is whenever you yourself know about the dinner dance. This makes planning more convenient. The time you name would not be too early.

Use Your Knife and Fork

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

A girl friend and I have had an argument about the correct way to eat chops and also chicken when one are are little paper frills . . . it. She thinks it is correct to hold either one in your fingers when the frills are on them. I know once in a while I see people who do that, but I think that both should be cut with the knife regardless of paper frills. Will you please advise us?

MRS. B.

The paper frills on either chops or pieces of chicken are not for making it more convenient for us to take these pieces of meat in our fingers to eat the meat. They are to cover the ends of the bones, which are browned in the broiling.

It is not correct to take either a chop or a piece of chicken in our fingers to eat it. Quite right you are in your social judgment about this.

PIRATES HOPE FOR ACTION

Sport Comment

By JAMES J. LONG

Loaf May Hurt Campolo. | Weather Checks Bucs.
Walberg Excels Stars. | Great Eleven Recalled.
Pitt Athletes Honored. | Pittsburgher's Chance.

LOUGHRAN APPEARS PROBABLE WINNER

EVERY PHYSICAL ADVANTAGE will be on the side of Victorio Campolo when he enters the ring with Tommy Loughran in New York tonight for a 10-round fight that is expected to qualify the winner for a place in the heavyweight championship running, but from the standpoint of Queensberry equipment and present form the edge will be with Loughran, and on the strength of those items Tommy from this distance looks like the probable victor. The chances appear to be that the bout will go the limit, with the Philadelphian getting the decision.

Victorio Campolo

Naturally, a man of Campolo's immense size may prove troublesome to any opponent when he has a fair amount of ability to back it up. The Argentine giant towers 6 feet 6½ inches above sea level and scales 230 pounds, which means that Loughran will be handicapped to the extent of six inches in height and reach and about 40 pounds in weight, Too, Campolo carries in his right hand a wicked punch that might be expected to do a lot of damage to any foeman if fairly landed.

BUT IN A general fistic sense, Victorio does not measure up to Loughran's standard. He is not in Tommy's class as a boxer, cannot equal him in speed, and is far behind him in experience. It is difficult to figure that a man who could not beat Phil Scott, and who got only a defeat and a draw in two meetings with Johnny Risko, can be good enough to cope successfully with a master ring workman like Loughran.

The most impressive thing Campolo ever did was to knock out the tough Tom Heeney in nine rounds. Otherwise his record shows nothing to indicate that he ranks with Loughran. Tommy beat Risko twice and there is no question as to what he could do to Scott.

CAMPOLO, WHO LACKS fighting fire and aggressiveness even at his best, hasn't fought since he stopped Salvatore Rugirello on June 23 last, so that he has been loafing practically 11 months. In two years he has boxed a total of only 45 rounds. A fighter can't improve nor keep himself in top form with so little work.

A knockout would appear to be Victorio's only chance to win tonight, and the odds are all against that. Jack Sharkey was the only man ever to stop Loughran, and the difference between Sharkey and Campolo in fighting class and ability is quite a few kilometers.

THE ATHLETICS are speeding along at the pace that made them world champions the last two years. Yesterday's victory over the White Sox, who, like the Indians, have lost six games in succession, was the sixth straight for the Mackmen and kept them in first place against the rush of the Yankees. Joe McCarthy's club has won five in a row and is only 14 points behind the leaders. Nobody dreamed that in the first month of the season Rube Walberg would come within one game of winning as many victories as Lefty Grove and George Earnshaw combined. Walberg's win yesterday was his fifth in six games pitched. Grove and Earnshaw have won only three each.

Eddie Schultz

ATHLETES SHARED IN the honors distributed at the University of Pittsburgh tap day exercises recently, with Eddie Schultz, Eddie Hirshberg, Ray Kopnicki, Bus Albright, Nate Ganger, Bill Keller, Edward McBride and Howard Odell all coming in for award.

To Schultz, varsity footballer, was awarded the George Wharton Pepper prize for the most representative Pitt student. Eddie not only has been an A student during his four years in school, but has taken part in more than 10 campus societies. Hirshberg, football captain, was tapped for Omicron Delta Kappa, senior honorary scholastic and activities society.

BESIDES BEING A PRETTY good end, Hirshberg is a contributor to both the "Pitt Weekly" and the "Pitt Panther," his contributions being in the form of both verse and prose. Albright, basketball center, was honored by two societies. He was made a member of Kappa Phi Kappa, professional educational fraternity, and was also tapped for Pi Tau Phi, honorary scholastic society, which is petitioning Phi Beta Kappa.

Kopnicki, Big Four javelin champion, was also bid to this group. Druids, honorary scholastic and activities sophomore society, bid four who were athletes as freshmen—Ganger, tennis ace; Keller, successor to Pete Bowen in track; Odell, football halfback, and McBride, basketball star.

THE PIRATES DIDN'T get the best break that could be imagined when a stretch of cold and rainy weather in the East forced them to remain idle the last three days, after they had won the first two games on the trip and appeared finally to be swinging into their stride. Such long interruptions are not helpful to a club that has just started to click and get confidence in itself. The setback is partly balanced, however, by the fast that practically the whole league was idle for the same period. A double-header between the Braves and Reds in Boston on Tuesday was the only action in the National loop in three straight days, an unusual run of postponements.

YOU MAY FIND it hard to believe that driving an outboard motor boat at top speed is a tougher racket than playing football against such elevens as Notre Dame and the Big Ten Conference teams, but Red Woodworth, star Northwestern lineman, goes on record with that assertion after winning the race of 142½ miles from Albany to New York.

"I never took such a beating up before in all my life," Woodworth says. "At the finish there was a yawning crack three feet long in a plank in the bottom of my boat just forward of the step. I banged that open just a few minutes after leaving Albany. If it will do that to the bottom of your boat, imagine what it does to your insides. Boy, my stomach feels it yet."

DR. BURLEIGH CRUIKSHANK, of Philadelphia, who may succeed Dr. S. S. Baker as president of Washington and Jefferson College, was one of football's best centers when he played for W. & J. in 1912, 1913 and 1914 under Coach Bob Folwell. The teams of which he was a member defeated Pitt in all three years.

Theodore E. Mueller

He was captain of the eleven of 1914, which made a sensational record, defeating Yale, Rutgers, Georgetown, West Virginia and others in addition to Pitt, losing only to Harvard in a schedule of 11 games, and rolling up a score of 105 points against Dickinson. Patterson, Goodwin, Fleming, Spiegel, Wesbecher, McCreight, Day and Ruble were among the other prominent players on that team. The Rev. Cruikshank served as an assistant to Coach Folwell in 1915.

THEODORE E. MUELLER, owner of Pittsburgher, the horse that will be the hope of the West in the Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs tomorrow afternoon, left yesterday for Louisville to be present at the running of the classic. He is more confident than ever that his big colt has a chance. Until this week he felt none too sure of Pittsburgher's ability to go well in mud and feared a wet track for the Derby, but since the Big Train ran away from a field of Derby eligibles on Tuesday when the muck was fetlock deep the owner believes he will give a creditable account of himself tomorrow whether the course is fast or heavy. In a telegram to Mueller, Trainer J. H. Moody reported Pittsburgher in tip-top shape. Jockey Charley Corbett, who has ridden the colt in all of his races this spring, will have the mount on him in the Derby.

NEW COURSE DEDICATED BY ARMSTRONG

South Park Par

Until a new clubhouse is built in South Park, the county links there will be played under a temporary arrangement, with golfers using the seventeenth tee, instead of the first, as a matter of convenience. The temporary clubhouse is handiest to that tee. Here's the way they'll play the course this season:

1	(17)	510 yds.	par 5	10	(8) 153 yds.	par 3

By VERN SWARTSFAGER

The formal opening of the South Park County links took place at 1:30 p. m. today, with Chairman of County Commissioners Joseph G. Armstrong dedicating the new golf plant. Many golfers who had secured permits were on hand hours before the course was officially thrown open to the public.

In the official party at the opening ceremony were Armstrong and his associates, Commissioners E. V. Babcock and Charles C. McGovern; Director of County Parks Paul B. Riis, Harmar D. Denny, Jr., president of the West Penn Golf Association; George A. Ormiston, secretary of the W. P. G. A., and Richard C. Long, former president of the W. P. G. A.

Watts Gunn, West Penn amateur champion; Ray Babcock, former district titlist; Vincent Eldred, former West Penn open champion; Joseph I. Crawford, of Oakmont; the city's representative, Director of Public Works Edward G. Lang; Emil Loeffler, Oakmont's noted pro-greenkeeper, and Mrs. Joseph G. Armstrong, who acted during the informal opening of the layout last fall, also were present.

John Jay Burke, city office manager for the parks, who has a colorful background in municipal golf circles, introduced the speakers.

Following the dedication ceremony the first official party to tee off included Denny, Ormiston, Long and Ray Babcock. After them went Gunn, Crawford, Loeffler and Eldred. The last quartet consisted of Commissioner Babcock and partner; Director of Public Works Lang and Mrs. Armstrong.

BUC PLAYOFF DATES SET

Double-headers are piling up for the Pirates on their next eastern trip as a result of this week's postponements. As previously announced, the game knocked out in Brooklyn on Tuesday will be played off as part of a double-header on June 23, and today it was announced at Buccaneer headquarters that Wednesday's canceled contest in New York will be staged as the second event of a dual bill on June 20, while yesterday's affair will be coupled up with the regular event of August 12.

As a regularly scheduled double-header is on the Corsair books for June 27 in Philadelphia, the Bucs now have three bargain cards slated within a period of eight days on the next seaboard cruize.

SHOOTERS TIE FOR HONORS

G. A. Gallagher and H. Melchi each broke 90 out of a possible 100 targets at the regular shoot of the Western Pennsylvania Trapshooters' Association at the South Hills Sportsmen's Association traps yesterday. A high wind, blowing directly in the faces of the gunners, made shooting difficult.

In the 50-target handicap race, Dr. Raymaley, of the Wilkinsburg Gun Club, was first with a score of 44. Melchi finished second with 43 and Anderson third with 42.

Ruffing Is Denied Hall of Fame Berth

ST. LOUIS, May 15.—Charley Ruffing held the Browns hitless up to the eighth inning as the Yankees scored their fifth straight win, 14-2, here yesterday. The losers got one hit in the eighth inning and three in the ninth. Lou Gehrig hit his fifth and sixth home runs of the season.

SPRINTERS RETURN

SAN FRANCISCO, May 15.—(AP.)—George Simpson, Ohio State University sprinter, and Harlow Rothert, Stanford University weight thrower, sailed through the Golden Gate yesterday, returning from a three-month tour of the Antipodes and the Orient.

BELIEVE IT OR NOT (Reg. by U. S. Patent Office) By RIPLEY

(On request, sent with stamped addressed envelope, Ripley will send proofs and details of anything depicted by him in these cartoons.)

EXPLANATIONS OF RIPLEY CARTOONS OF YESTERDAY: MOULAI-IDRISS—THE SACRED CITY OF THE MOHAMMEDANS—Idriss I, the patron saint of Morocco, who died in the ninth century while inhaling the deadly fumes of a phial of perfume sent to him by his kinsman, the Kalif Harun al Rashid, was buried at Djebel Zerhoun, at the place which now bears his name, Moulai-Idriss. The green-tiled tomb of the saint, known as the Zaouia of Moulai-Idriss, is one of the most sacred spots in the Mohammedan world. In 1,100 years, the town of Moulai-Idriss, a tumbled mass of houses clustering around the sanctuary of the saint, never has sheltered an unbeliever within its walls overnight. The precinct of the temple was forbidden ground to me. The stern countenance of its guardians discouraged even a glimpse of the famous tomb. HAMMOUCH BEN HADJI RAN 70 MILES IN ONE NIGHT—During the French conference with the Riff delegates in Oudjda, in April, 1926, Abd el Krim, chief of the Riff, dispatched the 67-year-old Hammouch Ben Hadji with this brief message to Si Mohammed Azerkane, his representative, "No peace without autonomy." The old Riff warrior covered the distance of 70 miles between sunset and sunrise in a single night. I have seen the rough terrain over which the old warrior traveled, and, considering his advanced age, I believe this to be a most remarkable marathon feat.

TITLE BATTLE UNDER FIRE

NEW YORK, May 15.—(AP.)—The law has reached into the heavyweight box fight business again and decreed that another world championship battle must first be fought by a couple of squads of lawyers.

Without previous warning of his feeling in the matter, David Fischer, an insurance agent, sent his attorney, J. H. Mellen, up to the bar in the Cleveland Court of Appeals to request of Judge Manuel Levine an injunction to prevent the July 3 match between Max Schmeling and Young Stribling in Cleveland.

He was ready to argue that the bout is a prize fight and that prize fighting is illegal in the state of Ohio. Judge Levine refused to accept his petition on the ground that his court had no jurisdiction, but Attorney Mellen promptly filed his plea all over again in the Court of Common Pleas.

County School Track Meet at Oval Today

The twelfth annual track and field meet for borough and township senior and junior high schools of Allegheny County is being staged at Schenley Oval this afternoon. The junior high schools represented in the competition are Avalon, East McKeesport, South Fayette, Mt. Lebanon, West View, North Fayette, Edgewood, Glassport, Springdale, East Deer, Ben Avon, Brentwood, Ingram, Neville, Bridgeville, Leetsdale and Verona. The senior high schools in the meet are Glassport, South Fayette, Shaler, Millvale, Mt. Lebanon, Crafton, Elizabeth, Etna, Springdale, Verona, Bridgeville, Leetsdale and Coraopolis.

DUKES PLAN GOLF TEAMS

For the second time since Elmer Layden became director of athletics at Duquesne University, a varsity golf team will be formed. The call for candidates has been issued from the athletic offices and experts of the mashie niblick will band together for competition with other college and university teams.

Coach Layden himself is a golf addict and he has looked forward to forming such a team. The last Duquesne golf aggregation was abandoned in 1929 following the close of the season.

Layden left yesterday for Davenport, Ia., but he is expected to return Monday. The Dukes expect plenty of candidates and Layden will take immediate action upon his return.

Buc Outfielder Ill; Frock Visits Here

Outfielder Fred Bennett was absent from the practice session of the Pirate reserves at Forbes Field today. Bennett was stricken with a stomach ailment yesterday.

Catcher Rolly Hemsley, indefinitely suspended, is to work out with the "home guard" each day until reinstated. First Baseman Gus Suhr's injured leg is mending slowly. He is undergoing daily electrical treatment.

Fillmore Frock, 22-year-old son of Sam Frock, old-time Pirate pitcher who died six years ago, visited Barney Dreyfuss yesterday. Frock seeks to have Dreyfuss assist him in landing a berth with a minor league club.

POLO MATCH TONIGHT

CHARLEROI, Pa., May 15.—A benefit polo match, the proceeds of which will go to the local team of the Middle Atlantic League, will be staged here tonight. George Vanderbeck and E. V. Babcock, Jr., have selected teams from outstanding polosts of the district to take part in the match.

Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, May 15.—The National League has adopted a new ball for the current season and if the weather doesn't break soon, the league will have to adopt a new schedule. It was a cinch for the ballmakers to raise the stitches on the spheres, but take it from Messrs. Heydler, Stoneham, Dreyfuss et al, is is no cinch to raise the dough to pa, off the athletes if you keep them idle and housed in a hotel with permission to eat three meals a day.

On top of three days of intensive hotel life, our Pirates today were beginning to resemble bartenders. Some of the bigger fellows may need another spring training season to get back in shape, while even little Lloyd Waner was sporting a bay window as he went in to breakfast this morning.

"I'm eating three big meals every day and sleeping most of the time," said Brother Lloyd by way of explanation.

PLAYERS WAX FAT

Skipper Ens intends to put his players on half rations if the wet spell continues. Few of the Giants have been seen since the flood started, but it would not be surprising if Shanty Hogan has to enter the Polo Grounds by way of the auto gate when he reports for duty today. Shanty in his normal form is no gazella or dancing dervish.

But Ens is hopeful his hirelings will be able to take off some of the poundage today. Master McGraw and his colleagues will attempt to stage the first and last game of the bob-tailed series this afternoon. So far as the Pirates are concerned they would like to make it a triple-header so they would not have to run off the extra games in the heat of the subsequent trips.

KREMER TO HURL

Well, anyhow, Remy Kremer still holds the pitching slip for the game that may be staged this afternoon. McGraw's plans to work three lefthanders against the Pirates are all shot to pieces, but there was still a chance that Walker, Mitchell and Hubbell could get into action. Skipper Ens would like to shell all three of them off the hill in one engagement. But that isn't likely to happen. Walker is expected to start the slated battle.

The spoiled game of yesterday will be played here as part of a doubleheader on Wednesday, August 12.

Says Nick Altrock

Baseball's Comedian

Nick Altrock

CLEVELAND, May 15.—This is no time to strike for higher wages. Today I said to Griff, "I am worth $50 a week more."

Griff said, "You ain't worth $50 dead or alive unless you are wanted for murder."

I said, "My job of being on the coaching lines is keeping the team ahead."

Griff said, "You said it. Since you've been on the coach lines we have led the league in men left on bases."

I said, "I will split the difference and take $25 a week more."

Griff said, "I am thinking of laying off six men and one clown."

We finally compromised and I borrowed two bucks.

LOCALS QUALIFY TRACK STARS

Peabody and Schenley track and field squads scored triumphs in city meets yesterday. Peabody won top honors in an intersectional meet at Schenley Oval, in which men were qualified for the annual P. I. A. A. championship event, slated to be held in Altoona next week.

This year, City League teams compete as a special district of the P. I. A. A., instead of part of the W. P. I. A. L. as in years past. Yesterday's first, second and third place winners will take part in the state meet.

Peabody finished out in front with a score of 60½ points. Westinghouse was second with 37½; Allderdice third with 10; Fifth Avenue fourth with nine and Perry fifth with seven. Allegheny did not score.

Roscoe Fleming, Westinghouse's crack Negro flyer, took two first places and broke one record. He ran the 440 in 51 1-5 seconds for a new mark and also won the 220. His time in the latter race was 22.4.

Schenley defeated Langley, Oliver, South, Carrick and South Hills in another intersectional meet at Langley. The Bellefielders scored 56½ points, Langley was second with 49; Oliver third with 32; Carrick fourth with 23; South Hills fifth with 13 and South last with two and one-half.

ANDERSON BEATEN

CANTON, O., May 15.—(AP.)—Freddie Fitzgerald, Youngstown lightweight, won a unanimous decision over Eddie Anderson, of Chicago, in 10 rounds here last night. Knocked down in the fourth, Anderson came back to carry the last two rounds.

GUM STRANGLES FEED LINES

why Tydol Gasolines are 99 98/100% Gum-Free

1. SELECTED CRUDES
Crudes selected for their cleanliness are "multi-fractionated" by super-refining equipment costing millions.

2. "GUM-TAPPED"
In towering fractionation stills of the most advanced type, the gum-carrying gasoline is drawn off for re-distillation long before the refining process is completed.

3. GUM-FREE BLENDING

SCIENTIFIC TESTS EXPOSE HIGH GUM CONTENT

- 3 ounces of GUM in 10 gallons of Gasoline "X."
- 2⅝ ounces of GUM in 10 gallons of Gasoline "Y."
- 1¾ ounces of GUM in 10 gallons of Gasoline "Z."
- 1⅜ ounces of GUM in 10 gallons of Gasoline "W."
- 1 ounce of GUM in 10 gallons of Gasoline "Q."

GUM . . . black death to motors . . . rides in every gallon of improperly refined gasoline that you buy . . . Strangling feed lines. Fouling and sticking valves. Stealing power . . . Upsetting performance and inviting repair bills.

You may run into gummy gasolines any time . . . and where you least expect them. Just because a gasoline is clear doesn't mean that it's also gum-free . . . Make sure you're playing safe. Side step the dangers of gum. Use Hi-test TYDOL.

Millions have been spent to give you extra power. Extra balance. Extra purity. Extra economy . . . And at no price premium, why be without it? Fill up with TYDOL today.

West Penn and City baseball leagues both flash games this evening that should attract large crowds. Both of the loops are getting behind in their schedules, and the managers, together with players, are keen to catch up with the frays on the postponed list.

In the City League, two good games are listed. A battle of the North Side will take place at the Pleasant Valley grounds, when the Civics and the Buicks clash. Whatever the outcome there is going to be a fight. Art Rooney will be in the Civics' lineup, but whether the Rooney outfit can beat Dubuque is another matter.

STEELE MAY HURL

At Homewood, Manager Daly will make another belated effort to pry off the lid, this time the J. L. Thomas club, of Bloomfield, is scheduled to meet the City champs.

Manager Pasquelli, of the Linwood club, is hoping to get his second home game under way with the Reliance Life nine. The Insurance boys, under the leadership of George Miller, will be making their first trip to Hartman Park, and should attract a banner crowd.

At Monongahela, the Mississippi Glass nine, of Floreffe, hooks up with the Keenie nine and the other game brings the Indians, under Joe Montana, into action against Riverview.

Horton Smith Loses Golf Lead to Cotton

SOUTHPORT, Eng., May 15.—(INS.)—Henry Cotton, British star golfer, went into the lead again today in the Southport professional Golf tournament here by shooting a brilliant 68 in today's third round, for a total of 215, three strokes under his nearest American competitor, Horton Smith.

Smith carded a 72 on today's first round, for a total of 218, while Tony Manero, another American, took 76 for a total of 226. Joe Kirkwood, third of the American quartet in the tournament, had a card of 79, for a total of 231. Abe Mitchell did a 69 today for a 54-hole total of 220.

TOURNEY PLANS OFF

CHICAGO, May 15.—(AP.)—Plans for a $10,000 Chicago open golf tournament this summer were abandoned today by the Chicago Junior Chamber of Commerce. The tournament sponsors decided that because of business conditions it would be better to postpone the venture.

SPORT VIGNETTES

Every day in every way this Pittsburgher, local entry in the Kentucky Derby, to be run at Churchill Downs tomorrow, looks better and better as a winning prospect, what with its fine trials at the scene of the contest, while the favorites have been showing up one another . . . Twenty Grand defeated Equipoise in the Kentucky Jockey Club stakes at the Downs last year, setting the track record for a mile and an American record for 2-year-olds at 1:35 . . . Ladder, which ran third to Mate and Twenty Grand in the close finish of the Preakness last Saturday, also was third in this test . . . Equipoise, fourth in the Preakness and the early Derby favorite, has much lost ground to make up in tomorrow's test . . . Gallant Fox, which won both the Preakness and the Derby last year, was the first runner to accomplish this trick in many years and the law of averages is against Mate to repeat the achievement.

Tommy Crawley, local lightweight boxer, claims he fought his recent bout with Paul Junior at Bangor, Me., while in a mental fog . . . Junior came running out of his corner in the opening round and landed a right flush on the jaw and the lights went out for Tommy . . . The next thing Tommy remembers was that he was being rubbed down in his dressing room after the fight and recognized the fellow who was working over him . . . "I know you; you took care of me yesterday," he said. "What happened—did I get knocked out?" . . . He was told he had been floored three times in the first round and twice in the second, and had come on to make a great fight, chasing his opponent all around the ring in the last three heats. At a result, he's due to return to Bangor for another fight shortly.

Battling Gizzy, Donora's club fighter, has reduced his belt line so much following his long layoff that in his bout with Young Chiodo at Johnstown a few nights ago his tights kept slipping down and finally Referee Barney McGuire had to chase him to the dressing room for a new pair with which to continue the battle..... Jimmy McLarnin, the welterweight belter, is one of many boxing authorities who are picking Victorio Campolo to punch out Tommy Loughran in their battle in Madison Square Garden, New York, tonight . . . The Campolo guy is a big fellow with a tremendous reach, and he will have something like 40 pounds on clever, but light-hitting, Tommy, and he hits a terrific right to the body . . . According to McLarnin, fighting Campolo will be different for Tommy than boxing two waiters like Max Baer and Ernie Schaaf . . . He says Campolo will carry the fight to Tommy and blaze away with both guns, and Tommy doesn't go so well against crowding hitters—HARRY KECK.

M'TIERNAN GETS NEW YORK GO

By HARRY KECK,
Sports Editor.

Jack (Buck) McTiernan, middleweight pride of Swissvale, has jumped into the Big Time. His manager, Bunny Buntach, of Braddock, today announced that he has signed his man to meet Ignacio Ara, of Spain, in the 10-round semi-final to the Vince Dundee-Ben Jeby bout in a middleweight elimination tournament in Madison Square Garden, New York, June 4. The match was closed with Tom McArdle, the Garden matchmaker, via telephone.

Buck McTiernan

Dundee recently twice defeated Len Harvey, the European champion, in New York, and Jeby followed with a win over Harvey. Just prior to the first Dundee-Harvey bout, McTiernan lost an interesting battle to Vince in Motor Square Garden here. That was on last Christmas day. A victory over Ara will land McTiernan a match with the winner of the Dundee-Jeby fuss for the title so far as New York State is concerned. Mickey Walker's claim to the 160-pound crown has been vacated by the New York commission because of his failure to defend it while campaigning against the heavyweights.

McTiernan had been tentatively matched to box Tommy Freeman, former welterweight champion, in the Meyers Bowl's second show in North Braddock, one week from next Monday night, but this match now will have to be set back until after his New York debut, Buntach said.

CHURCHILL DOWNS MUTUELS

DONAGHY VICTOR

Ed Donaghy captured the fourth oldtimers' three-cushion billiard tournament which was completed at the William Penn parlors last night by defeating William Frood in the final match, 15 to 13. In the semi-finals, he won over Otto Mays, 15 to 5.

Princeton Appoints Sport Supervisor

PRINCETON, N. J., May 15.—(AP.)—Dr. Charles W. Kennedy, chairman of the Princeton board of athletic control, has announced the appointment of Thurston J. Davies, '16, as supervisor of sports, a new office just created by the board.

Asa A. Bushnell, '21, secretary of the board, has been appointed graduate manager of athletics.

SHOEMEN LOSE FIRST PLACE

Book Shoe was toppled from the lead in the City League last evening when the J. L. Thomas nine rallied in the last half of the final inning to gain a 10-to-9 decision. The defeat sent the Shoemen into third place.

In the Greater Pittsburgh League, Verona nosed out Fintex, 4 to 3; Edgewood blanked Whitaker, 2-0; Murs walloped North Bessemer, 17 to 3, and Immaculate Heart pounded the Smiths, 12 to 0.

The Reick-McJunkins Dairy nine downed the B. & O. entry in a Commercial and Industrial League fray, 6 to 1.

The Homestead Grays defeated the North Side Civics, 5 to 1, in an independent tussle. Linden Grove won over the St. Clair Frogs, 4 to 2, and Protectory A. C. defeated the Mt. Oliver Cubs, 5 to 3.

PUBLIC LINKS PLANS SET

NEW YORK, May 15.—(AP.)—Plans for the tenth annual amateur public links golf championship, to be played at the Keller golf course, St. Paul, Minn., August 4 to 8, have been announced by the United States Golf Association.

Each city is allowed to enter six players, to be selected by the local U. S. G. A. representative, in any manner he sees fit. If qualifying competition is held it must be completed before July 11. The only qualification for entry is that the players be amateurs without membership in or privileges of any private golf club.

Four players from each city, to be selected from its six entries before the start of the tournament, constitute that city's team to compete for the Harding Cup team trophy. The players are allowed to accept traveling expenses to the tournament and $6 a day while there without endangering their amateur status.

George Susce Sent To Springfield Club

The Springfield club, of the Eastern League, has purchased Catcher George Susce, former Schenley High School star, from the Kansas City club, of the American Association.

Susce started his career in organized baseball as a member of the Phillies in the National League, with whom he remained two years.

Duke Preps Lose To Wilkinsburg

Wilkinsburg High School's tennis team scored a 5-to-1 victory over the Duke Preps on the Bluff courts yesterday afternoon. The Preps won their one point through a forfeiture in a doubles match.

A member of our Staff shopped London personally and bought about twenty different styles and types of Golf Shoes, ranging in price from $12 to $42, made by the most famous bootmakers of England and Scotland, and placed them before Charles H. Gibson, the Pro of Westward Ho!

All Labels, Prices and Identification Marks were removed, and the popular Pro of this picturesque sea-side links, picked Allan's of Edinburgh famous Thistle Brogue as his choice of the best Golf Shoe produced by Anybody at Any price.

And he told us Why. He liked the Last, with comfortable toe-room and ample "girth" across the ball and a "spring" to the bottom that made the 19th feel like the ninth.

He liked the Pattern and Design. The Perforated Thistle Wingtip, the Scotch Tongue, the full Calf Lining, the heavy Double Leather Sole and Riveted Spikes were all features that appealed to Charles H. Gibson, who is not only an excellent player himself, but has been selling Golf Shoes in his own shop for years.

James Allan's original Thistle Brogue cost us £4/10/0 ($21.42) in London, and we are showing it today in every Regal store window with the Regal Reproduction right beside it for $6.60.

In the Regal Reproduction the Last is identical in measurement and appearance and the Design is exactly the same. Our representative went to Glasgow to see Mr. Martin personally, and purchased the same Gorse Grain tannage used in the original shoe.

And this is only one of 25 Regal Reproductions of Famous High Priced Golf Shoes—Spiked leather soles—Cleated rubber soles—Moccasins and Bluchers—Imported Calfskins and Domestic Tannages, and they are all One Price $6.60.

CITY LEAGUE LEADERS FACE TESTS TODAY

CITY LEAGUE GAMES TODAY
Section I
Schenley at Peabody.
Westinghouse at Connelley.
Section II
South Hills at Oliver.
Langley at Allegheny.
Vocational at Carrick.

A right hefty scholastic sport card is on the platter for today with City League baseball as its chief part. Golf and tennis competition also are on tap.

In Section I, of the City League, Schenley and Peabody come together on the East Enders' diamond. A victory for Peabody will all but assure the sectional title, while a defeat will toss the teams back into a tie for the lead. Schenley fell out of the deadlock on Tuesday by being shut out by Allderdice. Peabody likely will use its ace-hurler, the no-hit, no-run star, Martin.

Westinghouse can get back into the running by defeating Connelley today, which it is a red-hot favorite to do.

OLIVER FACES TEST

In Section II, the leading Oliver nine meets a severe test in South Hills, but has a slight edge in that the game is to be played on the Brighton road diamond. Langley engages Allegheny in a tussle of secondary importance and Carrick and Vocational meet at Carrick.

Tennis duels bring together Kiski and Allderdice, and Shady Side and the Tech freshmen.

Two sectional W. P. I. A. L. baseball titles were decided yesterday as Scott High, of North Braddock, defending league champion, defeated Wilkinsburg, 5 to 4, to win the gonfalon in Section IV, and McKeesport won over Turtle Creek, 5 to 2, to take the honors in Section V.

SLOAN BEATEN

In beating Wilkinsburg, Scott hammered the Holy City's no-hit star, Sloan, for nine safe hits. A four-run rally in the fifth inning brought the victory.

COLTS CAPTURE DOUBLE WIN

Another shutout triumph was scored and another double bill won in the Middle Atlantic League yesterday, as all teams managed to get in ball games, for the first time this week.

The Cumberland Colts turned in both of the outstanding performances. First, Dicenzo hurled the Marylanders to a 3-0 win over Charleroi in the first game of a double bill, and then, in the second, Thomas outlasted four Guy hurlers as the Colts won, 7 to 5.

Johnstown and Charleston continued their battle for first place, both winning. Johnstown defeated Clarksburg, 9 to 6, and Charleston, although outhit, downed Scottdale, 3 to 1.

Hagerstown served Jeannette its sixth defeat, pounding out a 6-to-1 triumph. Beckley went on a batting rampage to snow Wheeling under a 14-4 score, and Fairmont nosed out Huntington, 3 to 2. Slaughter limited Huntington to three safe hits.

CRASH INJURES 10 FIREMEN

GIRARDVILLE, Pa., May 15.—(AP.)—Ten firemen were injured, two seriously, here when a fire truck and a coal truck, driven by brothers, crashed at a street intersection.

James Panno, 30, who had a leg broken and received internal injuries, and Joseph Kennedy, 21, who suffered a possible fractured skull, were the worst injured.

The fire truck was returning from answering a false alarm when the crash occurred.

W. J. Canavan was driver of the coal truck. His brother, Clarence Canavan drove the fire truck. A third brother, Martin Canavan, 22, on the fire truck, was slightly injured. Both trucks were going at a high speed when they crashed, witnesses said. Both turned over.

STATE GRANTS TAX REFUNDS

HARRISBURG, May 15.—(AP.)—An inheritance tax refund of $915 to the estate of Ella L. Wenk, deceased, Forest County, was announcey the Board of Finance and Revenue.

Other refunds included:

Corporation funds: Coronado Corporation, Pittsburgh, $1,032 on 1929 capital stock and loans tax; Keystone Driller Company, Beaver Falls, $1,049 on 1928 and 1929 capital stock tax.

Municipal refunds: Mercer County, $757 on 1928 loans tax.

Serves 24 Years Before Missing Session

GREENVILLE, Pa., May 15.—(AP.)—Everyone concerned disliked to see James M. Hittle, secretary of Greenville Borough, miss a meeting of the borough Council for the first time in 24 years, but it couldn't be helped.

Hittle is serving his twenty-fourth consecutive year as secretary. He was in Florida and bad roads in Georgia prevented him from reaching home in time for this week's meeting of Council. The councilmen talked of postponing the meeting, but the borough business was too pressing.

LUTHERANS SET DEDICATION

The Rev. Henry H. Bagger, president of the Pittsburgh synod of the Lutheran church, will preside at the dedication of the new Hebron Evangelical Lutheran Church, Main and Franklin streets, East Pittsburgh, Sunday, speaking at the morning service.

During the afternoon there will be a program at which the Rev. Dr. A. J. Holl and the Rev. Dr. J. E. Bittle will speak. At night the Rev. Dr. Harvey D. Hoover, of Gettysburg College, will speak. The Rev. Charles D. Russell is pastor.

Reserve Officers Outing Saturday

WAYNESBURG, Pa., May 15.—Members of the Reserve Officers' Association of the 394th Infantry, 99th Division, will hold their third annual field day Saturday at the Greene County Country Club, Waynesburg, when friends and wives of members will be guests.

ALCOHOL FLOW CURBED BY U. S.

WASHINGTON, May 15.—(AP.)—Diversion of industrial alcohol for bootleg purposes was said today by Dr. James M. Doran, industrial alcohol commissioner, to be less prevalent than in any previous year.

This he ascribed to the difficulty and expense involved in redistilling industrial alcohol denatured under improved government formulas. He declared:

A constant check on the amount of industrial alcohol that finds its way into bootleg channels is made possible by chemical analysis of samples of all liquor captured, it was said, as not even redistilling will eliminate all traces of the telltale denaturant.

LIMIT HOLIDAY BOAT CROWDS

WASHINGTON, May 15.—(AP.)—Public holidays will be marked by fewer disasters on excursion vessels if new safety measures of the Bureau of Navigation are successful.

Fifty inspectors are to be added June 1 and the bureau hopes to eliminate completely the overloading of vessels, which is blamed for many catastrophes.

The inspectors will stand at the gangplank of vessels, particularly on holidays, and halt the loading when the number of passengers allowed under the certificate of inspection is reached.

Bank Messenger Outwits Bandit

WASHINGTON, May 15.—(AP.)—A Negro bank messenger, William Mitchell, 35, outwitted a bandit and saved the Park Savings Bank $2,000. The bandit jumped on the running board of Mitchell's automobile at a stop traffic light and pressing a revolver to his side ordered the Negro to drive. Mitchell did. He sped his machine into a gasoline station and screamed for help. the bandit fled.

Hotel Assessment Protested as Unjust

C. B. Watkins and Pearl Watkins Campbell, trustees under the will of Thomas A. Watkins, owner of the Morrowfield Apartment Hotel, Murray avenue, Squirrel Hill, appealed to Common Pleas Court from the assessment of the property by the County Board for the Assessment and Revision of Taxes, alleging that the assessment for the building is excessive and unjust. The real estate is assessed at $25,000 and the building at $750,000.

Light Companies Ask Merger Permit

HARRISBURG, May 15.—(INS.)—The Chester County Light and Power Company asked the Public Service Commission to approve its acquisition of the property and franchises of the Kennett Gas Company, Kennett Square. Under the agreement of the two companies the Chester County Light and Power Company will pay $235,000 for the gas company and assume its indebtedness.

Bus Line Extension In Scranton Opposed

HARRISBURG, May 15.—(INS.)—Representatives of the Scranton, Montrose and Binghamton Railways Company and the Northern Bus Company protested the application of the Scranton Bus Company before the Public Service Commission for extension of its lines in Scranton. The protesting companies claim that extension of the applicant's lines would encroach on territory they now serve.

Students Guilty Of Rum Charge

OLATHE, Kan., May 15.—(INS.)—A verdict of guilty on charges of possession and transportation of liquor was returned by a jury in District Court here against Edward E. Tate and eorge Tooley, Jr., students at the University of Kansas. The youths were arrested in February while en route from Kansas City to Lawrence, Kan., with 11 pints of whisky in an automobile. The liquor was to have been used at a fraternity party.

HOLLYWOOD AND GOTHAM HAPPENINGS; LOCAL AMUSEMENT NOTES

Circus City in Two Hours Rises From Nothing As People Wait

By GEORGE SEIBEL

At 2 o'clock on Robert Garland's watch, which is 1 on God's clock, the circus of Sells & Floto was to open with an "introductory processional display led by the world's most popular star, Tom Mix." Not wishing to miss one of his Wild West whoops, I was there at 1:30. Ten minutes later the first elephant arrived. Then came a cowboy with the sad news that the train had been delayed by the Flood or something. Meanwhile pretzels and balloons would be sold to the waiting throng. At 1:40 a baby began to cry. Everybody looked as the citizens of Mt. Ararat would have looked if the Ark had been a day late. Another elephant appeared on the scene, followed by a camel. But three beasts do not make a circus, and the anxious multitude had come to see a circus, I decided that something must be done.

George Seibel

As soon as I had made this decision known, things began to happen. Tent-poles grew up out of the ground. Ropes like huge hempen worms uncoiled themselves. Sicilians and Swedes began to drive piles into the ground around puddles and soggy spots. The triumphant tenor of a seal was heard. A caravan of red wagons rumbled out upon the plateau of Recreation Park. Half a mile of gorgeous oil paintings, showing the Fat Lady in her dimpled avoirdupois, the Living Skeleton in his osseous attenuation, the Snake Charmer in her serpentine sinuosity, was unrolled before the hungry eyes of art connoisseurs.

There was going to be a circus after all.

The small boy began to shove past his natural enemy, the policeman, and the eternal feud between the hot dog and the ice cream cone broke out anew.

SAVING THE DAY

Determined to save what was left of the day, I was everywhere at once. The pile-drivers needed encouragement and they got it. The poles could easily have got mixed, but they were kept in order. The impatient lions had to be soothed and the blood-sweating hippopotamus had to get its hematidrosis drops. Tom Mix, "the beloved hero of the entire civilized world," needed some ink for his fountain pen to write autographs for 227 worshipful urchins. The Fire-Eater had run out of matches to prepare his light repast.

What man could do was done, and what was left of the day was saved. Within two hours of the arrival of the first elephant, the wide expanse of Recreation Park was a tented plain—the hot dogs barked, the popcorn popped and the small boy looked upon the lemonade when it was red. A lady resembling remotely the Goddess of Liberty beat a huge bass drum with whirling drumsticks. Celeste Aida did her daily dozen before Pharaoh, and a Scotch bagpiper scared the chameleons with his tunes and his plaid.

The circus began at 4 o'clock with the "introductory processional display," and the youngest grandfather on the lot was glad he had waited. I do not expect to get any credit for my share in the stupendous labor of putting things to rights in two hours, but I have the sublime consciousness of a noble deed unflinchingly done.

SUPPER HAD TO WAIT

There was no supper for the admirers of Tom Mix. Around 7 o'clock by Robert Garland's watch, which is 6 on God's clock, the Roman Standing Race was won by Quintus Publius Afer. Then everybody stayed to cheer the ex-sheriff of Montgomery County, Kan., and Tony, "the best-known horse in the world," before they went home to their pork and beans, and Tony to his well-earned oats.

And all evening they talked about Berta Beeson, queen of the silver wire, and Mabel Ward, the little maid who did 75 Lillian Leitzel whirls, and Al Goldsberry, sliding down a wire backward, and the clown with the telescope "looking for prosperity," and the clown dog with an electric tail light, and the ponderous pachyderms, and the equestrian wonders, and the human frog, and the aerial butterflies, and all the other myriad marvels, the microcosm of miracles, conjured up by the names of Sells-Floto and Tom Mix.

It was all worth waiting for, and the crowd did not have to wait for the evening performance, and today Sells and Floto will get everything to East Liberty without my heroic assistance and strategic direction.

Taft to Address Chamber Meeting

Attorney Charles P. Taft, II, of Cincinnati, will be the guest speaker at a meeting of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce to be held Monday noon in the chamber auditorium dining room. He will speak on "The City Manager Plan of Cincinnati." The annual meeting of the chamber is to be held Thursday instead of Monday as originally scheduled.

Plays, Players and By-Play

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

"Coquette" will be the Alvin attraction beginning Monday. "Coquette" will be played by the George Sharp Players. "Coquette" will be given at two matinees—Thursday and Saturday. Now then, altogether, what is our subject—"Coquette!"

The amusement park season has crept up on us and has slapped us on the back and is greeting us with open arms—and gates. Kennywood's big shot is Zacchini, the "human projectile." With him, too, the times are terrible. He has a job, but gets fired every day—from the mouth of a cannon.

In Reply to G. R.

Dear lady, not so many moons ago
I loved a maid with deep sincerity;
I never dreamed that life could matter so—
That nights could shed such glowing ecstasy;
So, hand in hand, we walked the flowered lanes
And sent our castles hurtling to the sky.
Small lot I knew of heartbreak or its pains—
The gall of life had strangely passed me by.

So time went on and rapture did not fade.
We wore a magic cloak of Cupid's Weave;
I thought that I had found the perfect maid—
But now I make sweet moan, and daily grieve;

(You wish to know what clouded skies so clear?
Like you, she started asking questions, dear!)

—Don Wahn.

Boomerang

This one is making the rounds. A woman tiffed with friends over a bridge game. So she wrote to Mr. Work, the expert, who rates $300 or more for advice when he is lecturing. She asked him:

"Is it proper for a player to complete the cut of the deck, or should the dealer complete it?"

Mr. Work responded that it was purely an optional rule, to be settled before the game by the players. He also inclosed his bill for $25. The woman was incensed. She went to see an attorney about the "exorbitant fee."

The lawyer counseled:

"Had you not asked Mr. Work for a personal reply by inclosing a self-addressed and stamped envelope, he would have answered you in his column in the paper, so $25 is not too much for a specialist's opinion. Pay him, or he can sue you. And before you go, madam, my fee is $10."

A Form of Criticism

Oop!

It happened during a rehearsal of a new show yesterday. A young comedian was going through his first role in a Broadway show. His sweetheart was watching the proceedings. The author was in a fret over the way the lad was stumbling over the lines.

"It is hardly believable," the author grumbled. "That ham has taken a week to study a prologue that I wrote in a day!"

Quiteso, Quiteso

One of the clowns observes that chorus girls may be dumb, but they do not have to pay to look at the audience.

In Fewer Words

Newspaperman Stuff

A carefully planned press agent stunt recently failed because an encyclopedic copy reader on a New York rag knows his zoology. An actress, returning from abroad, announced that on a hunting trip in Africa she had personally captured a live tiger for presentation to the Governor as a mascot. She displayed a real tiger snarling in a cage.

The ship news reporter, into whose lap the yarn was spilled, lapped up the details. He had the paper's photo department head get plenty of pictures of the actress alongside the cage.

The story got as far as the copy desk when one of the lads reminded the editor that there are no tigers in Africa.

As If You Didn't Know

Heheheh

June O'Dea, the new and talented leading lady in Mr. Holtz's "You Said It!" opera, has her favorite gag. It's the one about the man who was arrested for murdering his wife.

Nifty

Ouch!

The feuds in the Broadway Belt are always interesting, and often very comical. One of the better arguments was the one between Jed Harris, the producer, and Arthur Caesar, now a Hollywood'abelieve it.

Mr. Harris has one of those beards. No matter how often he shaves in a day he looks like he hadn't been to the barber. One day before a crowd in a restaurant, Caesar belittled Harris in this manner:

"I once had a beard like yours, but when I realized how it made me look, I cut it off!"

"Really?" growled Harris, "Well once I had a face like yours, and when I realized I couldn't cut it off, I grew this beard!"

Film Debut

Tom Mix May Try Talkies Again After Circus Season Ends

By HARRISON CARROLL

(Copyright, 1931, by Premier Syndicate)

HOLLYWOOD, May 15.

In view of the notably successful comebacks of several old-timers, it is not surprising to hear that Tom Mix is planning another sortie into the talkies.

He has a circus story in mind, and his letters speak of filming it here in the early fall. That would allow him to complete his summer season with Sells Floto. Incidentally, Tom says he already has made arrangements to use this outfit's equipment in the film.

Plans have gone so far that he has gotten in touch with Daniel B. Clark, who was his cameraman for 11 years.

Tom Mix

The only thing that hangs fire is the release, and that ought to be simple to arrange. Tom was a great favorite with the children, and the producers are quite youth-conscious now.

PUN MY WORD

"This new Liberty Productions must be a busy outfit," postcards Edwin K. O'Brien. "I've met more than a hundred actors and every single, sunkissed one of them was 'at liberty.'"

LLOYD BACK

On Monday, Harold Lloyd made his first appearance at the studio since his operation. He won't be allowed to work, however, until July. In the meantime, he is building a beach house near Bebe Daniels' and will move in about June 1. All the film stars have two homes now, one in Beverly Hills and one at the beach. While Harold is getting his tan, the writing staff will be insinuating a love interest into "Bean Pest," the Richard Connell story that will be the comedian's next picture. The hero of this adventure tale is a young man with a uniform complex. He starts out as a super in a theater, playing a legionnaire. Later, he joins the genuine outfit and learns a lot of things about sand and Arabs.

Harold Lloyd

LATEST GOSSIP

The First National polo team (Darryl Zanuck, Lucien Hubbard, Michael Curtis and Ray Griffith) lost to the "All-Star" team (John Cromwell, James Gleason, Tom Moore and Cy Bartlett) but have a return match scheduled for Sunday. No serious casualties resulted from the first engagement, though Gleason got a bruised knee. Other thrills included Ray Griffith's beautiful parabola when the horse stopped and he kept going, and the collision of Hubbard and Cromwell. Arthur Caesar took no chances and showed up with a bandaged finger . . . Colleen Moore's divorce was final yesterday—the 13th . . . Perhaps it is a coincidence, but Frances Starr has just completed "Five Star Final" and now is to play in "The Star Witness" . . . Mary Duncan has shaken the gold dust of Hollywood off her feet and is heading for New York and Italy, where she intends to study voice and acting for a year. You'd think she'd stay in Hollywood and get paid while she was learning . . . The Conrad Nagels have gone Malibu . . . Gene Markey has been out recently with Jean Harlow . . . Rowland Brown's spanking at Fox is to be little more than a love pat. He's to come out of the corner with a prize directorial plum, "The Sun Also Rises." And well he should, for he has talent, if a little earthbound.

Show Boat Tonight Gets Dave Harmon

Dave Harmon brings his Greater Orchestra to the Show Boat, Pittsburgh's floating cabaret, tonight. His orchestra is composed of 14 musicians, each individual playing at least four instruments. Harmon's last appearance in Pittsburgh was in the capacity of master of ceremonies in the Loew theaters. The Three Night-Caps are one of the features of the orchestra. In conjunction with this attraction Managers Joe Hiller and Eddie Klein will offer what is heralded as an all-star floor show.

Train Strikes Auto, Two Men Escape

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., May 15.—Although their automobile was struck by a fast Pennsylvania passenger train at the Fifteenth street crossing here yesterday and was hurled 60 feet, Frank Lewis, 56, and his son, Timothy Lewis, 21, both of Washington, escaped with slight injuries, it was reported at the Providence Hospital.

Cabin Fire Injury Leads to Arrest

WAYNESBURG, Pa., May 15.—Richard Pratt, 37, was ordered held for court on a charge of arson following an investigation of a fire which destroyed a 125-year-old log cabin at Fordyce, Tuesday evening, in which Pratt and his wife and three children resided. Highly valued relics belonging to Mort Fordyce, Waynesburg, owner of the cabin, were destroyed in the fire.

Assumes New Duty As Edgewood Officer

John E. Dyer today assumed duties as constable in Edgewood Borough, following his appointment by Judge George V. Moore, in Quarter Sessions Court, to the vacancy caused by the resignation of Walter H. Bailey.

Judge Moore has appointed Walter J. John, 320 Pearl street, to be a deputy constable in the Eighth Ward.

Mob Psychology

PUBLIC PRONE TO FOLLOW LEADER

Mob Psychology Deters Many From Showing Confidence in Future

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER
Universal Service.

NEW YORK, May 15.—Certainly the country has gone sufficiently through the depression phase of the business cycle to induce men of means to formulate a policy in regard to the acquisition of bargains in the security market.

As a matter of fact, when and if the next period of great prosperity returns, children probably will be moved to ask their parents why they failed to recognize that securities were cheap toward the trough of the depression phase.

Mr. Rukeyser

Curiously enough, mob psychology deters numerous individuals from showing faith at times which confidence is at a premium. Too many reveal faith in the future of American economic institutions when security prices are inflated, and when caution is a better policy. Conversely, opinion moves in waves, and the public is all cautious at the same time.

In the 13 previous major depressions in American industry, which occurred in the last 78 years, it has been demonstrated that good equities were cheap, from the long term standpoint, when trade was greatly depressed. Whether the best grade of stocks are again approaching a zone where they will become attractive from a long term investment standpoint depends, of course, on whether prosperity will return.

FAITH IN FUTURE

Col. Leonard P. Ayres, economic soothsayer of the Cleveland Trust Company, recognizing that prophecy is hazardous, hesitates to predict how wide the valley of depression is. Nevertheless, he not only ventures the opinion that America will in time emerge from this setback, but also specifically asserts that "the conclusion to which a study of these records inevitably leads is that still greater per capita volumes of production, and higher standards of living, will be reached well within this decade."

The approach of a new period of industrial renaissance will be heightened by further elimination of economic waste and friction from business, especially through radical reduction in the high cost of distribution. If business genius can find the key for passing on to the ultimate consumer the major benefits of cheap and efficient production methods, there can be in the longer term future a golden industrial age, characterized by a wider distribution of modern conveniences and comforts than ever before. Meantime, the body economic is still sick, and trade leaders should redouble their energies to find sound cures and should be on their guard against quack remedies.

Farm Board Wheat Proposal Rejected

WASHINGTON, May 15.—The Federal Farm Board today turned thumbs down on a proposal that a nation-wide campaign be made by organized farmers, with financial aid and moral support from the board, to obtain control of the surplus wheat crops of 1931 to 1933, inclusive.

The plan also proposed to limit the surplus from the crops of 1932 and 1933 by having at least 75 per cent of the wheat growers join a national surplus control association with a three-year membership contract binding each signatory to a definite program.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

STOCK MARKET PRICE SLUMP BROADENS

Steel and Can Drop About 4 to New Low and G. M. Joins General Decline

NEW YORK, May 15.—(AP.)—The slow but relentless wearing down of share values broadened in today's market.

Several of the industrials that have recently offered considerable resistance gave way after midday, notably General Motors. The further decline reduced the general level of prices close to the four-year low record April 29. The price index of 90 shares recovered 8½ points between that date and May 8, but starting last Saturday, the trend has been almost steadily downward.

U. S. Steel and American Can dropped about 4 points to new lows. Auburn, after pushing up 5 to 217, fell back below 200. Rails continued to show conspicuous group heaviness, but motors and utilities also lost ground.

Bear pressure and discouraged selling by investors were indicated in brokerage circles as important sources of the continued pressure. The week-end business reviews indicated that there had been some slackening in the seasonal stepping up of general business activity but such favorable aspects as appeared were largely negative. Motor production was reported as holding up well, but the feeling that this month will be likely to see the seasonal peak in the motor industry may have been a factor in the selling of motor shares.

The weekly brokers' loan and Federal Reserve statement reflected recent changes in the money market. The brief period of 1 per cent call money was reflected in total withdrawals of $95,000,000 by out-of-town banks and non-bank lenders discussted with the low return. New York banks, however, made up $67,000,000 of this, so the net reduction in loans was only $28,000,000. Although strictly comparable figures are not available, this seems to be the lowest total of brokers' loans since 1924. Were it not for the steady trickle of selling by investors, the low total of loans would be distinctly favorable.

The Federal Reserve system showed a shrinkage of about $40,000,000 in bankers' acceptances held, despite slashing of rates and attractive buying prices offered. It appeared that banks had refrained from selling their acceptances until convinced that no more favorable rates would be offered.

APRIL BUILDING PERMITS UP

NEW YORK, May 15.—The report of building permits granted in April, prepared by R. G. Dun & Co., offers encouragement. April permits exceeded those of March in value by 13 per cent, continuing o four-month increase. When compared with last year, April permits showed a relatively small decline of 4.8 per cent, an improvement over the March lag of 12.8 per cent and the February lag of 15.3 per cent.

April building permits in the United States totaled $115,978,900, against $102,214,800 in March. April permits were valued 4.8 per cent less than April, 1930, while March permits were 12.8 per cent under March, 1930, and February permits off 15.3 per cent. Four months' total was $354,172,327, off 13.5 per cent.

GRAIN MARKET

CHICAGO, May 15.—Showers in Canada and weakness of stocks tended to depress grains early today. Declines were checked by reports that preceding the moisture in Canada heavy storms had prevailed. Starting ⅜ cents off to ⅛@¼ up wheat afterward held near to the initial range. Corn opened unchanged to ⅜ down and subsequently fluctuated but little.

DUKE NETTERS FACE PANTHER ACES TODAY

By JESS CARVER

That oi hound dawg of song and story, mosile song, was never more soundly kicked about than Duquesne University's varsity tennis team has been this spring and today it looks like the Dukes are in for another booting.

The Dukes invade the Pitt Stadium courts this afternoon for a return match with Pitt's crack squad of racquet wielders. A week ago the Panthers laced the Red and Blue on their own asphalt (or cement) courts and this being a very poor week for miracles, figure to repeat today.

TRACKERS GO EAST

Tonight Pitt's track and field squad heads for the East and a dual meet tomorrow at West Point with the Army. The same thing that is going to happen to the Duke netters this afternoon is going to happen to the Pitt trackers tomorrow.

While the varsities are battling at the Stadium, the Pitt and Duke freshmen outfits will swap volleys and such on the Bluff.

Meanwhile, the Carnegie Tech and Duquesne trackmen will put the finishing touches to their training for meets tomorrow with Geneva and Waynesburg respectively. The Tartans haven't lost a dual engagement so far this year, but will enter the engagement with the crack Covenanter squad on the short end. The affair will be staged in the Tartan bowl.

The stage is set for the annual invasion of the W. P. I. A. L. stars here tomorrow for their championship meet. A total of 36 schools will compete in the championships this year, with Ellwood City, defending champion, and New Castle favored to make a two-team battle of it for the team trophy.

SCHOOL STARS READY

An unusually tepid attack on existing records is anticipated, chiefly due to the fact that several outstanding high school performers are ineligible for W. P. I. A. L. competition. Unless new standards are set in the javelin, shot and discus, and possibly the 100-yard dash, the marks that are in force today will be just as much in force tomorrow night.

Tomorrow's meet will get under way promptly at 10 o'clock in the morning.

BELMONT LOSES TO RANDALL

Tiger Joe Randall, Negro scrapper, of Elizabeth, showed Jimmy Belmont, of Braddock, plenty of gloves in their 10-round main bout at the Palisades, McKeesport, last night, winning five rounds by a decisive margin, losing three and holding the Braddock fighter even in two others. Randall received the unanimous verdict of the officials.

The bout, expected to be one of the best in the Tube City this season, turned out to be a tame setto. Randall did practically all of the leading, landed the harder blows and excelled in the infighting.

Referee Red Robinson warned Belmont at the end of the sixth and seventh rounds to open up and fight more, but the Braddock boy paid little attention to the official and kept under cover. The weights were announced as Randall, 148, and Belmont, 150.

Had it not been for the excellent preliminary card, the final indoor show of the season at the Tube City arena would have been a decided flop. In the six-round semi-final, Buddy McArthur, of McKeesport, won the verdict over Bruno Sala, of Donora, getting the votes of Fred Lux, one of the judges, and Referee Robinson. Jock Simco, the other judge, voted for a draw. Sala depended greatly on his sharp-shooting left jab and kept poking McArthur's head back each time it landed. McArthur weighed 168¼ against 168¾ for Sala.

Three School Golf Tilts Carded Today

Three Interscholastic Golf Conference matches are slated today. In Section I, Allderdice is playing Kiski at Slisburg, and Langley is host to Shadyside. McKeesport is meeting Carrick in Section II.

Big Bill Captures Series With Richards

PHILADELPHIA, May 15.—(AP.)—William T. Tilden II, of Philadelphia, defeated Vincent Richards, of New York, 6-4, 5-7, 7-5, 6-2, in the third match of their professional indoor tennis series, played last night at the Arena, before 5,000 spectators.

It was Tilden's third straight victory, clinching the series.

ANOTHER HOLE IN ONE

Playing with Bob Graham, Joe Diatt and Vince Jonack, Frank Tuite, who has the luncheon concession at the links, performed a hole in one on the 180-yard No. 14 hole there yesterday.

A MOTOR TOUR EVERYONE WILL ENJOY

THE TOUR mapped above takes you out the William Penn Highway, Route 22, to Armagh, where you turn right on Route 56. Follow 56 to Johnstown, where a choice of two routes is available. Either continue on 56 to Cessna, where you turn right on Route 220 to Bedford, coming back on the Lincoln Highway, Route 30. Or take Route 219 from Johnstown, striking the Lincoln Highway, Route 30, at Jennerstown. The longer trip consumes approximately 220 miles . . . the shorter about 150 miles.

Official—Miscellaneous 113

U. S. Engineer Office, Pittsburgh, Pa. Sealed bids will be received here until 12 noon (eastern time), June 15, 1931, and then opened, for furnishing and delivering afloat one steel hull, 15-ton whirler derrick boat. Information on application.

Official—Pittsburgh 111

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 15, 1931.
SEPARATE AND SEALED PROPOSALS will be received at the office of the City Controller, first floor, City-County Building, until 10 o'clock A. M., daylight saving time, May 26, 1931, and will be publicly opened and read one-half hour later in the City Council chamber for Construction and erection of a home for the superintendent at the Tuberculosis Hospital, located at the Leach Farm, Twelfth Ward, Pittsburgh, Pa. Including separate proposals for the plumbing, heating and electric work.

Specifications, plans and blank proposals can be obtained at the City Architect's office, 501-A City-County Building. Contractors will be required to leave a deposit of $2 for each set of plans and specifications, which money will be refunded upon the return of same to the City Architect's office.

Each proposal must be accompanied by a certified check in the sum of 5% per cent of the estimated cost of the work, with two sureties, freeholders in Allegheny County, executed before the city clerk or assistant city clerk, or the bond of such surety company which has complied with the city ordinance with reference to furnishing bonds for contracts. Bidder's attention is directed to a provision of the contract requiring a separate bond, independent of labor and material liability, which shall be given by the successful bidder when contract is executed.

The Mayor and the Director of the Department of Public Health reserve the right to reject any or all bids or accept any proposal if they deem it to be for the interest of the City of Pittsburgh so to do.
CHARLES H. KLINE, Mayor.
C. R. MAITS, M. D., Director.

NOTICE.
Notice is hereby given that Ordinance, Bill No. 3543, has been introduced in the Council of the City of Pittsburgh, May 11, 1931, amending an ordinance entitled:
"An Ordinance regulating and restricting the location of trades and industries and the location of buildings designed for specified uses and regulating and limiting the height and bulk of buildings hereafter erected or altered, and regulating and determining the area of yards, courts and other open spaces in connection with buildings hereafter erected or altered, and establishing the boundaries of districts for the said purposes; conferring certain powers upon the Superintendent of the Bureau of Building Inspection; providing for a Board of Appeals, and imposing penalties," approved August 9, 1923, and supplements thereto, by changing the Zone Map, Twenty-ninth Ward, formerly Carrick Borough, so as to change from an "A" or "B" Residence Use District to a Commercial Use District all that certain property at the southeast intersection of Saw Mill Run road and Parkfield street, having a frontage of 274.5± feet on Brownsville road and 249.16 feet on Parkfield street.

And that a public hearing will be held by the Council of the City of Pittsburgh to consider said ordinance at the Council Chamber, 8th floor, City-County Building, Pittsburgh, Pa., at 2 p. m. on Wednesday, June 3, 1931.
ROBT. J. CLARK,
City Clerk.

NO. 224.
AN ORDINANCE—Authorizing and directing the proper officers of the City of Pittsburgh to purchase from John K. Born property situate on Forward Avenue, in the Fourteenth Ward, Pittsburgh, Pa., and providing for the payment of the same.

SECTION 1. DAILY TRUE STORY

The Hundredth

Week-End Parties Lead to Unusual Romances

"It isn't," Wally Durstine said, "as though I had just met you and was getting up a reputation as a fast worker."

"No," agreed Marcia Goodwin, "it isn't as though I had just met you."

He stared at her.

"Now what the heck has that got to do with it?"

"With what?"

"It—no capital letters—IT," Wally explained, rather sullenly. "We are not discussing 'IT.'"

"What I mean—oh, Marcia, you sure can rattle a chap—what I mean is about your nonsensical statement that we used to crawl about on our hands and knees—as if all of us didn't do that before we could walk."

Marcia smiled pleasantly at him.

"Hands and knees—kissing games? I believe this spring weather has made you a trifle—er—"

"Balmy?"

"Goofy. Ever since you went to England—oh, never mind. Listen, Marcia, now what has—er—"

Suggests Game

Marcia laughed and patted Wally's arm.

"So difficult for little Wally to follow any line of reasoning more than two sentences. You reminded me that we had known each other since we were children and that we had played kissing games. True enough I responded that we used to crawl. We have outgrown the crawling age and, so far as I am concerned, we have outgrown the kissing game stage."

Wally followed, strumming and singing:

"—— why don't you?"

"Because I prefer to be the hundredth girl, always. Come on, let's go in before the spring fever lays you low. How about a few games of ping-pong?"

"Ping—ping—you. Marcia Goodwin, college graduate, sedate high-brow, suggesting ping-pong!"

They played some ping-pong and before Wally left for his home, on the estate just to the south of the Goodwin place, he turned reproachful eyes on her.

"I'm on the level, Marcia, about the proposal."

"I know—but we're like brother and sister—and I don't want to be married. I don't even want to be kissed. I'm the girl in your song, I'm the hundredth, who doesn't even want to be kissed. And Wally, there are so many kissable girls about, girls who are of the 99 who want to be kissed and intend to be kissed, that you should run along and play with them."

Invites Cousin

"Trouble is, you are the only girl, Marcia. Don't want any other girl, don't intend to have any other girl, wouldn't kiss any other girl."

"All of which produces a condition that neither the Nth power, fourth dimension nor relativity can solve."

"That's a good boy—and leave the banjo-uke at home so you won't be tempted to play that silly song about the 99 girls—because I'm the hundredth and always will be."

There was a telephone call, the maid announced.

Marcia answered it. It was from Barbara White, her friend from Roanoke. Ten minutes later Marcia was driving to the city to take Babs, bag and baggage, from the hotel to her home.

They hadn't been able to talk for a year and they tried to make up for it.

Babs hoped, and frankly admitted it, to meet some nice young men at Marcia's little week-end party that night. There wasn't any chap in Roanoke who interested her. Babs and her cousin, Kenneth White, had inherited much since Marcia had seen Babs. Marcia did not know about any cousin Kenneth.

"Oh, he's a nice boy, Grandmother brought us up together, some girls get goofy over him. Some of our friends think we ought to marry—but I wouldn't marry my own cousin anyway and Kenneth? Just as soon as marry my brother."

Marcia told Babs about Wally.

"I wouldn't like him," Babs decides, looking at his picture. "And by the way, I left word with Kenneth where I am—there are some papers and things we have to sign in a day or so, and I'll have to go back to town."

"Have him come out—it isn't fair for you to come up here with him and leave him flat in the city, a stranger, while you go and play—"

"He won't be lonesome. He belongs to the University Club and some others, but if you mean it I'll have him out."

Wally Embarrassed

Kenneth White arrived an hour before dinner, brought in from the station by Marcia's chauffeur. The girls were dressing then and Kenneth was taken up to his room.

Most of the guests were to arrive after dinner, but Wally came over. He always made himself at home, so he went in and out to the west terrace.

"As if I'd obey you, Marcia, the unkissed, see!", and he waved his banjo-uke. He had brought it despite Marcia's plea.

"Oh, hello, Wally, come and meet Babs."

Babs—? Babs—? What are babs—? Oh, for Pete's sake! Marcia, you devil!"

Babs had risen from the depths of a high wing chair and smiled at Wally.

Wally was very red and embarrassed as he was introduced.

Then Kenneth came down and wandered about until he heard voices. He started toward them as he recognized the voice of his cousin.

But he ran into Marcia.

"You," he said, "are Marcia Goodwin and my cousin Babs is an awful little liar."

"Why—why—"

"She merely said that you were pretty. She lied; you are not pretty, you are beautiful, the most beautiful girl—well," and he paused and flushed a little.

"You are Kenneth White and your middle name is 'Hyperbole,'" Marcia said, but her cheeks were red and her eyes shining.

Changes Opinion

So were a dozen more parties there during the spring.

Wally ceased singing to Marcia about the ninety-nine girls who loved to be kissed.

He was singing it to Babs most of the time.

"What about it?" Babs asked. They explained.

Babs laughed.

"I mean it," Marcia protested, "I'm just the hundredth girl. It may be my misfortune or otherwise."

"Listen, Miss High-brow Marcia," Babs said. "There is no hundredth girl."

But Babs was talking no hooey. Soon after this, when Babs and Wally went for the canoe after a few sets of tennis, the canoe was gone. It was 50 feet away under a willow by the bank. Marcia was being kissed by Kenneth White—and enjoying it.

"Don't let me interrupt you," Babs called, sweetly, as they broke apart in embarrassment, "but I want to remind you that there is no hundredth girl—when the right man comes along."

"Please, Babs, and Wally, pick up your marbles and run home and leave us alone—you win," Marcia answered.

FIVE AND TEN -:- By Fannie Hurst

It was Rarick's way of attempting to justify to his daughter the telling of the risque story. "Even at his worst, the talk of Gerkes mattered, which was more than he could say of the endless sluices of it that roared through the Rarick functions," was what he was desperately and in his clumsy antagonizing way, trying to convey to Jennifer.

And strangely enough, Jennifer's reaction to one whom she might just as readily have regarded as a vile old bore, was as rare to herself as it was to Rarick.

After coffee, when the candles softened down closer to their reflection in the long fine pool of table, and Jenny, maneuvering to extricate her daughter from the vise of a dull evening, suggested that she accompany her to the last act of "Louise," for which a pair of tickets were going begging, there was hesitation from Jennifer.

She knew that after the opera they were sure to join up with the Chadwicks and the Edgertons for dancing at Florentine's. Except for the seductive fact that Berry Rhodes might also be in the party and Berry could tango like the Argentine Republic, Jennifer for the moment, wanted to remain around the pool of quiet talk and quiet candlelight and the slow syrupy flow of liqueurs and the intellectual luster of this dim old fogy, Gerkes.

Except there was that seductive possibility that Berry might drop in at Florentine's.

"I'm glad you're going to stick around," she told Gerkes, when he gave him her hand in good-night.

Likes Dr. Gerkes

"Let me come up, will you, and get on to some book to read and some things to think about?"

"Come up and I'll show you manuscript of the ninth century, which I am translating for a library in Cologne. It will make the hottest sex-novel in your library look like a juvenile book."

"I think you're immense. You keep your feet nice and pedicured, because I am going to sit at them. Do you think you can convert a sow's ear into a silk purse"

"I might find I have a silk purse to start with, and what if I should unwittingly reduce it to a sow's ear?"

"Father, where did you find him!"

"Dr. Gerkes will tell you for himself tomorrow evening, if you will join us."

"Have a footstool ready for me every evening, Doctor Gerkes. I'm going to try a new way of showing myself a good time. My present one is a flop. Until tomorrow . . ."

Poor Jennifer. She meant it. But, as a matter of fact, she saw him exactly two subsequent times, that high-exciting and excited winter of her twenty-third year. Once when muffled from her knees to the tip of her nose in an ermine-and-sable wrap, she had rushed downstairs between two young men who were making noises with their teeth like ukeleles, just in time to see him.

Jenny's Guest

The second time, she had seen him quite crazily, through a keyhole. She was never to be quite clear about that, however. It was 6 o'clock in the morning, and she had been "on a party" with Berry Rhodes. The door before which she had crouched had lurched about so; and so had the figure of Dr. Gerkes, seen crazily through the keyhole.

* * *

Jenny, standing before a full-length, three-sided mirror, did an uncharacteristic thing. She removed from the front of her peignoir of coffee-colored lace, a small cascade of ruffles, which left her chest bare, daubed powder on to the V, and then stood off to survey. Her bathroom, an enormous one guiltless of tile, cleverly disguised in rugs, taffetas, a sunken bathtub with growing plants on its coping, and porcelain water birds on little stands against a background of glazed Chinese wallpaper, reflected her figure over and over again.

Now, standing before the mirror, holding the cascade of coffee-colored lace alternately against her chest and then removing it, she finally decided to leave it off, feeling strangely not herself as she did so.

As a matter of fact, she was not herself. So strangely not herself that once she crossed her arms over her flat chest and hugged her shoulders in an exultant little fashion.

The no-longer-to-be-evaded truth of it was that Jenny, whose impeccable wifehood, extending over a period of 23 years, had been an easy virtue, was excited away and beyond her usual and curiously volatile air of composure, by the fact that a young Argentine, named Ramond Lopez, was coming in for a 5-o'clock cocktail with her in the conservatory.

Paid to Dance

It had been arranged in the hurried breaking up of a party at the Ambassadeur the previous afternoon. Abbey Chadwick had asked 20 to tea and dancing, including young Lopez, who was said to be a paid dancer, at Florentine's, a gigolo of exalted type who mingled socially by virtue of his connections, but who, nevertheless, was paid by the management.

He had sat next to Jennifer at the Ambassadeur and had coaxed her to attempt a tango which she had never before ventured on a public floor.

The son of a partially defunct coffee king, whose fortune had been spent in defending his daughter Bianca from the charge of having shot and instantly killed her young roue of a millionaire husband as he was leaving his racing stable. Ramond's anomalous position kept him hovering precariously between two worlds.

At Ramond's lispings, something stirred in Jenny had lifted its desolate head. Excepting for the months of courtship, when an eager, rather timidly idealistic young clerk had wooed the intelligent-looking Jenny Avery on the "chigger" infested banks of the Meramac, there had been precious few words, except in platitude, addressed warmly and closely into Jenny's eyes.

Benn's Resignation

Public Service Commissioner's Retirement Is Victory for the People in Utilities Fight.

James S. Benn's resignation as a member of the Public Service Commission is a victory for the people in the struggle with the predatory public utilities companies.

Benn has been one of the chief exponents of the policy of favoring the utilities without regard to the welfare of the people. The policy was indicated in Pittsburgh by the action of the Public Service Commission in authorizing the Pittsburgh Motor Company to charge 25 cents for a 10-cent bus ride and in refusing to permit any other company to operate in competition with the Pittsburgh Motor Coach Company.

Benn, though not chairman of the commission, has been described as exercising dominant influence.

He had been renominated by Gov. Fisher for another term, but resigned, so it is reported, because he had been informed that the Senate would not confirm the appointment.

His retirement is an advantage to the people. And it is encouraging to be told that the Senate had made up its mind to veto his appointment. It encourages the hope that even though the Governor's bills should fail of passage some kind of relief legislation will be enacted.

The Fireworks Hearing

Dealers Offered No Good Reason for Continuing to Permit Sale of the Dangerous Playthings.

The weakness of the fireworks dealers' case was plainly shown in the character of the arguments they advanced at Council's hearing on proposed ordinances to prohibit or regulate the sale of the dangerous Fourth of July playthings.

Their attempt to minimize the menace that lies in entrusting explosives to children was not successful. Pittsburgh's Fourth of July accident record answers that argument, and even if official statistics were not available it is a matter of common knowledge that numerous persons are burned and otherwise injured here every year by firecrackers and other such things.

The argument that a ban on fireworks would throw people engaged in the manufacture of them out of work cannot be accepted as justification for continuing to imperil children's lives.

The mothers, social workers and businessmen who asked Council to pass Councilman Garland's ordinance prohibiting the sale of fireworks easily had the best of the debate.

It should not be hard for Council to reach a decision.

The Children's Hospital

It Is Doing Good Work and Its Call for Help Should Not Go Unheeded.

The Children's Hospital will hold its annual Flower Day tomorrow. Not being adequately endowed, it takes this means to help meet its financial obligations.

Buy a flower. The hospital is doing splendid work, and its call for help should not go unheeded.

Two thousand children have been patients in its wards this year, and thousands of others have been helped in its dispensaries and clinics.

But the beneficial influence of the Children's Hospital is not confined to the tots to whom it gives medical and surgical treatment. It furnishes training and teaching to many physicians and nurses who practice their profession outside of its walls.

In helping the hospital, therefore, you will be indirectly extending aid not only to the boys and girls who are treated there, but to all the children of this district who need a physician's attention; for it is to the Children's Hospital that the doctors turn for advice and information on the latest developments in child surgery and the curing of children's diseases.

Rally for Good Schools

Signs Are Numerous That People Are Interested in Improvement of Education.

These items were noted in the local news:

A mass meeting was called in Springdale to promote a $150,000 bond issue for the building of a new high school.

Residents of the Kenmar Plan of Mifflin Township have asked the township school board to erect a grade school in the new community.

Several hundred fathers and mothers of Homestead took advantage of an "open house" observance to visit the borough schools and see what the children and teachers are doing.

Items like the foregoing have been in the news frequently of late. They are straws which indicate widespread interest in the improvement of education.

It may be that we are on the eve of a great revival of enthusiasm for good schools. Pittsburgh and Pennsylvania have had several such revivals, prompted heretofore by surveys which disclosed that our schools were deficient in one respect or another.

Another spurt forward would be a fine thing. Even though our schools compare favorably with those of other communities, there is plenty of room for improvement.

Uncle Sam

Of Troy, N. Y.

A monument to the original Uncle Sam will be erected in Troy, N. Y., by the federal government, if residents of that historic city can prevail on Congress to provide the funds. Uncle Sam, it is said, was one Samuel Wilson, who moved from Mason, N. H., to Troy in 1768. He was a brickmaker, and later ran a slaughter house. During the War of 1812 he got a contract to supply the beef and pork to the Army. The meat was packed in barrels which bore the letters U. S.

Wilson himself was known as Uncle Sam to his friends in Troy, and it was but natural that his tall and spare figure, top hat, frock coat and striped trousers should come to person... the federal government in the minds of the soldiers he fed. Popular songs were written and cartoons drawn about him, and his fame spread.

That's the story, anyway, in case you are interested in the origin of the long-legged, lanky and benign looking old gentleman who typifies these United States.

Mrs. Solomon Says—

Now, my Daughter, there dwelt in Babylon a Youth of great charm, who was known among damsels as "God's Gift to Debutantes." And, it came to pass that, without warning, he turned from his wild ways, and let it be known that he was about to take upon himself a wife.

* * *

And those who had thought him adamant rejoiced and clapped their hands, crying, "Ha-ha! See how the mighty hath fallen! For they ALL fall, when their time cometh!"

* * *

But when they questioned him, asking wherefore his heart had softened, he answered them saying:

* * *

"Be not scornful, my Brothers. For it is not weakness of mind, but weariness of heart, which hath brought me to this pass.

* * *

"Verily, I am weary of WOMEN, and of the chase called Love!

* * *

"And, to dwell forever in the fear of one woman's frown appeareth less nerve-wearing than to dwell forever in the fear of ALL women's smiles.

* * *

"Yea, I am tired of canned wit; and pocket-flask kisses are as ashes in my mouth. Feed me with spinach and stay me with buttermilk; for I am sick of petting!

* * *

"I am weary of gazing into the innocuous eyes of flappers, and of asking them where they have been all my life. I am sick of singing the old love-tunes and of telling the old lies.

"I am exhausted with the labor of keeping one woman from finding out about the others; and with the struggle to prevent my dates from overlapping and my emotions getting mixed.

* * *

"I am sick of EXPLAINING that I am 'NOT a marrying man.'"

* * *

"I am weary of inventing new alibis and new pet-names; and the continuous ring of the telephone getteth upon my nerves and shattereth mine ears.

* * *

"Yea, above all, I am tired of DODGING; and of playing the game of chase-and-catch, in which I am forever the chased!

* * *

"Therefore, have I delivered myself up, and let myself be CAUGHT, at last. The noose is even now about my neck. The struggle is over, and I can REST in peace.

* * *

"Verily, verily, the only way to escape from all women is to be tied to ONE woman. For a wife is the only sanctuary, and the one unanswerable ALIBI."

THE FATHER OF ALGEBRA

By Archibald Henderson

During the second half of the third century of our era, there flourished at Alexandria one of the great mathematicians and scientists in world history. Of the man himself singularly little is known. He was certainly the greatest Greek writer on algebra, and so singular was his eminence in this field that he has been termed the father of algebra. His name is preserved to this day in all the literature of algebra in the term, Diophantine Analysis, a certain method of solving indeterminate equations. Singularly enough, this is not the method which was commonly employed by Diophantus himself!

Of this eminent figure in the history of science, the distinguished mathematician, Leonard Eulen, says: "Diophantus himself, it is true, gives only the most special solutions of all the questions which he treats, and he is generally content with indicating numbers which furnish one single solution.

"But it must not be supposed that his method was restricted to these very special solutions. In his time the use of letters to denote undetermined numbers was not yet established, and consequently the more general solutions which we are now enabled to give by means of such notation could not be expected from him. Nevertheless, the actual methods which he uses for solving any of his problems are as general as those which are in use today; nay, we are obliged to admit that there is hardly any method yet invented in this kind of analysis of which there are not sufficiently distinct traces to be discovered in Diophantus."

It is not to be doubted that Diophantus was a pioneer, a path-breaker, in his field. He inaugurated a movement which was in harmony with the tastes of the people among whom he worked. His great work, under the laconic title, Arithmetica, is not known to us in full, being preserved only in somewhat mutilated form.

It is interesting to note the gradual steps by which the predecessors of Diophantus laid the foundations for his epochal work. For example, Euclid gave the geometrical solution of the quadratic equation, which unfortunately is not incorporated in our elementary textbooks on algebra. Hero of Alexandria actually knew how to solve the quadratic equation, although he was handicapped in his exposition through the lack of a satisfactory symbolism. The algebra of Diophantus was no sudden invention, but represents the precipitation of innumerable studies which preceded him.

It is noteworthy that Diophantus developed and established one of the three classic methods of algebraic expression. These methods, according to scientific authorities, are as follows:

The rhetorical method, where no symbols are used, but every term and operation is described in full. This was the only method known before Diophantus, and was later in vogue in Western Europe until the fifteenth century.

The syncopated method, which replaces common words and operations by abbreviations but conforms to the ordinary rules of syntax. This was the style of Diophantus.

Finally, the symbolical method, which is our modern method, using symbols only, without words.

Diophantus was a sort of wizard who leaves us gasping at the singularity of his mental processes. It has been well said that Diophantus dazzles more than he delights.

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

Are women the lying sex?

Are they the fundamental law-breakers of society?

In short, are most of our sweet theories about the Dear Little Woman a lot of hooey and should something be done about it pronto?

A large convention of indignant and influential citizens has recently voted that they are, and there should. Meeting in Fresno, Cal., they spent an entire day in telling the world what they thought about women. They thought plenty. And very little of it was complimentary.

Yes? Maybe. But, as a matter of fact, these speakers were not men. They were women attending the annual convention of the Stag Federation of Women's Clubs. And the first thing they did . . . before they had discussed a report or passed a resolution . . . was to roll up their sleeves, square their pretty, manicured fists and take their sister for a ride.

Excuses—alibis—high powered arguments? They all were out. WHAM . . . BAM . . . ZOWIE!! They went to it!

"Women are fundamental law breakers, liars and the untruthful members of society," said Mrs. Sydney Exley, of Los Angeles. And, to the last lady, they applauded!

Next came a few remarks that will make every male who reads them bust into big, wet tears of gratitude.

"Consider the woman driver," says she. And who hasn't! "The majority of them haven't the slightest respect for the law. They are given the credit of being the lesser offenders under the motor vehicle act, but that's because they are afraid of the little tags."

And then she proceeded to prove (as if it were necessary!) that "for ways that are odd and tricks that are strange" the average woman driver has the "heathen Chinee" backed off the boards.

And you haven't heard the half! Dear Mamma—who is, traditionally, as exempt from criticism as the Sacred White Cow—then proceeded to get hers.

"The present disrespect for law is not the fault of education, but of the home," said Mrs. George Parsons, of Los Angeles. "It's the intoxicated mother with nicotine-stained fingers who has the delinquent child."

Mamma with a bun on! Ten years ago you'd have been run out of town if you had even hinted at the possibility. But remember the "Ladies' entrance" door back of the old corner grocery?

"Speaking of dishonesty," contributed Mrs. Edward Dexter Knight, of San Francisco, "clubhouses used exclusively by women have to chain down toilet articles in rest rooms to keep them from being carted away."

And this writer might have added certain piquant testimony concerning the "natural niceness" of women, recently given her by the manager of a chain of big department stores.

"We find it necessary," said he, "to refinish the walls of our women's rest rooms twice as often as the men's rooms because of obscene writing. Women, on the whole, are much more vulgar than men."

And, lest there be any lingering delusions that maybe the girls have brains even if they are short on ethics, listen to this—

"Women are snobby and sentimental when considering public problems. Anyone who has served with them on a jury knows that. Their minds are too often on the run in their new silk hose instead of on the criminal at the bar. Sauve-tongued attorneys wind them around their fingers with touching tales of the 'bootlegger's dear old mother' or the grief-stricken old father of the boy murderer!"

So there you have it—the official opinion of the ladies. As is as expressed by the California State Federation of Women's Clubs. Now YOU tell one!

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELS

Man

An abject wretch, the slave of shame and lust,
With power alone to crush his brother down
And brooding ever on his shadowed way

Eyes once mist-dimmed must seek the man God planned:
Of faith upright and clean of heart and hand
Unbounded he the heights he may aspire
To scale, led ever by divine desire.

Unnumbered are the wonders he has wrought
In all the regions of most lofty thought;
For he is victor over air and sea
And of vast realms unseen has mastery—
Of hidden chambers where he walks alone

BE A PITTSBURGH BOOSTER
To Your Friends in Other Cities

One Healthy Girl

The Japanese Are a Rugged Nation.

PAINTING A FAN IN ICE COLD WEATHER.

This young person with the pleasant smile is Miss Miye Yagihashi, competing in the sports of the Imperial Swimming Instruction Society of Tokio.

On this occasion it was necessary to break the ice in order to have a clear course for the swimming and other contests.

Miss Yagihashi, as you will notice, is smiling and attending to her work with cakes of ice floating all around her.

As she smiles in the ice-cold water she is painting a fan, and the painting must be well done in order to win the prize.

You may call this "cruelty," but it is not. Young Japanese girls and boys are examined by doctors before sporting contests and are not allowed to injure themselves.

We show our national wisdom in our realization that we could not compete with them. If we followed the dictate of our hearts and divided this country with them, they would be too much for us.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, May 15.—Thoughts while strolling: Who remembers when cobwebs were applied to fresh cuts? Brock Pemberton's brother Murdock, an art critic. Phil Baker's "stooge." Mr. Muldowney, who thinks "puny" is a small horse. Dance schools prosper during business depression.

Henry Sell, a Whitewater, Wis., boy, who made good in the city. Nothing makes a man look so awkward as looking at his wrist watch. Gertrude Lawrence can never remember names, they say. The town's most highly educated head waiter—Eugene of the St. Regis.

Walrus mustached white wings who wear caps backwards and smoke pipes upside down. Well-bred dogs named Rob Roy. Sign on a 7th avenue quick lunch: "Cafe au lait and sinkers." A girl in a movie ticket cage sneaks a drag from a cigaret. Robert Reud, a Hickory, N. C., boy, with a pink camellia bud in his lapel.

Whatever become of sleeve garters? Jack Lait, who can turn out a short story faster than any American writer. And is a grandpa. Nearly always a midget along West 47th street. And I hear they are invariably able to make a good living despite their handicap.

Lads who drift to Times Square around dusk looking for a break. And the former burlesque comedian who roams with a clouded mind talking to an imaginary dog. Wonder how a fellow happens to take up cracking whips as a career? I love to pronounce Helen Gahagan's last name.

Hurried dunkers in The Coffee Pots. Over-perfumed ladies who dabble in henna and call their boy friends "Susar." Broadway is only sinister after nightfall. By daylight it is as frank and open as a county fair. A police dog drags a giggling chorus girl along on tip toe.

Furtive fellows with bloodless lips who are always perspiring. Any moment a narcotic officer may tap them on the shoulder. I'm getting the creeps. On a night like this I'd like to stretch out on the banks of the Ohio under a sky eyed with stars. Watching a golden moon shed petals along the lazy river. Or something.

* * *

Star gazers who occupy the benches in Bryant Park these warmish nights are cheered somewhat by a strolling guitarist. He sings and thrums a short program without taking up a collection and moves on. To further the touch of romance to a crowded square he wears a black velveteen tam. And looks like Wallace Beery.

For many years, when weather and time permits, I walk the entire two-mile stretch of the Harlem Speedway, out of the pedestrianic jangle and offering a straight away stroll without crossing intersections. Another regular promenader is an elderly gentleman with whom I formed a bowing acquaintance. And now and then we exchange opinions of the weather. For several months I have missed him. Today he was there again to bestow a friendly smile and passing hand wave. And of such consequence is even a remote contact with cordiality in a big city's aloofness that I finished the walk in a sort of glow.

* * *

* * *

Crosby a few years ago very generously asked me to express a preference for an original cartoon of his limning—which, incidentally, framed and autographed, is one of my cherished possessions. My first choice was "Skippy" viewing a rural sunrise and exclaiming: "It is so beautiful I could bust somebody in the eye." But Mrs. Crosby had long ago claimed that one, and who could blame her?

* * *

Life once had a cover—I think by Crosby—showing the side yard of a village home with a tiny pair of pantelettes flopping on a clothes line. A tender sentimentalist of about 6 stood at the fence gazing at them. The caption was "Her's." No other picture, and I've trotted through the Louvre, Luxembourg and Florentine galleries, remains so fixed in my memory.

* * *

This column is couched today in idle vaporings about nothing in particular. In such a mood, were I a poet, I might snap out a verse with the crack of a whip. As it is I can only fumble along until I reach the end of the page, which is, happily enough, right here, you big stiffs.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

How about it, old man, don't you add a lot of work to your household by throwing your things about?

Coat on a chair, hat on another chair, newspapers on the floor to say nothing of ashes and evil-smelling cigar and cigaret stubs most anywhere.

This means that someone has to put these articles in their proper place if your home is to present a neat appearance.

Suppose you do pay a maid to help keep things orderly, it is selfish and thoughtless of you to distribute your wearing apparel and other articles around.
